FACTS OF SCHOOLS OF TENNESSEE PRESENTED BY COMMISSIONER P. P. CLAXTON.

FEW GRADUATES HIGH SCHOOLS

Only About Five Per Cent of the First Grade Enrollment Gets to the Ninth Grade According to These Statistics.

(From Tuesday's Daily Herald.)
By P. P. CLAXTON,
U. S. Commissioner of Education.
In other articles of this series it is claimed that for all children of school age, in country and city alike, there should be a school term of not less than nine months, 180 days, every year; that a majority of the boys and girls of country and city alike should have high school education; that school houses should be comfortable, sanitary and well equipped for the work of the schools; and most important of all, that all teachers in city and country schools and especially in the country elementary schools should be fully prepared for their work; that they should have good native ability, should be well born, well organized physically, mentally and morally, should be positive and aggressive in character, and be well educated and trained for the work they are to do; that the minimum standard of education and professional preparation from a good high school, of four years or its equivalent, and not less than two years of professional instruction and training in normal school or college; and that teachers in high schools should have had not less than four years in a standard college or the full equivalent of this. In all this I am sure all thoughtful persons in this state will agree.
What are the facts?
The average length of school term in all schools of the state is only 110 days. In the elementary schools of the country the average is only 104 days, just five months and four days. (The figures are for 1918-19, the latest available.) In many counties the term is much shorter.
In the schools 75 per cent of the school population is enrolled. The average attendance is only 66 per cent of the enrollment, or 50 percent of the school population. On an average only half of the children of school age are in school even for the few days of the short term. The average number of days of attendance for the children enrolled in the country schools is only 69 days. These children are in school 69 days in the year and out of school 296 days, or 244 days if Sun days are not counted.
Only 5.2 per cent of the total enrollment is in the high school, whereas it should be approximately 20 per cent. Only about 15 boys and girls in a hundred enter high school and less than four in a hundred graduate. For the country at large 24 in a hundred enter high school and more than 14 in a hundred graduate. For many states the proportions are much larger.
Less than half the children enrolled in the schools go beyond the fifth grade. The enrollment in the several grades as compiled by the office of the state superintendent of public instruction is as follows:

First year high school	7,763
Second year high school	4,431

The average value of country school houses is only a little more than 1,300, including grounds and equipment. This is less than $20 for each child enrolled. Excluding consolidated schools and the more costly school buildings in villages and smaller towns it is much less. The total value of all school property, both state and county, including houses, lands and equipment, is less than $20,000,000; only $33.92 for each child enrolled. The average for the United States is $95.12 nearly three times as much as for Tennessee.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF COLUMBIA CYCLONE

TODAY MARKS THIS DARK ERA FOR THIS COMMUNITY—28 PERSONS KILLED.

(From Saturday's Daily Herald.)
Today, November 20th, is the twentieth anniversary of the terrific cyclone which swept over Columbia and other sections of the country leaving death and destruction in its path.
The cyclone entered the city from the southwest and veered a little north striking, experts claimed the reservoir hill, which threw into the valley known as "Happy Hollow" where the greatest toll of life was taken. The death list ran up to twenty-eight or more and the injured more than one hundred.
Four of the family of Capt. A. F. Aydelotte were killed, only the daughter escaping with her life, and she was blown a distance of nearly three hundred yards and landed upon the magazine in the arsenal grounds. Misses Florence and Evelyn Farrell were among the killed.
The property loss into the thousands of dollars. Glancing back over the old files of The Daily Herald, while it is a sad recollection, it is a source of gratitude to notice how the people of the community responded to the calls for help and not only rendered financial aid, but gave of their personal services.

CLOSER CO-OPERATION COUNTRY CHURCHES

FIVE PASTORS IN SIXTH DISTRICT ARRANGE FOR JOINT SERVICES IN FUTURE.

Churches in the McCains and Bigbyville section are planning for a closer co-operation in the work assigned them. The following account of a meeting of the pastors recently held is furnished by Dr. W. O. Largen, the secretary:
"A very important meeting was held at the parsonage at Bigbyville a few days ago. The pastors, Revs. Patton, Simpson, Hatfield, Arterburn and Largen, of the five churches of this community were called together to discuss larger plans for the Kingdom of Jesus Christ. The spirit of the meeting was that of co-operation in the extension of God's Kingdom. One of the pastors could not be present, but the other four discussed and agreed upon the following points:
"1. A permanent organization of the five pastors, E. P. Arterburn was elected chairman, and W. O. Largen, secretary. We decided to meet each month, the day of meeting to be determined later. We also discussed a more perfect county organization for all pastors, having in each community a similar organization to ours.
"2. It was decided that a church bulletin would be of great service. So Revs. Patton and Simpson were elected a committee to work this out.
"3. We heartily agreed that there should be a united effort in a great revival campaign some time next year. We are looking for the men to lead us, and if any one will help us secure them it will be appreciated.
"4. Union preaching each Sunday night is to be held. The first service will be at the Fairview Baptist church next Sunday night, Nov. 21, at 6:30. Rev. T. A. Patton will do the preaching. We urge the people of all the churches to attend this service and hear other announcements in line with this united program.
"5. The question of training our young people was discussed. And they are called together at the Baptist church at 6 o'clock Sunday night, the 21st. Let all the young people interested in church work be present at this time.
"6. Prayer meetings for the churches were taken up and at some other time we will be able to report on them.

FOR SAKE OF ECONOMY HORSES OF CITY ARE OFFERED FOR SALE—SAVE FEED BILLS.

City Would Have Little Use for Them During Winter Months—Considerable Work Has Been Done in Repairing During Present Summer.
(From Tuesday's Daily Herald.)
City officials today are offering for sale teams and wagons which have been used in street work. This was done in the interest of economy, according to Mayor W. O. Cherry, who said it would be impossible to do but little street work during the bad winter months, and during that time the city teams would be in the stable "waiting their heads off." It is the present plan of the city to dispose of two good teams, and when street work begins when spring opens up to buy a big truck. It is believed by officials that one big truck will do as much hauling over the city streets as two teams have been doing.
Although very little street paving has been done since the affairs of the city have been in the hands of the

FINDS GREATEST PROFIT IN TURKEYS

MRS. JAMES S. WHITWORTH SELLS TWENTY FINE BIRDS FOR NINETY-FIVE DOLLARS.

(From Tuesday's Daily Herald.)
Despite high heeled shoes and automobile there are still some thrifty housewives in Maury county who raise turkeys and find it most profitable. Mrs. James S. Whitworth living in the eastern portion of the county raised twenty-five turkeys this season. She sold twenty of them for $95 or an average of $4.75 each and there was nothing grown during the year on the big Whitworth farm that paid a handsomer profit, or that gave the owners more pride than these twenty-five national birds. She has set an example that could be profitably followed on every farm in the county.
