Well, Cousins; as we can't agree on the time and place of our picnic, it is now all left with the editors. They will please set a time and name the place, and then let each and everyone come and bring a basket well filled with good things to eat, and let's all do our best to make it a day long to be remembered.

GIPSY.

[Editor:—The cousins may wonder why we have been quiet about the picnic, but the truth is we feared that too few of the correspondents were taking an interest in the matter. Last year we had a nice crowd of friends at the Lake, but not more than five or six correspondents, or cousins, as they dub themselves. This year we waited to see how many would volunteer to go, and yet only a few have responded to Gipsy's invitation. Now that the great sensational trial is over and crops are laid by we would like to know how many would join us at Reelfoot Lake or some other good point (the lake seems to be preferred) should the picnic take place early in September some Friday and Saturday. Unless the correspondents generally take an interest in this affair we do not see the advantage in calling it a cousin's picnic. Of course we would enjoy any kind of picnic, but if it is a cousin's picnic we would prefer to make it a success along that line. If not, then might as well try some other name, or none at all—just a picnic for those who want to go, correspondents or others. We would be glad to hear something definite from the correspondents.]

Death of Mrs. Ray.

Mrs. Ella Ray, wife of Thomas Ray, residing on Palmer Street, this city, died of consumption last Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Ray was about 36 years of age leaves two children, Clara and Millicent, both little girls. This lady was reared near Gleason. She was a Miss Brown and her marriage to Mr. Ray took place about ten years ago. Soon afterwards they located in Union City. About four years ago Mrs. Ray suffered from an attack of pneumonia. From this she never fully recovered, and by degrees consumption developed until life was extinct.

Mrs. Ray was a member of the Christian Church. She was a true, good woman, a kind neighbor, a devoted wife, a loving mother. She was all these and more. She was the inspiration of the home. She made it sacred by the ties of true affection and tender care, and all the joys and sorrows of the husband and little ones were shared with her, and through her ministrations it was "Home, sweet home."

The remains were shipped to Gleason Sunday morning, accompanied by friends and relatives, and laid away in the neighborhood cemetery.
