TUESDAY MORNING, JAN. 13, 1863

HOSPITALS IN NASHVILLE.

- No. 1—Old Gun Factory, Cherry street, on the Hill. No. 2—City Hospital, Market street, on the Hill.

Small Pox.

We are assured, on good authority, that an unfortunate creature was walking about the streets yesterday...

The landing presented an animated and gay appearance on Sunday morning, twelve steamboats being there at one time.

We are informed that some of the paroled Federal prisoners who were sent in here about a week ago, are in a very destitute condition.

Eastern Mail.

We are glad to learn that the difficulty about carrying the mail on the L. & N. Railroad has been adjusted...

Reading Room.

We are pleased to see that our enterprising friend, Mr. Tom W. Neal, has opened in connection with his News Depot, No. 62 Cherry street...

A correspondent at Russellville, Ky., informs us that the 29th Michigan Infantry went out on a scouting expedition from that place a few days ago after a body of guerrillas.

We heard a report on the streets yesterday that a considerable body of guerrillas, supposed to be Wheeler's brigade, were prowling between here and Franklia, near the Murfreesboro road.

Those wishing Furniture will do well by attending the Sale at James Whelias, North Cherry Street, this morning.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9.

To H. W. Halleck, General-in-Chief: I have just received a despatch from Gen. Granger that the cavalry force of about 1,000 men, which he sent to East Tennessee on the 21st ult...

This expedition is characterized by Gen. Granger as being one of the most hazardous and daring of the war, and was attended with great hardships and privations...

The important results of this expedition can hardly be overrated, severing as it has, the main rebel army communication between Virginia and the South-west.

General Carter and his officers and men deserve the thanks of the country. Great credit is also due to Major-General Granger, under whose immediate supervision the expedition was fitted out.

(Signed) H. G. WRIGHT, Major-General Commanding.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.

Major-General Granger, Cincinnati: The daring operations and brilliant achievements of Gen. Carter and his command are without a parallel in the history of the war...

(Signed) H. W. HALLECK, General-in-Chief.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—Gen. Halleck has despatched the following to Gen. Rosecrans:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND, Washington, Jan. 9.

To Major-General W. S. Rosecrans, Commanding Army of the Cumberland: The rebel accounts fully confirm your telegrams from the battle-field.

The victory was well-earned and one of the most brilliant of the war. You and your brave army have won the gratitude of your country and the admiration of the world.

(Signed) H. W. HALLECK, General-in-Chief.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Information from the army of the Potomac shows that our pickets extend from Felmouth to King George C. H., about twenty-two miles distant.

Contrabands agree in stating that rebel incursions are nightly made below the C. H. for a long distance, and negroes are carried away and sent South.

The Senate to-day confirmed the nomination of Alex. W. Randall, of Wisconsin, to be First Assistant Postmaster-General.

General Farragut, Goldsboro, Dupont, and Foote to be Rear Admirals in the Navy from the 16th of July, 1862, on the active list, and Capt. Chas. E. Stewart to be a Rear Admiral from the same date on the retired list.

Private letters from the blockading fleet off Mobile, dated Dec. 23, say that many deserters to the United States from the rebel forts and neighborhood state that great hardships are endured by the different commands at Mobile.

They have beef once a week, and oysters only at other times, with neither sugar, tea, nor coffee. The privateer Oveto is still in the harbor. Nothing has catered or left the harbor since the departure of Captain Preble save one sloop laden with cotton, which, in getting out, was captured by one of our cruisers, and a cotton-laden schooner, which was getting out found her heart failing, and endeavored to run back again, but lost her footing and went into the breakers...

CAIRO, Jan. 9.—Nothing from Vicksburg to-day. The Jackson Appeal of the 3d characterizes the fight at that place as a trivial affair as far as the Confederates are concerned.

It says their loss was small, and places the Federal loss at 2,500. It regards the Federals failing back as a trap, arguing no good to the Confederate cause. The telegraph is working in good order from here to Memphis.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—Governor Andrew's message was delivered to-day. It is very lengthy. The aggregate number of troops raised by the State is sixty thousand.

The banking institutions are reported to be in a sound condition. In conclusion, the Governor alludes to the patriotism of the Massachusetts soldiers and citizens, and says: "Unionists in no double sense, we have held from the beginning that the Government is greater than any class of men and their interests, and has an original right to the power. We deny the right of rebellion, and we are in a position to impose their terms on any human being who would make him or his wives surrender their fathers their sons to a civil war, we have never seen why the rebels should be slaves and compel the supporting always without conditions as policy is that of human sophistry.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND, January 7.

News from the rebel side re the light at Murfreesboro, is to the effect that the rebels took 4,000 prisoners and 26 guns.

Jeff. Davis returned to Richmond and delivered a bitter and violent speech against the Federal Government as it is officers, denouncing us as guilty of the most enormous crimes.

Although the rebel force in our front and the army at Fort Royal have withdrawn entirely from view, it is not believed that any have been sent to reinforce Bragg.

New York, Jan. 9.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that any revenue stamps, except proprietary, can now be used for its amount on any instrument, thus virtually abolishing the great variety of stamps.

It is understood that Secretary Chase will be here to-morrow to consult with our bankers as to the best financial policy to be adopted.

The President has nominated Robert W. Taylor, of Ohio, for Second Comptroller of the Treasury in place of the late Elisha Whittlesey.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 8.—The election of United States Senator did not take place to-day. The Democratic nominees are T. A. Hendricks and David Turpie. No business was transacted in the Senate for want of a quorum, the Republicans bolting.

The House refused to hear the Governor's message without a joint convention of both houses. The message refers principally to State affairs, endorses the emancipation proclamation as a necessary war measure, and says that the people of the North must not be deluded with the idea that a compromise is possible, or abandon their efforts to suppress the rebellion.

The State has furnished over 102,000 volunteers during the war.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 12.—Enquirer says capture of the Monitor but little injured, and six hundred prisoners, and a large quantity of stores and arms.

The Passaic was towed into Beaufort disabled, having lost her turret and guns. The steamer which towed the Monitor has not been heard from.

St. Louis, Jan. 12.—General Curtis telegraphs that we have repulsed the rebels and hold Springfield.

New York, Jan. 12.—Cotton 70c. Gold 42c. Demand Notes 38 1/2.

The Yazoo River has been abandoned as a base of operations; the rebels being impregnable in front. Our losses there was from twenty-five hundred to three thousand. No fighting since the fifteenth.

Nothing has been heard of Banks or Farragut.

Our army is on transports at Milliken's Bend. Heavy rise in the Mississippi from continuous rains.

Considerable excitement at the mouth of the Arkansas. The Ram Ponchartrain is down the River and our gunboats and rams are waiting for her.
