For Governor,
WM. G. BROWNLOW,
OF KNOX.
FOR THE SENATE,
JOHN TRIMBLE.
FOR THE HOUSE,
WM. B. LEWIS,
SAM'L J. CARTER.
SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 1865.

Our midnight dispatches bring reports relative to the Blair mission, which are indeed important, if true. The main portion of the report, however, comes through the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph—a notoriously unreliable journal. The Washington Commercial Advertiser, however, states that Blair expects a speedy peace, and he is one of the most reliable news gatherers in the capital. A few days will settle the question, as to whether the mission was, or was not, a success.

Abolish Slavery.
In his recent message to the Legislature, Governor Cannon, of Delaware, urges in forcible language upon that body the propriety and necessity of making the State free. After remarking that "slavery is the cause and soul of the rebellion, and that its immediate extinction and perpetual prohibition are necessary to the preservation of the country," he shows that the system is not now a source of profit in Delaware; that it is one of the most disadvantageous of any such rule system of labor, without any of its advantages, and that if it could be immediately abolished the value of property would be much increased.

We recommend the following observations of this Governor to those Tennessee working men, who still adhere to, or are willing to tolerate the slave system. They will see, as a measure of self-defence they ought to insist on the extinction of slavery:
"In a community where slaves are held as property, the white race is always placed under great disadvantages. Slave labor is uncompensated, white labor is compensated. When the two are brought into competition, white labor is crowded out. Besides, the result of slave labor is to destroy the dignity of labor altogether, so that while at first the effect is to make free labor unprofitable, unremunerative, it now becomes unworthy. If in addition to this, capital absolutely owns its labor, the avenues to honest livelihood are forever closed to the white. This is the cause of much poverty, ignorance and crime. To avoid such a result, there is but one course—that is, to make labor honorable, to make intelligence general, to establish a government that shall protect and advance the interests and welfare of the very humblest citizen."

We hope that citizens of Tennessee will read, and carefully weigh these remarks of the Governor of Delaware. They are as applicable to this State, as to that. We have even more the evils of the system, demoralized as it now is, with fewer of its advantages, than the people of Delaware.

On the 22d of next month, the question as to whether this shall be a free, and prosperous commonwealth, or a disorganized people, will be decided. Are you, citizens of Tennessee, prepared to act, on that day, as your best interests demand? We trust you are; we trust that 75,000 of you will vote for "Ratification" on that day, and thus forever rid the State of slavery, and give to labor its proper dignity, and the laboring men their just position in society.

Re-Organization in Tennessee.
Tennessee, says the Louisville Journal, is about to reorganize her civil government. On the 22d of next month several propositions agreed upon by the Union State Convention recently assembled at Nashville, will be presented to the people for ratification or rejection. The propositions embrace the repeal of the military league entered into by the rebel Governor Harris and the Confederate States, the renewal of the State's allegiance to the Union, and the emancipation of slavery. These propositions, we doubt not, will be ratified by the loyal people of Tennessee. Thousands, too, who identified their feelings with the rebellion and even contributed to its inauguration, seeing the fatal results of secession and the importance of restoring civil authority upon the ruins occasioned by war, will vote in the affirmative. A candidate for Governor has been nominated, and in various portions of the State candidates for the Legislature are before the people, who will be elected on the approaching 4th of March. In the Nashville District, John Trimble is a candidate for the State Senate, and William B. Lewis and Samuel J. Carter are candidates for the lower House. John Trimble is one of the most able and accomplished lawyers in Tennessee. His spirit is as lofty as the skies. William B. Lewis is the old friend and companion of General Jackson, always beloved and trusted by him, and Samuel J. Carter is an estimable citizen of Nashville. If the Union men of Tennessee will put forward such men for office throughout the State, the new foundation for civil power will be wisely and securely laid in their midst.

