Nashville Union.

TUESDAY MORNING JULY 8, 1862.

We have received a letter containing $2 from Mr. S. C. Hoven, of Butler county, Ohio, but he failed to give us his Post office. If he or any of his friends should see this, they will please give us his P. O.

Another Guerrilla Raid---Two Federal Soldiers killed and three wounded!

We learn from Adjutant Brakely, of the 23d Minnesota Brigade, Col. Lester, that five pickets of this Brigade were sent out yesterday, from Murfreesboro to Pierce's Mill, eight miles distant on the Lebanon pike. While at their post they were attacked by a party of men, supposed to be citizens of the neighborhood, and two were killed and three wounded. The attacking party had no horses, and are supposed to belong to the neighborhood. Seventy-five soldiers were immediately sent out in search of the assassins, who, we hope will be treated as common murderers, and not as prisoners of war. No man who joins these bodies of murderers, who do not carry on regular warfare, has any right to claim the treatment due a soldier. It is assassination to kill men as these pickets were killed and the perpetrators should be treated as such when taken. Self-preservation imperiously demands it. If vengeance be not inflicted, men will refuse to come as soldiers to a State where murderers are treated as their equals, and receive the courtesy extended to prisoners of war.

We were pleased to meet Lieut. Col. Foster, of the First Tennessee Regiment, in the city on Sunday. He has his head bound up but is doing well, and is anxious to have a settlement with the assassins of the Southern Confederacy. He made a very narrow escape, having received a ball in the shoulder and another in the back of his head, which ploughed its way between the scalp and skull for some distance.

The 21st Kentucky, Col. S. W Price, have removed from Shelbyville to Tullahoma. Col. Price is as noble a gentleman as Kentucky can boast of, and we are pleased to see the following compliment, well merited we doubt not, in the Shelbyville News:

The 21st Kentucky regiment, Colonel Price, left here on yesterday, and although they go to an important point, we regret to part with them. During the stay of this regiment, our people have become much attached to it. We know them to be a gallant band of men, and wish them success wherever they go.

Theatre.—Although we are in the middle of the heated term, the audiences at our theatre still continue good, and no wonder either, when we take into consideration that the establishment is one of the coolest and best ventilated in Nashville—if there is any air stirring you will be sure to feel it at the above place. The military drama of "The Barrack Room" is the first item on the programme to-night. Master Richard, the youthful prodigy, will dance an Irish Jig—the close will be "The Maid with the Milking Pail," in which Miss Bernard will play the part of Milly, and sing the charming little song incidental to the piece, with all the witchery and charming abandon which she alone can do.

Harry Weaver will make his first appeal to-morrow eve, and will present a bill of magnificent proportions. May prosperous gales waft a large attendance for the occasion.

The Fourth of July.

Editor of the Nashville Union:

With gratification and instruction I have read the Addresses of Col. Stokes and Gov. Johnson, which were delivered in the Capital on the 4th, the birth day of our liberty, and regret that I could not be present; having come from a distance for the purpose, and finding many here from other parts of the State, who had come to rejoice together in hope of perpetuating our greatest of all Governments, we went to the Capitol at the appointed hour, but many, with myself, could not get admittance. After many of us had tried in vain to get seats, we went reluctantly away. What number of substantial Union men from a distance were thus excluded I have no means of knowing, but much regret that any who have withstood the reign of rebel terror for the sake of the Union could not be allowed seats. I have been informed that many boys of the city were allowed seats in the galleries. Many of these would likely have been as gratified with the explosion of fire-crackers in the streets. Yet while these had seats, the old and middle aged men of distant counties were excluded.

I offer this simple statement to you for publication, in the hope that it may be of use. A Citizen of Tennessee.

Nashville, July 7, 1862.

Rally to Arms!

By authority of the Federal Government, I propose to raise a Battalion of Cavalry for service and home protection in Tennessee. Arms, Horses, Saddles and Clothing will be furnished.

I will address the people at Watertown, on Monday, the 14th; at New Middleton, on Tuesday, the 15th; at Alexandria, on Wednesday, the 16th; and at Liberty, on Thursday, the 17th instant.

Come on, boys, let us preserve our homes and save the Union.

WM. B. STOKES.

July 7, 1862—10t.

A Military Collision.

