LORD SAULLY'S MISSOURI FARMS.

Owens Over 40,000 Acres, All Cultivated by Tenants—Is An American Citizen.

Lord Scully of London, England, has just completed the purchase of a vast body of land in Bates County, Mo. He now owns outright over 40,000 acres of the choicest land in the county, for which he paid about $1,500,000. The purchase was simply an investment, so his agents declare, for his son and his widowed daughter-in-law. What effect this heavy purchase will have on the values in the community, it is certain that the merchants of Butler are beginning to feel the effect of the change in ownership. Whether Lord Scully is proposing to carry out the ideas already fastened on England, i. e., the growth of land estates under one ruler, with tenantry to work the farms, is left for the future to decide. It is certain that such a condition now exists on his various farms in the county.

The first purchase of land in Butler County was made by Lord Scully's agents in 1894. Since then they have bought up, from time to time, the best farms in the county. His agents, the principal one of whom was F. W. Kenohie of Springfield, Ill., took overland trips through the county. When they came to a piece of land that struck their fancy it was bought without question as to the price. In this way many of the old settlers of the county sold out their homesteads and were glad of the opportunity. The land brought from $25 to $35 per acre. Most of it ranged at $30. It was months after the Scully agents began to buy farm land before any one suspected that such big deals were on foot. Then the farmers who had land to sell besieged the agents with importunities to buy their farms. The agents quit buying and disappeared from Bates County, giving out that they had all the land they wanted. For awhile the farmers who had land for sale desisted in their efforts and Lord Scully was forgotten.

A year or so later they appeared again in the county, and for months they rode from one end to the other. They would start out from Butler every morning and return in the evening. The receipts from the recording fees placed that office at the top of the list as the best paying one. Instruments by the page are recorded there and the fees are all paid by William Scully. In one week over $50,000 changed hands through the Scully transactions.

Then the people of the county began to inquire into the matter. A bill preventing an alien from owning more than 10,000 acres of land in any county in the State was introduced and passed in the Thirty-eighth General Assembly. This was introduced by the Representative of this county and directed at Lord Scully. The latter was too wise to be caught napping. He slipped over from London, and before the law went into effect a telegram was sent out from Washington that Lord Scully had become a citizen of this country, and had been naturalized. Thus the law was evaded, and his agents continued to purchase land in his name, which they kept up until a few months ago. At the present time his farms are scattered all over Bates County. These farms contain from 40,000 to 50,000 acres, and the value is placed at more than $1,200,000 at the minimum.

The one feature which the citizens of the county are so bitterly opposed to is the fact that improvements are allowed to wane and the farms, instead of being the pride of their tenants, are running to waste. At the present time they are all placed under the tenant system. The rents are not exorbitant. Only $2 to $2.50 per acre is charged, and so far, in case of a crop failure, this has been refunded in many instances. Three men who have headquarters in Butler are constantly engaged in looking after the Scully interests. They collect the rents and otherwise look after the farms. Lord Scully pays about one-tenth of the taxes of the county and the land he owns measures nearly eight square miles if the farms were placed side by side. Although there are more than 50,000 acres of land in the county, the Scully lands make a big inroad on the valuable portions.

An Ancient Scotch Castle.

Dalketh palace in Scotland is a plain building, but it has a fine situation, with a good bowling green and a beautiful bridge of white stone spanning the Esk River, within sight of the house. The present building, erected in 1700, stands on the sight of the old castle of Dalketh, which is alluded to as far back as 1130, when William de Graham, who had received a grant of lands from David I, was the occupant. In the fourteenth century the castle, along with the barony of Dalketh, passed by marriage to the house of Douglas.

A Salesman's Bad Break.

Sometimes an agent may praise his wares so zealously that possible purchasers are scared away. "You say this is good, strong perfume," said Miss Martha Tibbets, doubtfully surveying a bottle of greenish liquid, "and I see it's marked 'real violet extract' and 'warranted.' But it's a present for my niece—if I buy it—supposing it lost its smell before she'd had it a month? I've heard of folks being cheated that way."

"Madam," said the agent, "let me tell you a little story. Last year I sold a bottle of this perfume to a lady whose husband was a little peculiar in his mind; and he took a great distaste to this delicious invigorating odor, so that the lady was obliged to secrete the bottle in a drawer.

"Six months passed, and one day the husband chanced upon the bottle, and in his annoyance, we will say, he threw it from the window, and it broke upon the garden wall. And the lady assured me that three weeks later her husband removed the stones on which the perfume had been spilled, and replaced them with others. I leave you to draw your own conclusions."

"Um!" said Miss Tibbets. "Well, my niece is married, and I don't know just what notions her husband may have. I guess I'd better not buy anything this morning. You see how 'tis, don't you?"

If you have a weak stomach don't fail to try it.

A Swan Fights a Man.

That a swan will fight fiercely was shown by an exciting struggle between a swan and a park constable on the upper lake in Waterloo Park, England. Some India-rubber balls had rolled into the water, and to get them the constable paddled out in a punt. This drew the notice of the male swan.

A moment's insight is sometimes worth a life's experience.

THE very word "operation" strikes terror to a woman's soul.

Nearly always these operations become necessary through neglect. If the menses are very painful, or too frequent and excessive, get the right advice at once and stop taking chances. It will cost you nothing for advice if you write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for it, and if you let the trouble run along it will surely cost you a great deal of pain and may mean an operation.

MISS SARAH J. GRAHAM, Sheridanville, Pa., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I had suffered for several years with female troubles and doctored until I was discouraged. I felt wretched and tired of living. I had disease of kidneys, bladder trouble, dropsy and bleeding, had womb trouble and a large tumor had formed; in fact all my organs were out of fix.

"Seeing a woman's letter praising your remedies, I wrote to her and she begged of me to try it, telling me all that it had done for her. I bought six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now cannot express my gratitude to you. The tumor began to come away in pieces and I got better all the time. I believe now that I am entirely cured.

"My doctors could not believe it at first, as they all had told me that my case was a hopeless one, and no human power could do me any good. They were astounded. If I can say anything that can help other women, I shall be glad to."

It is not safe to wait until the last moment. Head off trouble by prompt attention to it. Don't be satisfied without Mrs. Pinkham's advice.