It is certainly gratifying to loyal men everywhere thus to witness the progress of restoration. Gradually but surely the pillars of the Union, stricken down by rebellion, are being reinstated. The work now inaugurated in Tennessee will open up a glorious future to the State. She must pass through some irregularities in the re-establishment of civil authority, but they are scarcely avoidable amid the exigencies of a bloody revolution. She will at last take her stand fairly and squarely, as a sovereign member of the Union, her political life purified by the fiery ordeal of war. No State of the Union possesses more ample resources of wealth than Tennessee. Her capacity for manufactures is hardly limited.

Her minerals are various and abundant, and when the energies of her people shall once more be directed to their development, the State will spring forward with wonderful strides. We would urge her people to embrace the opportunity now offered for fully resuming their Federal relations. They need representation in the national Congress. All their interests demand it. The restoration of civil government will do much to ameliorate the severest exactions of military rule, contributing to the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth.

Poor Jeff Davis! Four years ago he insolently announced his intention to come to Washington, depose Mr. Lincoln, and establish himself as the legitimate head of the Nation. Now he is in danger of being driven from the people whom he has ruined. Tien, he was held up, even by Northern men, as a model statesman; now, he is hooted at by all the rebels themselves, as the author of all their woes. What an illustration does his fate furnish of the truth that "the way of the transgressor is hard!"

Mr. Cox lately started some of his colleagues by saying that in the event of a seceding certain news from Richmond will be driven from the Constitutional amendment.

Sherman Determined to Annihilate South Carolina.
Proceedings Correspondence of the Sumter Watchman, January 27.
Sherman and his thieves and robbers have sworn that South Carolina shall be annihilated. His corps command has just spoken it to the wife of one of our Generals—unavoidably left in Savannah from whose lips I heard it. And it has been reiterated from the mouth of every prisoner brought into our lines. Not a chip, they say, is to be left behind them unsummed. Neither will respect be paid to youth, beauty or age. "Body and beauty," the original cry which they wailed when they were threatened, is to be echoed upon her soil.

Unless our people have submitted themselves to the Yankee taskmasters, these fiends, incarnate, will be driven howling from their borders. Let youth and age alike prepare for the conflict. Let the march of the enemy upon our own soil be rendered perilous by the ranks of every prisoner, and the midst of every thicket and swamp that lies in his path-way, and let our women, instead of exhibiting timidity, nervousness and panic, prove themselves worthy representatives of those of '76. The trait of liberty must be watered by the blood of its martyrs, and the fair hand and gentle but fearless soul of woman must purify and strengthen it.

Various agencies are indulged in as to Sherman's proposed scheme for the destruction of South Carolina. The most popular idea here seems to be that he will continue to annoy us with his operations in the present winter, and that he will remain in our possession, between Savannah and Charleston, while with a heavy column he makes his way up the Savannah river to Augusta, and thence to Columbia and Charleston. Others suppose that he will cross at Sister's Ferry and march for Branchville and thence to Charleston or Columbia, or both. That he intends to operate in the present winter there can be no doubt.

The enemy's batteries nightly give forth their thunders as our trains pass Copowahatchie, and their shells fall in a considerable force along the river, and he makes his rapid way, but he heeds them not. With this exception all remains quiet along our lines. The army is being re-organized and cut in thorough equipment for active field service.

Let our people look up. A brighter day will yet dawn upon us, if they remain true to the cause.

Oil in Indiana.
A recent letter from Warren county, says:
Great excitement prevails in Indiana. Another oil well has been opened in Harrison county. It was struck about 9 o'clock on Saturday, at the shallow depth of 10 feet 7 inches. Nothing like this was ever before heard of on the American continent. Most wells are put down from three to four hundred, but this well yields several barrels a day from a vein running nearly on the surface, and that, too, without pumping. It is situated on Mosquito creek, about four miles back from where it empties into the Ohio.

