By order of the Captain, F. ENDERLINE, O. S. July 30.

Dr. Livingston the greatest explorer who has ever visited Africa, writes home under date of January 1862, to the American geographical society:

"Africa is a continent of the Future. It is impossible to rectify the capabilities. It is pre-eminently a cotton country, for here that plant is perennial, and requires little of the heart-breaking toil necessary where it is an exotic; no frosts endanger the crops, and the best qualities yield largely.

A Chronic Letter. In Wheeling, Va., there is a Union paper called the Press, whose loyalty extends itself in fighting the Abolitionists.

I am in favor now, and always have been, of putting down the rebellion by every means within the reach of the Government.

An illegal or unauthorized seizure is a robbery; and the perpetrator of such a crime merits and will receive the severest punishment authorized by military law.

HEADQUARTERS U. S. FORCES, NASHVILLE, July 29, 1862. Special Orders, No. 58.

III. All soldiers, except Orderlies, Messengers, and Soldiers on duty in the City, hereafter found in the City of Nashville without a pass signed by the proper Commanding Officer or Surgeon of Hospital, will be arrested by the Provost Guard, held in custody, and put on parole until regularly released.

Dr. Dignowity, of San Antonio, Texas, has been in Washington for some time endeavoring to interest the Government in behalf of the Union population of Texas.

A nephew of Chief Justice Taney was arrested, committed and held refused, a few days since, for drawing a knife upon a new-boy, because the boy offered him Northern papers for sale.

An Affair of Honor.

The New York Herald's Washington correspondent says: An affair of honor was to come off at Arlington House on Monday, but was frustrated by the vigilance of the police.

Gen. LOCUIS DESHA, Ex-Major SAM. JANVARY, M. GARRET, Rev. Mr. SMILEY, Methodist preacher, and two other prominent citizens of Cynthia were on Saturday assigned to the Newport barracks.

We learn from the New Albany Ledger that a rebel, supposed to be a guerrilla, stopped into a crowd of Union men at Bea Harbor on Friday last and commenced a tirade of abuse against all Union men.

The Louisville Journal of yesterday says: On Friday last a body of Union soldiers heard of a gang of guerrillas who were deprecating the country some fifteen miles back of Henderson, Ky.

HEADQUARTERS U. S. FORCES, NASHVILLE, July 29, 1862. General Orders No. 18.

The Officers and Soldiers of this Command are reminded that no orders authorizing an indiscriminate pillaging and robbing of the inhabitants have yet been promulgated by the Commanding General of this District.

No soldier is allowed to make searches or captures except by order of his commanding officers; and all captured property belongs to the Government of the United States.

Gen. Twiggs's Swords.

Gen. BUTLER has sent to President Lincoln the following characteristic letter, giving the history of the seizure of the swords of the traitor Twiggs:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF, Mobile, July 1, 1862.

Sir: I have the honor to send you, with this note, three swords, with their equipments, formerly belonging to David E. Twiggs, late Major-General in the army of the United States.

Presented by the President of the United States, agreeable to a resolution of Congress, to Brig. Gen. DAVID E. TWIGGS, in testimony of the high honor conferred by Congress of his gallantry and good conduct in storming Monterey.

Another was presented by the State of Georgia, and bears the following legend and inscription.

The State of Georgia to Major-Gen. DAVID E. TWIGGS, United States Army, as a tribute to his gallantry in Mexico, 1847. Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, Monterey, Vera Cruz, Cerro Gordo, Chapultepec, Molino del Rey, Mexico.

The third was presented by his native city Augusta, Ga., and has the following legend:

Gen TWIGGS left these swords with a young woman on the evening before he fled from New Orleans, and in his flight on the day of the approach of the fleet he wrote in his carriage, while en route, this extraordinary paper:

I leave my swords to Miss—, and box of silver. D. E. TWIGGS. NEW ORLEANS, April 25, 1862.

This paper was claimed as a deed of gift of these very valuable weapons by the young woman named; but she had neglected to inform her father of this singular donation—causa fidei—and as the girl's mother caused them to be sent back to Gen. Twiggs's house, I ventured to interfere with this testamentary disposition.

Now that the weapon given by the United States is returned to the Executive, and the others placed at his disposal, might I take leave to suggest a proper disposition of them.

The sword from the State of Georgia might be deposited in the library at West Point, with an appropriate inscription, as a perpetual memento to the youth there, how worse than useless are all education and military training, even when allied to gallantry and courage.

That given by the city of Augusta might be deposited in the Patent Office, as a warning against the folly and uselessness of such an invention as secession.

Pardon the freedom of these suggestions, and believe me, most respectfully, your obedient servant. BENJ. F. BUTLER.

The Lexington (Ky.) correspondent of the Cincinnati Times, has the following notice of JOHN MORGAN.

From the citizens here I learned something of the individual who has created such a sensation in Kentucky. He was a resident of this city before leaving for the Confederacy, and is well known in Cincinnati.

He married an estimable lady, some years since, but she died eighteen months ago, of grief, over the crimes of her son.

While the rebels were near Georgetown, a resident of this place put on Secesh clothes, and rode to the house of Mrs. Johnston, widow of the late "Provisional Governor," and when at the gate met a little son of John C. Breckinridge, who said:

"You are one of Morgan's men?" "Yes, I am Champ Ferguson."

"Well, let me tell aunt (Mrs. Johnston) she will do anything she can for you."

"You are the celebrated Mr. Ferguson; welcome here!"

A dinner was prepared, of which the individual partook with great relish. When he was about to remark, Mrs. Johnston said:

"Your horse is jaded; I'll give you a better one to drive the Yankees from the State."

A contraband was called, and one of the finest horses I have ever seen, brought out, on which the pretended Secesh returned to Lexington rejoicing.