Col. Lewis D. Campbell, of the 69th Ohio Volunteers, has replied to Captain Greene's letter, requiring the punishment of Capt. Dercum, of the 2d Tennessee Volunteers. The facts in regard to Capt. Dercum's guilt are not disclosed as there has yet been no trial. It is very evident however, that there is something of a conflict of opinion between the Captain and the Colonel. "When Doctors disagree, who shall decide?" As we make no pretensions in the military line we will not take sides, at present.

We republish the Captain's letter that the issue may be the better understood:

Headquarters, District of the Ohio.

Nashville, Tenn., July 5, 1862.

Col. Lewis D. Campbell, 69*th Ohio Volunteers, Provost Marshal, &c.*

Colonel: A paper is on file in this office, in the hand writing of Capt. Dercum, Second Tennessee Volunteers, acknowledging the receipt of twenty-five dollars from two soldiers, in consideration of which he promises to get them discharged, and to furnish them with complete sets of "Discharge papers."

The Second Tennessee Volunteers is not in the U. S. service, and he is not, therefore, entitled to a Court Martial,

His military offence is an infamous one, and demands an infamous punishment. You will have his insignia of rank and buttons of his coat stripped from him by a private soldier, in front of the Regiment—paraded—and then cause him to be marched, by a file of the Guard, to the tune of the rogue's march, to the gate of the enclosure to the Provost Barracks, where you will have a Policeman stationed to receive him, and turn him over to the civil authorities, to answer for a violation of the laws of the State of Tennessee, in obtaining money under false pretenses. I am, Sir,

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
O. D. GREENE,
A. A. G.

July 6-1w

Headquarters Provost Guard, Nashville, July 7, 1862.

Captain Oliver D. Greene,
Assistant Adjutant General:

Captain: Your letter addressed to me, under date of the 5th instant, and published in the Union newspaper of the 6th, was received late Saturday night. You direct me to inflict on Captain Dercum, of the Second Tennessee Volunteers, (whom I caused to be arrested a few days since on your order) what you very properly call "an infamous punishment"—such punishment as an officer of true manhood must regard as almost equal to death, and such as the alleged charge, if proven, might justify.

Sincerely desirous of executing promptly all official orders which may be directed to me by proper authority, I must, however, respectfully decline to perform the unpleasant task which your individual letter assigns to me.

You inform me that Captain Dercum "is not in the United States service, and is not entitled to a Court Martial." It seems plain, therefore, that you require me to be the executioner of an officer who has never had the benefit of trial by a civil or military tribunal, upon a sentence pronounced by you without the authority of a Court Martial or of Gen. Buell, whose Assistant Adjutant General you are.

Capt. Dercum not being in the service of the United States, a Court Martial you say could not take jurisdiction of his case. This being admitted, I know of no law which authorizes you to pass sentence upon him or me to execute it.

I beg to assure you, Captain, that I am not actuated by a disposition to avoid a faithful discharge of my legitimate duties according to the best of my feeble abilities, or by any want of respect for you personally or officially. The genius of our Government does not justify punishments without giving to the accused a fair trial, and in this hour of our country's trouble, I think we should be cautious not to usurp powers which an enlightened public sentiment would condemn as despotic.

You have on file in your office prima facie evidence of Capt. Dercum's guilt of a gross offence against the laws of the State of Tennessee, and I concur fully in your suggestion that he be turned over to the civil authorities. And I respectfully request that you transmit to me the proofs that I may send them with him to the proper officers.

Very truly, yours, &c.,
LEWIS D. CAMPBELL,
Col. 69th O. V. I., Provost Marshal.

Headquarters, Second Tennessee Regiment of Volunteers, Nashville, July 7, 1862.

Captain O. D. Greene, A. A. G:

Captain: In order that I may not be censured for the late disgraceful conduct of Capt. Dercum, I take this method of informing the public, that I immediately revoked his authority, upon the facts being made known to me. I have only to say he has received just condemnation at your hands.

With regard to your mentioning that, "my Regiment is not in the United States service," I should be extremely sorry to think it was in any other.

Your obedient servant,
J. T. E. McLEAN,
Col. Commanding 2d Tenn. Infantry.

