THE JOKER'S BUDGET.

WHAT WE FIND TO SMILE OVER IN THE HUMOROUS PAPERS.

AN INGENUOUS WOMAN. "My wife is the most ingenious woman who ever lived," said Jones. "I believe you," said Smith, politely.

CONVENIENT LOCATION. City Roarer—"I thought you said this place was convenient." Honest Farmer—"Yes, marm, we have found it very convenient."

WHOSE? "I have a great mind to go down town tonight," said Mr. Jobbieswitz to his wife. "What?" she replied, with surprise.

A SAFE REASON. Grover—"How much sand have you put in that sugar?" Clerk—"About a peck."

A SURE TEST. Fond Father—"Welcome home, my son. You have been much missed and I am glad you are through college at last."

A HAPPY BOY. "What yer bin?" he asked, as the other boy suddenly came around the corner. "To the doctor's."

IT WASN'T HIS FAULT. John Lewstick is an Austin citizen of a convivial turn of mind. Not long since he came home from a banquet at a very late hour.

A STORY OF TWO SKULLS. "Those two skulls have a romantic history," said an attendant of the Army Medical Museum, pointing to two German white skulls in one of the cases.

DID NOT MISS IT. Moses P. Handy, managing editor of the Philadelphia Press, told the editor of the Journalist that he recently had a curious experience with a serial story.

Continuation of 'The Joker's Budget' with various humorous anecdotes and dialogues.
