MRS. GERBER ENTERTAINS FOR DEBUTANTES AND VISITOR

Mrs. William E. Gerber was the charming hostess at one of the most elaborate and thoroughly artistic luncheons of the season on Tuesday afternoon when she entertained complementarily to three pretty debutantes, Misses Mildred Johnson, Louise Ann Roberts and Louise Dale, and a pretty visiting girl, Miss Mildred Nelson, of Kansas City, Mo., who is Mrs. Gerber's house guest.

As a compliment to the Club de Dix, formed by the debutantes, the large table was arranged in the form of the Roman numeral X, and was beautifully decorated, couleur de rose being the prevailing note in the decorative scheme. In the center of the table was a large French basket filled with fragrant Mme. Butterfly roses and stelia, while radiating from the centerpiece to the four ends of the table were growing cyprien, with deep pink bows alternating with pink tapers glowing in silver candlesticks, while pink rose cups held salted nuts. Each place was marked by a rosette and the places for the honorees, one at each end of the X, were specially designated by corsage bouquets of pink roses and valley lilies.

For the afternoon, Mrs. Gerber, who is always a most gracious hostess, was handsomely gowned in brown lace over satin trimmed with bands of gold ribbon. The honor guests were as exquisitely gowned: Miss Nelson wearing a draped French model of blue panne velvet; Miss Roberts, black chiffon velvet trimmed with bands of gold lace over cloth of gold, with gold lace hat with touches of American beauty; Miss Johnson, black net embroidered in blue beads over black satin with a black velvet hat trimmed with a bird of Paradise, and Miss Dale, pearl gray canton crepe trimmed in two shades of gray, with a gray velvet hat trimmed with gray crepe.

Among those so fortunate as to be included in Mrs. Gerber's guest list were:

Misses Mildred Johnson, Louise Dale, Louise Ann Roberts, Louise Robertson, Louise Richardson, Mary Budd Stewart, Ellen Craft, Margaret Oates, Minor Banks, Mettie Dunsmuir, Elizabeth Hill, Virginia Meacham, Alice Lake, Mary Mallory Harris, Marie Cordes, Elizabeth Jordan, Barbara Smith, Adele Orrell, Jessie Latham, Louise LeMaster, Frances Cole, Ruth Renick, Eliza Gerber, Lucile Warwick, Lucy Dilard, Anne Leatherman, Judith Hunt Campbell, Gertrude Russell, Natalie Davant, Anne Carter, Blanche Custer, Clarkdale, Miss Margaret Mountcastle, of Knoxville; Constance Dibble and Bernice Meyer, of New York; Misses Timmons L. MRS. CLAPP TENDERS LOVELY TEA FOR VISITORS

One of the most charming and attractively planned teas of the season was given by Mrs. Aubrey Clapp on Tuesday afternoon in her home on Avalon place in honor of two popular out-of-town visitors, Mrs. Jere Clapp West, of Bedford, Pa., and Mrs. Kennedy Clapp, of Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Clapp's home was artistically decorated in pink chrysanthemums and ferns. The tea table was draped in lace over satin with a centerpiece formed of pink tapers in silver holders veiled in pink tulle and caught with butterfly bows of the same. Smilax formed a border about the dainty cloth and pink rose baskets held the pink mints.

Mrs. Clapp was gowned to receive her guests in a frock of pink satin, embroidered in gold, with which she wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and valley lilies. Mrs. Kennedy Clapp was gowned in blue and green double-toned satin with trimmings of hand-made French flowers. Her corsage bouquet was of sweetheart roses and valley lilies.

On account of illness in the home, Mrs. West was unable to attend, much to the regret of her many friends, who had the pleasure of enjoying Mrs. Clapp's hospitality.

The guest list included about 100 friends of the honorees and hostess.

In the living room, where the guests will be greeted by the host and honorees with their escorts, assisted by Miss Richardson's mother, giant mistletoe white chrysanthemums, arranged in large baskets, will adorn the tables and the two mantels will be banked with Southern amilax and golden yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums, while Southern amilax will veil the side lights.

In the ballroom, where the orchestras will discourse popular music for dancing throughout the evening, the musicians will be screened by a bowler of palms and ferns at either end of their room, while Southern amilax will wreath the lights.

Mrs. Richardson will be handsomely gowned for the evening in black chiffon velvet with touches of white satin and lace.

Gipp has shown no improvement since Saturday, physicians said today, and it is feared that he can not continue the fight much longer in his present condition.

Arrangements for the proposed game on Christmas day with the team of the Pacific fleet at San Francisco, are held in abeyance pending the outcome of Gipp's illness. Departure of the Notre Dame team for the coast is contingent upon Gipp's recovery.