Messrs. W. L. Weller & Brother received a dispatch last evening, stating that their brother Charles and another man were murdered near Indian Mound, some 15 miles from Clarksville, Tenn. Mr. Weller has been South on a business tour for the firm. It was supposed he was killed for his money. He was well known and highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances here. —Louisville Democrat.

By Last Night's Mail.

Corinth, Miss., July 6

To Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

Official reports are just received of a brilliant cavalry affair near Booneville, Miss., on the 1st. Col. Sheridan, of the Second Michigan Cavalry, with two regiments of 728 men, were attacked by parts of eight regiments of rebels, numbering 4,700 men, which he defeated and drove back after seven hours fighting. We lost forty-one men in killed, wounded and missing. The rebel loss must have been great, as they left sixty-five dead on the field.

H. W. HALLECK.
Major-General Commanding.

Fortress Monroe, July 4.

Two steamers with sick and wounded soldiers, from Harrison's Landing, leave here for New York this morning. Many are very slightly wounded.

Parties aboard the steamer Commodore from there, report having heard cannonading from nine A. M. until one P. M.; others say it continued until six—the time the steamer left Harrison's Landing.

McClellan sent 553 rebel prisoners today to Fortress Monroe. Many of them had clothes on taken from our soldiers.

Among the prisoners are 53 officers.

The enemy were driven back and retreated 10 miles Thursday, July 3, with great loss in men and cannon.

Washington, July 6.

Advices from the Army of the Potomac up to last night, indicate all quiet and in good spirits. Brigadier General Curtis is ordered to report to General Pope. McClellan has issued an address to the army on the achievements of the last ten days, saying you have succeeded in changing your base of operations by a flank movement, always regarded as the most hazardous of military expeditions. You have saved all your material, all your trains, and all your guns except a few lost in battle, taking in return guns and colors from the enemy. Under every disadvantage of numbers and necessarily of position, you have in every conflict beaten back your foes with enormous slaughter.

We are prepared to meet the enemy, who may at any time attack you. Let them come and we will convert this repulse into a final defeat. Your Government is strengthening you with the resources of a great people. On this, our national birth-day, we declare to our foes who are rebels against the best interests of mankind, that this army shall enter their capital.

ARRIVAL OF THE KANGAROO.

St. John's, July 6.

The Kangaroo, from Liverpool the 25th and Queenstown the 26th, was boarded off Cape Race on Saturday night.

The ship Sailors' Home, formerly the Independence, reached Liverpool from Havana, having on board 2,000 bales of cotton.

The London Times, commenting on the fearful carnage in America, says never could a map of Europe show so many blood-stained spots; that the war has reached a point at which it is a scandal to humanity, and that it has become a war of extermination, yet submission is as far off as ever. The opportunity must be at hand when some American voice, prudently calling for peace, may awaken a universal echo.

The Times has an editorial on American finances. It says they are in a most critical condition, and ought to produce serious alarm instead of empty boasting.

The Morning Post charges the American Government with being all along influenced by popular clamor, having never pursued an independent course.

Cairo, July 5.—The ram Monarch brings news from Vicksburg of the 28th. On Thursday Porter's fleet commenced shelling the upper battery below town; this continued all day without any result. It was renewed on Friday, and in the afternoon it was directed on the town, over which shells were plainly seen to burst; this continued until four, when it ceased. During the bombardment the rebel batteries replied feebly; their firing was inaccurate. Half an hour after the cessation of the bombardment, the rebel battery opened on our mortar fleet, which replied until the battery ceased firing. At 8 P. M. was opened fire from our entire fleet upon the town, which continued an hour. The next morning at 4 o'clock the bombardment was renewed, during which eight of Farragut's vessels passed the batteries without serious damage. The city must have been greatly damaged, as conflagrations were seen in various places. We are informed upon indisputable authority that five thousand negroes have been ordered by General Butler to work on the canal across the bend in which Vicksburg, or its remains, are now situated.—The channel thus changed, Vicksburg will become an inland town hereafter.—Seven hundred more shells were ordered from New Orleans to reduce the remains of the place to ashes.

