

LIVE STOCK SHOW AT STATE FAIR

Greatest Exhibit of the Kind Ever Seen in the South.

The Tennessee State Fair is in a class with the International Show at Chicago and the Royal Live Stock Show at Kansas City, Mo., when it comes to beef and dairy cattle. The growth of this department of the great fair has been nothing short of remarkable. No such show is to be seen anywhere in the South. Stall after stall for a solid mile are lined up with the best herds to be seen anywhere. It is one of the biggest and best features of this great exposition and attracts thousands of people from every section of the country. The very best in every variety is shown and in great numbers. The show ring, which is under cover, is one of the largest in the United States, and one full day could be consumed in examining this exhibit alone. It is a show within itself, and this year it promises to be bigger and better than ever before in the history of the fair.

The Tennessee State Fair can boast of the best jack and mule exhibit in the country. This department draws heavily, not only from Tennessee, but from all over the country. The best living specimens are to be seen annually at Tennessee's great fair. The classes fill heavily and competition is active from start to finish. The jack and mule exhibit is one of the big features of the live stock exhibit, and the show this year, from all indications will surpass anything of the kind ever attempted here.

AMUSEMENTS AT THE FAIR.

Attractive Midway Provided for the Coming Tennessee Exposition.

After careful investigation, with a view of giving Tennessee State Fair visitors the very best, highclass midway attractions obtainable, the Amusement Committee, of which Mr. W. G. Hirsig is chairman, has closed a contract with the Greater United Shows of Chicago for a line of attractions that will surpass, it is claimed, anything of the kind ever seen in this city.

There will be two free midway attractions this year, the Great Holland and Rose Dockrell, two great equestrians in their daring feats on horseback, and also La Noles, lady and gentleman comedy trapolene bar actors, who are artists in their line. The main or big feature of the United Company is the great one-ring circus, in which horseback riding, training of wild animals, clowns and other features of the big circus are introduced. There is also a steel arena in this circus, in which lions, leopards, pumas and other wild beasts of the forest give exhibitions. A special act of six lions is one of the interesting features of the arena show. The famous Wallace fighting lion will be introduced at each performance.

Other Good Shows.

Among the other good shows to be seen on the midway will be "Princess Maxine," the greatest educated mole in the world, performing many wonderful tricks, entirely new to the public.

"The Fat People's Convention," consisting of two very fat people, one skeleton man and a giantess woman, will furnish a side-splitting amusement number.

"Little Lord Roberts," the midget, is another interesting show that will interest the thousands of children as well as the grown people.

The "Seven to One" Show, containing seven pits of freaks, is interesting.

A wonderful piece of mechanism is the "Electric City," showing the mills, factories, street cars, trains, fountains, and everything pertaining to a large city in actual operation.

The "Six Diving Girls" will also give exhibitions that are daring as well as interesting.

"The Plantation," depicting scenes in the South during the war, and introducing old Southern songs and dances, is another interesting show that has proved very popular wherever shown.

And still another show will be the "School Boys and School Girls," four boys and four girls and a Dutch teacher. This show is calculated to furnish sixty laughs in sixty seconds. A number of popular songs will be rendered by the boys and girls.

"Lola," the dissolving model, is an attraction that will interest all who see it.

Heckler's flea circus, the Ferris wheel and the merry-go-round will furnish amusement for the children.

Nothing Objectionable.

It will thus be seen that the committee has used good judgment in the selection of the Midway attractions, and no show will be permitted on the State Fair grounds that is the least objectionable. The United Shows which are to appear at the State Fair this year have been engaged for the great civic celebration at Minneapolis, and will appear at the Kentucky State Fair, the Tri-State Fair at Memphis, the Alabama State Fair at Birmingham, the Cotton Palace at Waco, Tex., the big celebration at Greater Jacksonville, Fla., and they will also appear at Key West, Fla., on the occasion of the opening of the Flagler railroad system, celebrating one of the greatest pieces of engineering in the world, the building of a railroad from Miami to Key West through the swamps and the ocean. Nothing is being left undone by the management to make the Tennessee State Fair this year the best in the history of the association, and just enough harmless amusements has been added to give spice and recreation to the big educational exposition.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR EXPOSITION CLANS

Every one who goes to Knoxville, Tenn., to see the Appalachian Exposition, which opens on Monday, September 11, and continues to October 1, will have a place to eat and sleep. The many large and modern hotels of that city have made extraordinary preparations for taking care of crowds during the exposition period. And this will be at no advance in rates. Hotel proprietors and managers have assured the exposition officials that no extra charges will be made on account of the exposition visitors. Several hotels have made extensive improvements since the exposition of 1910, and are, therefore, better prepared than ever before to care for large crowds.

In addition to the hotels, Knoxville has innumerable restaurants, where meals may be had at any hour, day or night, and at most satisfactory prices. Knoxville is the center of one of the finest meat and produce sections of the south, and its market affords the best and freshest and most seasonable of edibles. These are served in hotels, restaurants and homes.

Thousands of private homes, among all classes of people, have been thrown open for exposition visitors. Assignments to these houses, at most unusually low prices per day or week, will be made by the public comfort bureau of the exposition. This bureau will have offices and agents at all the depots and at other places which will be conspicuously placarded. Any policeman or street car conductor or citizen will take pleasure in directing strangers as to where to find the public comfort bureaus. This arrangement makes it possible for every visitor to procure a home within half an hour after reaching Knoxville. As stated above, the prices for rooms and board will be most reasonable, and positively will not be advanced.
