

THE CAMDEN CHRONICLE.

VOL. XXI.

CAMDEN, TENN., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1900.

No. 13

FROM McILLWAIN.

Special correspondence.]

Bud McCord, of Holladay, was here yesterday.

Mrs. D. A. Gossett is on the list of sick this week.

H. J. Fry, of Sugar Tree, was in our midst Monday.

The Methodist Church here will soon be completed.

R. T. Merrick, our local butcher, supplies our town with the dainties of the season.

Joe Johnson and family, of Murray, Ky., are here on a visit to relatives and friends.

We regret to learn that W. L. Box's foot is no better and is still causing him trouble.

It is estimated that the yield of peanuts in this section will hardly average a half crop this year.

J. A. Cain says he knows what it takes to "stand in" with the girls. Well, Jimmie, get a broadax and a maul and you will be all o. k.

Some of the boys who feel rather blue since the marriages which took place Sunday talk of contesting the matter; they insist that fraud has been perpetrated.

We understand that Enloe and Sims both claim the nomination for Congress. The committee may settle the matter, but we don't want a repetition of the rough-shod action of the committee of four years ago.

S. J. Wesson and Miss Dora Walker were married at Sugar Tree Sunday evening, and B. C. Flowers and Miss Addie Hatley were married here Sunday morning. They had a nice time in the morning and in the afternoon they went to Pola Camp's. Here's wishing them all happiness and prosperity.

McILLWAIN, September 4.

FROM LIBERTY.

Regular correspondence.]

John Lindsey, of Faxon, is here on a visit this week.

W. A. Totty, of Hustburg, was here the first of the week.

Horace Hargis lost his fine mare last week. Her neck was broken.

Farmers have lost a great deal of hay on account of the recent rains.

Miss Tennie Bush is very low, and her recovery is regarded as extremely doubtful.

Those who anticipated a wedding in this community last Sunday are nursing their disappointment.

Elmer Vick has dismissed school and is attending the meeting here. Flatwoods is well represented here in the meeting.

The protracted meeting is going on this week, and fairly good interest is manifested. Rev. W. A. Watts is expected here to-day to assist in the meeting.

LIBERTY, September 4.

FROM SULPHUR SPRINGS.

Regular correspondence.]

Rev. Columbus Cooper has been very sick, but is some better.

The Sunday school at Oak Valley is progressing very nicely. J. C. Wheatley is superintendent.

John P. Lashlee and family, of Eva, returned home Saturday after spending a week at the springs.

There has been a good attendance at the school here up to the time of its temporary dismissal. A new dwelling is being erected near the school building for the convenience of Elmer Vick and his charming young wife, who have charge of the school. All parents should take an interest in the education of their children, and now is a good opportunity to begin by sending your children when school opens again, and send them regularly, for when they become men and women they may not have the opportunity or the means to attend a college or a seminary, and certainly the opportunity and means to acquire an education can not be obtained by your children after you have reared them in ignorance. We have a good teacher, and he is a christian gentleman. Now, parents, put on your thinking cap, for you are guardian of your children, and it is your duty to think and plan for their future as well as their present welfare, and now is the time to begin the foundation work for their education, for without an education the man and woman of the rising generation can not hope

SULPHUR SPRINGS, September 4.

FROM GARFIELD.

Regular correspondence.]

C. F. Craig has gone to Arkansas to visit relatives.

The infant child of John Douglass is a great deal better.

We think there will be a few cases of matrimony here soon.

J. J. Cole and son, Herman, have returned from a trip to Nashville.

Walter Elmore is repairing the roads this week, for the first time this year.

Some of the young folks had an enjoyable time at boating on the river last Sunday.

Farmers are busy saving fodder. The cotton crop will hardly produce half an average yield.

Dorsey Carter will complete his new dwelling this week, and says "She must come home."

Ollie Nance has returned from the swamps of Arkansas. He says there is no place like home.

G. W. Presson and wife have returned to T. H. H. Presson's, and they say that old Tennessee is good enough for them.

Little Dave Presson greeted his friends with a happy smile Thursday morning. Its a girl, and she arrived in time for breakfast.

GARFIELD, September 3.

Special correspondence.]

Frank Watson will go West, we understand, this fall.

Misses Jennie Nance and Dora Elmore visited here last week.

Dr. J. T. Bray is sick with fever, but is reported better this morning, we are glad to learn.

There is a very good attendance at school at this place. Miss Florence Nance is teacher.

A good meeting is in progress at Cedar Grove this week. The is a good attendance at each service.

