Masquerade.

There will be a mask contest at the skating rink next Monday night.

Two prizes will be given, one to the couple having the best costume, and one to the pair having the most comical make-up.

No one will be allowed to skate except those in mask until the masks are removed.

Isle of Spice.

The success that has been accorded the "Isle of Spice" which will appear here at the opera house Thursday, Jan. 3, is something phenomenal. Theatre goers and the press have been one voice in saying that it is sparkling musical comedy, with a bright dialogue, pretty costumes, magnificent scenery, sensational electrical effects, and above all a remarkable pretty bunch of maidens, who move about the stage in a bewitching and captivating manner to the delight of all.

Christmas Wheel.

A very unique affair was the entertainment at the Baptist Church Christmas eve. A wheel was constructed after the pattern of the Ferris wheel. It was equipped with electric lights in red, white and blue and operated with a motor. The wheel was loaded with Christmas presents for the children of the Sunday School, the members and friends of the Baptist Church. Santa Claus was on hand to look after this part of the work. Before the distribution of presents the choir rendered some choice music, and during the evening Miss Miller gave a reading. It was all very fine and greatly enjoyed by the large audience present.

The Postmaster's Mule.

A fine two-hundred-dollar mule was stolen from G. T. Taylor's barn last Sunday night. The animal was traced by Mr. Taylor and T. P. Noah to the country two miles south of Dyer, where the thief had stopped to trade with a farmer. The man who had the mule swapped a bay mare and $42.50 in cash for it. Mr. Noah interviewed him and found out that the fellow, or the thief, he traded with was tall, smooth shaven with thick lips, sandy hair, and about twenty-five years of age. This party said his name was Wilson and that he lived at Greenfield. He will no doubt be located soon.

The Churches.

Next week the churches of the city will observe the week of universal prayer. The services will rotate among the churches, and the following will be the program:

Monday night at the Methodist Church, led by J. G. Clark.

Tuesday night at the First Christian Church, led by J. L. Hudgins.

Wednesday night at the Baptist Church, led by S. F. Wynn.

Thursday night at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, led by E. L. Watson.

Friday night at the Methodist Church, led by J. J. Castleberry.

Sunday night at the First Christian Church in which all the churches will unite in a temperance service, and H. B. Johnston will preach.

All the church people and the public generally are invited and urged to make these services a success.

Next Sunday at the First Christian Church the service will be in the nature of a fellowship service for the new members, and all the members are requested to be present. The night service will begin at 7 o'clock and will last just one hour. A warm welcome will be extended to all.