Washington, July 5.—Dispatches have been received from Gen. McClellan, dated as late as one o'clock A. M., on the 4th. The following is their substance, omitting details not proper for present publication. There has been no fighting since Tuesday night, when the enemy were repulsed with great slaughter. The army moved to the position now occupied because it afforded superior advantarge for the co-operation of the gunboats, of which seventeen are now in the river protecting the flank of our army. Statements of the casualties in the severe battles of the eight days cannot yet be furnished. Our forces were not beaten in any conflict, nor could they be driven from the field by the utmost efforts of the enemy. No guns has been lost since the 27th, when McCall's division, at the onset, was overwhelmed and twenty-five pieces fell into the hands of the enemy. The sick and wounded are being sent to hospitals. At one o'clock yesterday the army was drawn up in position for review. The bands were playing, national salutes being fired, and things looked bright.

Fortress Monroe, July 6.—This morning the Nellie Baker arrived at Fortress Monroe from Harrison's Landing, having left there at five o'clock. She brings twenty-five rebel prisoners and a few wounded. The most terrible fighting took place on Tuesday last, with most brilliant success. The rebels were defeated in every action, and the rebel prisoners admit the loss of at least 10,000 that day. Our artillery was most successfully handled. Nearly all day the rebels have done but very little execution with theirs. Our loss was very small compared with that of the rebels. As fast as the rebel forces were cut to pieces other fresh troops were immediately marched forward to fill their places. They seemed to disregard the lives of their men, and held them under the hottest fire of our artillery. The enemy have been driven back in every fight for the last three days. Our troops are in fine spirits, and never so anxious to fight as now.

The steamer Vanderbilt and Arrowsmith have arrived with 1,000 wounded.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac, Turkey Island, July 2.

General Goslin, of the 54th Pennsylvania regiment, was killed; Capt. Cambiass, of the 5th regular cavalry, was killed; Col. Pratt, of the 31st New York, was wounded in the face.

The army is now encamped on high rolling ground on the banks of the James river, fifteen miles from Richmond. The transports are already unloading supplies at the wharves. The commanding General feels confident of successfully meeting any attack the enemy can make upon him in his present position.

The reinforcements received from Beauregard and Jackson gave them a force double that of the army of the Potomac, and many of the prisoners taken during the battle belong to Beauregard's army.

New York, July 5.—Captain Spear, of Reynolds' staff, reports that reinforcements were received with great enthusiasm by McClellan's troops.

The battle on Tuesday lasted from five A. M. till nine P. M. We took twenty-four guns from the rebels, who came up three or four lines deep. The canteens of the rebels were filled with whisky and gunpowder.

Corinth, July 5.—A former employee on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, from Mobile via Tupello, says there are two gunboats and one ram in Mobile bay, and about 10,000 troops below Mobile on the shell road. The fortifications around Mobile, which was commenced about a month ago, are complete.

Our informant says that Bragg is in command at Tupello, with between 40,000 and 50,000. Breckinridge had left with 30,000 men. All the troops are short of clothing and provisions. They have bacon twice each week, but neither coffee nor salt.

The rebels say that the time has come to retake Corinth, and the general impression among the rebels is that a majority of our troops have gone East. It is the unanimous testimony of the scouts, deserters and spies, that no rebel troops, except cavalry, have gone eastward.

Memphis, July 2.—At Helena, Arkansas, there is a band of guerrillas, who threatened the people with cotton burning and a general destruction of property. In consideration of these facts, Gen. Grant issued orders that whenever loss is sustained by the Government, collections shall be made by seizure of a sufficient amount of personal property from persons in the immediate vicinity sympathising with the rebellion to remunerate the Government for all losses. Persons acting as guerrillas will not be treated as prisoners of war.

The Mississippi River, north of Vicksburg, is reported lined with men trying to escape from conscription. The Federal boats are continually hailed by persons wanting to be taken on board with their cotton. The people everywhere are represented as suffering the greatest hardships.

On an island below White River, 25,000 men who have fled from conscription, are united against their oppressors for protection.

The Avalanche appeared this morning as a bulletin. The proprietors and editors changed this in accordance with the late order of the Provost Marshal, that no paper would be issued whose editors would not take the oath of allegiance.

$50 REWARD.

Runaway from the subscriber, 2 miles from Gallatin, Wilson county, Tennessee, on the 15th inst., a negro man named Alfred, about 40 years of age, black, spare made and rather delicate appearance, weighs about 140 pounds. He is a carpenter by trade, and will doubtless try to make into the federal lines, and pass himself as a free man. He can write a passable hand. I will give the above reward for his apprehension so I can get him.