The protracted meeting will begin at Mount Carmel next Sunday. Everybody come, and bring a basket of "grub," for it is going to be a good old-fashioned all day meeting. Come, everybody.

Death has entered the home of A. C. Rushing once more, taking his aged mother from him. The body of this noble christian woman rests at the Cedar Grove Cemetery; her spirit has found rest and peace with the blessed Father. How sad it is to part with one we all loved so well. But to her children and relatives and friends we would say, grieve not as those who have no hope, but let us all so live that when death comes we may be prepared to die as she did in the full hope of everlasting life.

GARFIELD, September 4.

The little child of J. W. H. Presson died last Tuesday. The interment took place Wednesday at the Mount Carmel Cemetery.

Sis Newman died at the home of James Hicks, near Devider, Monday, of dropsy. The interment was at Cross Roads Cemetery.

E. S. Cowell and family, of Covington, Mo., are here on a visit to relatives and friends. Mrs. Cowell was taken very sick while on the way here, and her condition is regarded as extremely critical.

The R. L. Bridges stock of merchandise, which were sold to the highest bidder Tuesday, went to J. B. Bowles & Son, of Big Sandy.

The infant child of J. B. Anderson and wife, of Devider, died last Sunday and the remains were laid to rest at Cross Roads Cemetery.

James Ogles and Millard McDaniel contributed to the coffers of the city for the privilege of a little fisticuff exercise Monday evening.

Trustee George W. E. Herrin and Sheriff Ernest E. Fry and the magistrates and other district officers of the county were duly qualified for office Monday.

The query is often made "What has become of the Benton County Teachers' Association?" We refer the matter to the county superintendent for an answer.

Mrs. S. S. Clayton, whose health has been on the decline for some time, has been very low this week, and as we go to press we are told that she is slowly sinking.

The Brownlow and Evans faction of the Republican executive committee of Henry County which met at Paris Monday could not agree on a candidate for floater.

The infant child of J. S. Pinkston, of Zach, died Tuesday. The child was probably a year old, and had been in delicate health since its birth. The interment was at Mount Carmel Cemetery.

W. T. Morris, J. B. Vickrey and L. R. Watson left Wednesday for Paris, but were turned back by a wreck near Mansfield caused by a collision between a freight and the construction train. No one was seriously hurt.

Walter Elmore died at his home near Zach Tuesday morning. He was a young man, about 30 years of age, and was apparently in the best of health, but about ten days before his death he was stricken down with fever. He was buried at Mount Carmel Cemetery.

The Democratic Congressional committee, which met at Paris on Wednesday, did not declare a nomination. As the vote of the counties were called a good portion of it was challenged by Mr. Enloe, and a committee was appointed to investigate the charges of fraud.

Miss May Hudson, daughter of P. W. Hudson, who resides in the Postoak community, died Wednesday, and the interment took place at Postoak Cemetery yesterday afternoon. She had a violent attack of the grip last spring, from which she never fully recovered. Miss Hudson was nearly 22 years of age, and was a general favorite among a large circle of friends.

Lieut. E. B. Bowles, son of J. B. Bowles, a prominent merchant at Big Sandy, was married at McKenzie Monday to Miss Stella Pierce, the charming and beautiful daughter of the late Frank Pierce, of McKenzie. The happy couple returned to Big Sandy, the home of the the bridegroom, where they were given a reception and supper at the residence of Mr. Bowles' parents.

THE CHRONICLE joins in extending congratulations and best wishes.

FROM GREENBRIER.

Regular correspondence.]

Johnnie Alsop is able to be up and out again.

Miss Bettie Alsop, of Missouri, is visiting relatives and numerous friends here.

Bob Alsop and charming sister, Miss Jennie, visited here Sunday and Monday.

The rains last week were beneficial to growing crops and also to general health.

H. L. Pierce and family, of near Claud, visited relatives here the first of the week.

J. W. Byrn and wife and John Cantrell have gone to Lake County to spend a few weeks.

There will be Sunday school at Baker's Chapel next Sunday at 9 a. m. and preaching at 11 a. m.

Horace Brooks went to Paducah and Paris last week, and will probably go to Texas before returning.

If all reports are true there will be a contest for the Democratic nomination for Congress when the committee meets at Paris this week.

While this is to be regretted, all fair-minded Democrats will demand a fair, complete and impartial investigation of every charge of fraud.

We don't want any more foolishness. The action of the committee four years ago was a bid for frauds and ballot-box stuffing, etc., and it would be folly to deny that frauds have been committed or refuse to investigate such charges.
