Death of Alvie Webb.

On last Tuesday morning death claimed one of Mason Hall's most prominent young men. Mr. Alvie Webb died of congestion after a brief illness. Mr. Webb had just reached young manhood and had just entered into active business life with as bright a future as any young man in Tennessee. He was 24 years of age and a true Christian, he having been a hard worker in the Baptist Church for nine years. For the past nine months Mr. Webb has held the position as the assistant cashier of the Mason Hall Bank, and had made for himself a reputation as a good, straight business man. He leaves a mother, Mrs. Mack Webb, four brothers and one sister to mourn his loss. His body was laid to rest in the New Salem cemetery under the directions of the Odd Fellows Lodge No. 28, of Kenton and Trimble, of which he was a worthy member. Rev. Moore, of Kenton, made a brief but rather sympathetic talk at the grave.—Troy Tribune.