Musquito creek is destined to compete with Oil creek of Pennsylvania. It is directly in the center of the great Hamilton Group of Rocks, and is produced by the same source. It is the best site for petroleum in the country. There are oil springs scattered all along this stream, which has been known ever since the State was first settled. Some of them produce the same oil, which has long been used by the inhabitants as a medicine. It is said to be a sure remedy for sprains and rheumatism.

A novel method of killing whales is by the crew of a steamer. When the steamer Morris was entering the Straits of Messina, on the 12th of October, a strong shock was felt by all on board, and a most unusual agitation was noticed in the water near the steamer. The engines having been stopped and a boat lowered, it was found that a whale had gotten tangled with the screw, which had inflicted a deep and mortal wound had he not been killed. With some difficulty the dead monster was extricated and hoisted on deck when it was found to measure twenty-one feet four inches in length, with maximum girth of thirteen and a half inches.

A SAILOR MURDERER.—The Mound City Weekly Journal learns from a reliable source that on Monday evening of last week, a discharged sailor was brutally murdered between that city and Cairo. The unfortunate man had been paid off a few hours before, and had a considerable amount of money upon his person, which was gone when he was found. There is not the least doubt but that he was murdered for his money by some of the thieves and scoundrels who infest the country between Mound City and Cairo. It is fast becoming unsafe for a person to travel through that portion of the country even in daylight, and it is a crying evil which calls loudly for a remedy.

The Latest News.
BY LAST NIGHT'S MAIL.
New York, Jan. 26.—There was considerable excitement to-day over the new assignment of quotas under the last call. The quota of this city is 25,000 instead of 4,000, as previously reported. The Times' Washington special says: The War Department will take prompt action in regard to the interference by the Indians with the overland mail. It is very probable that that section of country now infested by Indians will be so organized as to prevent any further trouble.

The same special says: The scheme to appropriate $6,000,000 to the ship canal around Niagara Falls has exploded. A motion will be made when the House meets to-day to amend the bill. The World's Army of the James correspondent says: The rebels, on the night of the 24th, made a demonstration on our pickets in front of the camp. They found the pickets prepared for them. There was sharp firing through the night.

An intelligent deserter says that Jeff Davis left Richmond on Friday on a visit to Wilmington. The Richmond Sentinel of the 24th says: We violate no confidence in stating, as we do, upon good authority, that the House of Representatives has adopted a resolution to-day, that they will convene on the 27th of February. There is no danger whatever of the passage of any irregular measures, however honestly proposed.

The Examiner of the 23d says: There are some who feel despirited by being beaten and conquered already, and they would fain wriggle out of what they hold to be a perilous position by any hole or cranny. Now it is to England and France a bribe of the terrible Yankees; again to offer the Yankees whatever they ask they will take it. The Examiner of the 23d says: The act of Congress doesn't expressly guarantee to the General in Chief to appoint his subordinates in the command of the different armies.

The Examiner takes occasion to renew his appeals for the immediate description of negroes. It urges Congress to banish all thought of negotiations for peace, and devote its time to measures, and says let us all remember that till the enemy, who made the war, shall offer honorable terms of peace, no man will wish for peace, but continual war will be the object and purpose of this people. A Charleston letter to the Richmond Dispatch says many of the most prominent advocates of secession in 1861, as well as many of the most confident and resolute supporters of our cause in 1862, are now the most garrulous and dependent. The reverses which have overtaken our arms and the influence of the blockade-running trade have wrought this change, so that the Charleston letter says that the Charleston of former days, the city abounds with prophets of evil, croakings, and faintlings.

The Richmond Dispatch of the 24th contains the following: For some reason an attack on our lines on the north side seems to have been expected on Sunday night, and arrangements were made to meet it, but the night passed off quietly and the enemy came not. There is too much mud between the two armies for the enemy to make any serious advance. During the night, sharp firing was heard on the lines south of the river.

A letter from Lee announces that General Johnston has been placed in command of the 21st corps, lately commanded by Early. We received an address to the troops on taking command.
