

$10,000,000 AID FOR VETERANS

Red Cross Provides Friendly Service of Many Kinds to Army of Disabled.

BULK OF WORK BY CHAPTERS

2,397 of These Are Helping Ex-Service Men Obtain Benefits U. S. Provides.

One field of Red Cross service alone, that of assisting disabled veterans of the World War, entails expenditures $4,000,000 greater than the aggregate receipts of the Annual Roll Call of 1920, the American Red Cross announces in a statement urging a widespread increase in membership at the Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24. At the present time National Headquarters and the nation-wide chain of Chapters of the Red Cross is spending approximately $10,000,000 annually for the relief of disabled ex-service men and their families, while the aggregate receipts from last year's Roll Call were approximately $6,000,000.

It is in the $280 of the 3,000 Red Cross Chapters which still are helping solve the veteran's problem of adjusting himself to a normal civilian status that the greater part of the cost of this service is borne. Of the total sum spent for veterans' relief last year, National Headquarters expended a total of more than $2,600,000, while the remaining disbursement of approximately $7,400,000 represents the contribution of Chapters in this country-wide effort to assist the Government in providing the aid sorely needed by these men and their families.

An Ever Expanding Problem

That the problem of the disabled service man is ever-expanding and probably will not reach the peak before 1925, is the assertion of well-informed Government officials and that 2,397 Red Cross Chapters regard it as their most important work is evidence that the expansion is in nowise confined to a particular section but is, on the contrary, nation-wide. At the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1921, there were 20,300 disabled service men in the 1,692 United States Public Health Service, Contract and Government Hospitals and Soldiers Homes, and that number is increasing at a rate of 1,000 a month.

Thousands of these men receiving medical treatment, compensation and vocational training from the Government today, started their efforts to obtain them through the Red Cross Chapter. The Chapter, acting as the disabled man's agent in claims against the Government, informs the man as to the procedure necessary to gain for him that which is provided him by Federal statute. His applications for compensation, medical treatment and training are properly filed with the aid of the Red Cross Chapter.

Many Forms of Assistance

If there is delay before the man's claim is acted upon, the Red Cross Chapter lends the man money to meet the imperative needs of himself and his dependents.

Most vital to the man's gaining full benefit from the Government's care is keeping his mind free from worry about his home. Keeping the veteran's family from hardship of every kind and informing him of its welfare is another province of the Chapter. Free from fear on this score, the man's recovery and advancement usually is rapid.

Every month during the last year, the American Red Cross has given service of one kind or another to an average of 129,215 former service men and their families. An indication of the extent of the faith reposed in the Red Cross Chapter is to be found in the fact that there were 356,544 requests for friendly aid in the solution of personal problems.

448 Workers in Hospitals

While the man prior to entering Government care deals largely with the Chapter, afterward he comes into contact with the service provided by National Headquarters. There are 448 Red Cross workers in the United States Public Health Service and contract hospitals and other institutions in which these men are being cared for, whose duty is to provide for his recreation, help him with his compensation claims, keep him in touch with his family; in short, meeting his every need outside of that provided by the Government. While these are a few of the responsibilities of the National Organization, they are by no means all. Among other Red Cross accomplishments for the year are:

- It handled 70,732 allotment and allowance claims.
- It delivered through its Chapter organization 63,955 allotment checks to veterans who had moved from the addresses furnished to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.
- It provided a special fund of $10,000 for medical assistance to men under vocational training.
- It made 22,495 loans totaling $450,000 to men taking vocational training, of which 85 per cent has been repaid.

DUST SHOWN TO BE BENEFACOR

Bane of Housewife Plays Vital Part in Life.

CAUSE OF QUEER PHENOMENA

Dust Falls on the Ocean, Yellow Rains in the Yukon and Red Snows in Greenland and Other Arctic and Alpine Regions Among Freaks—Without Dust We Would Have No Rain and Coloring of Our Sunsets Would Be Almost Entirely Lost.

Washington, D. C.—"The falling of a thick coating of dust upon a steamer in the Yellow sea and the attendant darkening of the atmosphere so that sailing was difficult, recently reported in news dispatches, is not such an uncommon occurrence in that part of the world, or even in mid ocean," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from Washington, D. C. "Besides the dust fall on the ocean, which on the face of it seems a joke, there are sometimes yellow rains in the Yukon and red snows in Greenland and other arctic and alpine regions," the bulletin adds.

"The yellow rains, so called because the ground becomes covered with a peculiar fine yellow deposit, are usually found to be caused by the pollen of pine trees, growing miles and miles away, which is caught up by the winds and carried until their fury has abated, and then dropped. The 'red snow' seen in the arctic is made by a wind-blown deposit of the mollusc algae, Chlamydomonas, in the nuclei of which are red pigment spots. Other kinds of algae sometimes reproduce in such numbers that they form the greenish deposits seen in fresh water.

Beautiful Sunsets Due to Dust.

"Dust, however, that bane of the housekeeper and the curse of the automobile tourist, plays a vital part in our lives. Though it sometimes seems to suffocate us, without it we could have no rain, as the vapor would not condense and without its power of refraction our daylight would not be so bright, and the coloring of our sunsets would be almost entirely lost.

