

SHORT COURSE FOR FARMERS AT U OF T JAN. 3

MONTH'S COURSE FOR MEN AND WOMEN ANNOUNCED BY DEAN WILSON OF COLLEGE.

NO ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

No Fees Will Be Required—Designed to Help Those Who Cannot Take the Full Four Years Course at State School.

While here Sunday going over the Middle Tennessee Experiment Station, Dean Wilson, of the College of Agriculture, at Knoxville, talked interestingly of the four weeks course in agriculture, home economics and related subjects that will be conducted by the college of agriculture of the University of Tennessee from January 3 to 26.

There will be four weeks of study and practical work for farmers and housekeepers and the courses in home economics will also be of value to those interested in home demonstration work, especially women who contemplate becoming county home demonstration agents.

No entrance requirements or fees will be charged and the courses are open to every resident of Tennessee over 16 years of age. Something like $50 will cover the entire expenses of railroad fare, board, etc., for the short course.

The short course in agriculture embraces four important phases of farming, general farming, animal husbandry, dairying and horticulture. These courses give practical instructions by means of the lectures, laboratory and field exercises.

The purpose of the home economics course is to give the housewife an opportunity to study practical farm-home problems that confront her daily, to aid her in simplifying her work through a more thorough knowledge of labor saving devices and better systematized work.

For information and pamphlets those interested in the agricultural courses should send requests to the College of Agriculture and those interested in the home economics course should write to Tennessee Hall, University of Tennessee.

THIS DISTRICT GIVES TAYLOR A SMALL MAJORITY

COMPLETE RETURNS SHOW THAT DEMOCRACY'S STRONGHOLDS WENT TO THE ENEMY.

EAST TENNESSEE NOT THE CAUSE

Analysis of Vote Proves That It Was the Slump in the Sections Usually Democratic That Elected Alf Taylor Governor.

(From Monday's Daily Herald.) Alfred A. Taylor, republican, not only carried the first, second, third, fourth and eighth districts of Tennessee, but he carried the democratic district, the seventh congressional district, which four years ago gave a democratic majority of 5,989. This was reversed and Taylor received a majority in the district of 341, the first time the district has gone republican on a straight party contest since reconstruction days.

Bad as was the slump in the democratic vote in the seventh district it was almost as bad in the fifth district. In 1916 the fifth district gave a democratic majority of 9,016. It gave Roberts this year a majority of 3,028, or a net loss of 6,018. The sixth district as not so bad. There the net democratic loss was 4,163. The sixth district in 1916 gave the democrats a majority of 9,569. On Nov. 2 it gave Roberts 5,496.

It was the slump in the democratic vote of Middle Tennessee that elected Taylor governor. It was the tremendous majorities for him in East Tennessee that gave him his record plurality. The following is the vote of the seventh district by counties:

Table with columns: County, Roberts, Taylor, Total. Rows include Dickson, Giles, Hickman, Houston, Humphreys, Lawrence, Lewis, Maury, Wayne, Williamson.

Total 16,307 16,448 Taylor's majority 341 The vote of the District in 1916 was as follows:

DRY GOODS ECONOMIST REPRODUCES HERALD AD

DOUBLE PAGE SPREAD OF MAURY DRY GOODS CO. 25TH ANNIVERSARY SALE.

(From Saturday's Daily Herald.) In the issue of The Daily Herald of October 7th appeared a double page spread of the Maury Dry Goods Co. announcing their twenty-fifth anniversary.

The advertisement was gotten up by Frank Smith, the able decorator and assistant advertising man for the firm and was one of the best displayed advertisements from a typographical standpoint ever printed in The Daily Herald.

It was not only well displayed and balanced in every particular, but carried with it a most convincing line of talk from the firm about the twenty-five years of successful business, expressing their appreciation of the people's confidence, etc.

The Dry Goods Economist, of St. Louis, Mo., a journal devoted to the retail dry goods and ready to wear trade, re-produced the advertisement and gave a very exhaustive criticism of the advertisement from every viewpoint.

Girl Of Eleven Makes Envaible Turkey Record

(From Monday's Daily Herald.) Little Gladys Frank, aged eleven years, and living on route No. 5, Columbia, has made a record as a turkey grower, that will put many a housewife, with many more years experience, to shame.

She set eleven turkey eggs in the spring. They all hatched and she raised nine of the number for market. She kept two and sold seven of them for $32.32 or an average of nearly $5 each. When she had "harvested her crop" she came to Columbia with ready money and purchased a winter outfit.

ASSESSMENT OF MERCHANTS FOR TAXES IN COURT

RIGHT TO BACK ASSESS STOCKS AT HIGHER VALUATION THAN OTHER PROPERTIES.

BEING HEARD BY JUDGE LYTLE

Case in Which Governor Roberts and Senator Louthan Were Witnesses in on Trial—Will Be Sure to Go to the Supreme Court.

(From Monday's Daily Herald.) One of the biggest back tax suits ever filed in the local courts is being heard by Chancellor Lytle today being the case of J. A. Sloan Company against A. W. Liscomb, county court clerk. Charles P. Hatcher represents the complainants, while the county court clerk and back tax agent are being represented by Thomas H. Poyles.

The suit involves the question of whether or not merchants can be back assessed at a higher rate of assessment than other property of the state has been assessed. It is alleged in the bill which seeks to enjoin the assessment that the state revenue agent is attempting to assess property at a higher rate than that at which other property is assessed for taxation and to back assess the merchant stock of complainant for a period of several years.

No matter how the case is decided by Judge Lytle it is practically a foregone conclusion that it will be carried to the supreme court as there are a number of legal questions in the bill. It will be recalled that it was in this case that the depositions of Gov. A. H. Roberts and Senator A. V. Louthan, statisticians of the state board of equalization, were taken.

It is expected that the hearing of the case, including the argument, will be concluded during the afternoon.

MAURY COUNTY FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS PLANNING BIG THING FOR DEC. 3.

The club has outlined some bill board plans for this winter's work and every member is requested to enter into the spirit of the movement.

UNIVERSITY HEADS INSPECTS STATION

PRESIDENT MORGAN AND DEAN WILSON MAKING FURTHER PLANS FOR DEVELOPMENT.

Dr. H. A. Morgan, president of the University of Tennessee, and Dean Wilson, of the college of agriculture, were here Saturday and Sunday from Knoxville going over the Middle Tennessee Experiment Station and plans were made for further improvements and also for crop rotations. Some wonderfully fine work has been done at the station in clearing and cleaning up, terracing the rolling fields, sowing grasses and generally bringing out the best in the farm. Dr. Morgan's dream of making this the show farm of the South does not seem far from realization as it did a year or two ago.

Dr. Morgan left this morning to attend the conference on education to be held at the Commercial Club at Nashville.

DR. WILLIAMSON GETS NEW ESSEX CABRIOLET

(From Monday's Daily Herald.) The Maury Motor Corporation has delivered to Dr. George Williamson an Essex cabriolet, the only car of the kind owned in Middle Tennessee. (From Monday's Daily Herald.) (By United Press.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Herbert Hoover, within the last week has come to the front as one of the "possibilities" for the post of secretary of labor in President Harding's cabinet, political observers say.
