

Oklahoma City

While some 300 Oklahomans are summering in Colorado we are enjoying ideal Colorado weather and staying at home. 60 isn't bad for July.

Farm reports from all over the state are highly encouraging despite the knocker who is always trying to spoil something.

The Oklahoma Launder's Association was in session here this week.

A cracker firm from Iowa are preparing to put up a $150,000 house here at a very early date.

Beginning August 21st Oklahoma City's post office will be a U. S. Postal Savings Bank. It was one of the first ten first class offices chosen by the government.

Bill Tilghman, a close friend of Bat Masterson, is Chief of Police here and bids fair to make the best one the city has ever had.

Bishop Wm. A. Quayle attended the fifty-second annual camp-meeting of the Chicago district camp group association at Chicago.

The national convention of the Spanish War Veterans will be held in this city Aug. 21-23 inclusive. Several prominent men will be here. Major General Leonard Wood, head of the U. S. army, has promised to be here providing Congress adjourned before that time, and that is practically conceded now.

Last Friday morning after a big rain at Coalgate it was reported that early risers found the ground covered with small fish and one party it is claimed gathered up a bucket full.

One of our senators who lives at Edmond had a new visitor at his house some time ago and he wanted to know the youngsters weight so he got the ice man's scales and weighed him, he tipped them at 65 pounds. How is that for weight?

A Mr. Macougherty over at Muskogee was bitten by a dog some time ago and in the suit for damage it was brought out that the dog had a very peculiar disposition as he had been raised on human milk, and that he was almost as selfish as a child.

To the friends of Miss Kate Farriss I will say she is no longer Miss Farriss. She left for her new home in California this week. The happy event took place at Stratford July the 5th.

Berlin, Oklahoma

As someone is sending me the Herald and we know not who I thought I would write a few lines for publication, hoping some might be glad to hear from these parts.

Our town is very small, but in a fine section of country. A railroad company boomed this place a few years ago and then built 11 miles south, passing Elk City and Soyre, so Berlin had to die. But we have a good school and a good church of Christ growing fast; these are what held me here. We also have a healthful climate.

Twenty years ago I left old Jackson County, Tenn., and went to Texas and stayed 4 years; then back to Tennessee and stayed 5 years; then I crossed back into Texas for 3 years; thence to Oklahoma, so we have been in Oklahoma for 8 years.

I like to see the names of old friends relatives in the Herald, such as T. B. Jackson's wife's brother, and T. H. Chaffin and family, who are our dear children; also Miss Mabel Aytes, whom I wish would write me a letter and tell me whose daughter she is for I don't know her.

We had a sure drouth this year until about 2 weeks ago the rains came good and plenty, but early corn, oats, and wheat were already ruined. Late corn, cotton and feed stuff are doing fine now.

We are in Roger Mills County adjoining the Pan Handle of Texas.

Last year our country had lots of fruit, but this time the fruit crop is short. W. C. AYLES.

Regulates the bowels, promotes easy natural movements, cures constipation—Doan's Regulets. Ask your druggist for them. 25c a box.

Greenville, Missouri

I am a Tennessee girl, my father came to Jackson county when I was just three years old and lived there till we came to Missouri, except two years we lived on Blackburns Fork where Bill Whitson now lives.

I went to the school in a little house called Post Oak near Dick Pippin's. Louis Bradford was my teacher. I wonder if God has blessed him to live and honor his good name. I guess the most of the girls and boys who I went to school with there have passed over the river.

My maiden name was Fox. I was married in 1880 to E. C. Brown, and we came to Missouri in 1898; five children were born in the home.

Come on, you two Cane Creek girls.

Mrs. Dahuff, your letters are fine. People tell me you are Rev. Mat Judd's daughter.

Wheat threshing is the order of the day here now.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling McBroom and children visited the writer Sunday.

Can anyone tell me who the two witnesses are that are spoken of in Revelation; also when the kingdom of Christ will be set up? MRS. R. A. BROWN.