"The loess of northern China, a fine yellow powder brought by the winds from the desert regions beyond and deposited in places several hundred feet in thickness, has been tilled for thousands of years, without any artificial fertilization and without signs of exhaustion. Beds of volcanic dust are to be found in Kansas and Nebraska today, in some places as much as 30 feet in thickness, though there were no volcanoes in the past and none at present within hundreds of miles of the deposits. The wind is the culprit or benefactor.

"Steamers out in the middle of the Atlantic often have their sails reddened with dust blown from the Sahara, and sometimes the rains of southern Europe are colored by dust from the same source. In 1901 four days of March winds are believed to have spread over central Europe about 2,000,000 tons of Sahara dust, most of it falling south of the Alps, but some of it being carried as far as the Baltic sea.

"Wind-blown dust also gives rise to some interesting phenomena. When dust falls on glaciers or deposits of snow near the mountain tops, every dust particle melts its way through the ice, sometimes several inches in depth, and if there are a great many of these 'dust wells' the mountain climber must watch his steps. Use was made of this knowledge by engineers in melting snows preliminary to the building of the New Bergen railway in southern Norway.

No Mountain Peak Above 'Dust Zone.'

"It is probable that no mountain top is high enough above the earth to be entirely free from some dust, especially that thrown out during volcanic eruptions. In a great explosion, such as that of Krakatoa in 1885, dust is shot into the upper atmosphere rather than picked up by it. Dust particles from Krakatoa traveled around the world, some of it completing its first trip in 15 days. Before this giant shook the world with its mighty upheaving we were ignorant of the winds that prevailed at over ten miles above the earth's surface. The dust so colored these upper reaches that cunning scientists were able to trace upper wind movements, to record them upon their charts, and to tell us that mighty air streams are flowing 20 miles above our heads.

"Long before meteorologists realized the part played by the dust in the upper atmosphere following volcanic explosions, they recorded as phenomenal and inexplicable certain dense, dry fogs that neither abundant rains nor fierce winds drove away. Today we can easily explain that because we know that the 'fog' was really dust in the atmosphere high above the rain and wind clouds. In some places these 'fogs' made the sun invisible until it had risen high above the horizon and colored and reflected the light of the new moon until it appeared as bright as that of the full moon at midnight.

REPORT OIL AND GOLD DISCOVERIES IN ALASKA

Prospectors Investigate Seepage on Cape Simpson—Tell of Vein at Girdwood.

A report of the discovery of a new oil area in Alaska and of a new gold strike near Girdwood, with quartz running $1,400 a ton on assay, is contained in dispatches to Seattle from the northern territory.

The gold strike has started a rush to Girdwood district, where six-year-old Adde Reno discovered a vein of free gold, according to a dispatch from C. J. Lincke. The vein is on Pengrum Creek, north of Girdwood. Andrew Miles, a prospector, struck a good vein between rhyolite slate, and the ledges are described as large and continuous.

The report of the oil area near Point Barrow is based on word from R. D. Adams, head of an oil prospecting party, which returned to Nome from Wainwright and Point Barrow.

"The oil seepages occur on two or three conspicuous hills of the barren and mountainous Cape Simpson," the dispatch says. "The largest seepage rises on a hill four miles southwest of the cape and more than a mile inland.

"Another smaller seepage was found on a hill 400 yards from the shore, approximately three miles northwest of Cape Simpson. The flow of oil down the hillside may be seen from the coast. The two main seepages are similar, the source being well up the hills. Both flow several hundred yards into lakes."

A Standard Oil party of prospectors which left Nome about the same time as the Adams party is now investigating in the same section.

"PRETTIEST GIRL IN AMERICA" TO BE WED

Six years ago a jury of photographers judged Miss Gertrude M. Fisher of Melrose Park, Pa., to be the prettiest girl in America. Of course she was deluged with proposals of marriage, as well as the usual offers to sell advertising rights to her photos. Recently it was announced that she is to marry Carl F. Lauber, Jr., a manufacturer of soft drinks of Philadelphia.

NAPOLEON TOMB NEGLECTED

First Resting Place at St. Helena Unmarked and in Disrepair.

Napoleon's original tomb on St. Helena has fallen into a sad state of disrepair since the body was removed in state to the Invalides in Paris eighty-one years ago, according to a letter received by Sir Lee Knowles, a former British cabinet minister, from a recent visitor to that remote island.

"I walked the five and one-half miles uphill to Longwood, Napoleon's old home," the writer says, "and inspected his much neglected tomb which is down in a deep corner of a deep valley—just a slab covered with dirty white-wash—no inscription whatever. The grass around was unkempt, and surrounded by a circle, about twenty paces in diameter, of tall trees, and there was nothing anywhere to tell a visitor when the body was removed or to whom the old tomb had belonged."

PRIEST'S GARB BRINGS FINE

Archbishop Francisco Orozco Jimenez, one of the high Roman Catholic prelates in Mexico, has been fined $100 by municipal authorities at Guadalajara for appearing on the streets in clerical garb. Police Chief Rivera recently ordered the arrest of all priests appearing on the thoroughfares in cassocks, and several disagreeable incidents are said to have resulted.
