White-Morgan.

On Wednesday afternoon promptly at the appointed hour, 5 o'clock, Mr. Robert E. White was married to Miss Bess Morgan at the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna B. Morgan, on Exchange street.

The decorations were very artistic and effective, a scheme of pink and blue with green being used throughout. The place of the ceremony, in the library, was marked by an arch made of smilax and lafrance roses, at the top of which was hung a large bunch tied with blue tulle and banded behind with a forest effect of green interspersed with tiny electric lights. Over the curtains and hangings festoons of lafrance roses and smilax were hung. The reception hall was adorned with superb bouquets of pink roses on the piano, stands and wedding register, which was kept by Miss Bess Glasscock. The dining room was especially beautiful, with a huge heart-shaped wedding cake of pink roses and lilies of the valley in the center of the table and four pink candles with pink satin shades and tied with blue tulle. The dome over the table was also artistically decorated with pink roses and smilax with blue tulle bows at each corner.

At the first strains of the wedding march by Mrs. Irene Dahnke the dining room doors were thrown open and Rev. W. H. Sheffer, of the Lindell Street Christian Church, of Memphis, entered the library followed by Mr. White with Mr. Waddell Jackson, his best man. Then came the flower bearers, little Annie James Morgan and Paul Nailling, with pink and blue baskets scattering rose petals on the bridal path of white that was stretched from the arch to the stairway, followed by Miss Genevieve Nailling, the maid of honor, walking alone. Her gown was of blue crepe de chine with forget-me-not trimming. She carried a sheaf of lafrance roses tied with blue tulle. Then came the bride with her sister, Mrs. Julia Lee Sydnor, her matron, and was beautiful in her wedding gown of white chiffon over messaline with pearl garniture, wearing the veil her maternal grandmother wore over fifty years ago. She carried a shower bouquet of brides' roses and lilies of the valley. Her ornaments were a rare pearl necklace and pearl and heart pin. Mrs. Sydnor's veil was silver net over pink tulle.

Mr. Sheffer made the ceremony one of unusual impressiveness and concluded it with an eloquent prayer.

After the congratulations the cake was cut, and while refreshments were being served the happy pair slipped away and came down later ready to start on their wedding journey. Mrs. White's going-away gown was brown velvet with hat to match.

Those who assisted in receiving were Mesdames Irene Dahnke, Paine Bransford and Miss Mary Swiggart in the hall, and Misses Carrie Walker and Nora Gardner in the breakfast room, where the many lovely and useful gifts were displayed.

Mr. and Mrs. White will be at home after November 1, at the home of Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Morgan, on Exchange street.

The marriage links into closer relationship two of the oldest families in the city and county. The bride is a daughter of the late James R. Morgan, one of the leading merchants and financiers of the county. Her mother was the daughter of Robert F. Nailling, one of the most popular of the older citizens and business men. Mrs. Morgan was a popular favorite among her girlhood friends and social Union City at that time. The bride is charming in grace and person. Mr. White is the son of W. L. White, one of our leading real estate dealers and merchants and a man of the highest character. The groom is a young man of business accomplishments and assistant cashier of the Farmers Exchange Bank.

It was one of the most notable social events in Union City, and the warmest congratulations came from a host of citizens.

Miss Gardner.

Miss Nora Gardner gave a charming bridge party for Miss Morgan on Thursday afternoon of last week. Decorations were both artistic and appropriate. The tally cards were especially attractive, being hand-painted cupid with a tiny slipper of either pink or blue filled with rice to each. The bridal idea was further carried out in the refreshments, the ices being in pink or blue with the bride's monogram molded on each. In the bridge game Miss Glasscock received the highest score. Her prize was a beautiful bottle of rare perfume. Mrs. Harry Edwards received the consolation, a crystal champagne glass, and Miss Morgan was presented with a picture very symbolic of the approaching event.

Mrs. Wallace Moore.

Mrs. Wallace Moore's silk stocking shower for Miss Morgan on last Friday afternoon was one of the most beautifully planned affairs given in her honor. The color scheme was pink in the dining room. A huge basket made of pink roses was suspended from the chandelier with ribbons running to the four corners of the room and one for Miss Morgan to pull, which she did to find herself literally covered with beautiful silk hose. The tally cards were hand-painted brides and the refreshments were ices and cake in rose designs. The prizes were awarded as follows: Miss Mary Swiggart, first; Miss Weltmer, consolation. Miss Morgan was presented with a beautiful hand-embroidered pillow.

Visitors Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell Bransford entertained ten couples at rook Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson, of Roswell, New Mexico. Miss Ruth Walters met the guests at the door and Miss Margaret Bransford served punch in the dining room, which was decorated in red and green. In the parlor were pink flowers and potted plants. After the games cake and cream was served. Mrs. Robinson took the lady's prize, book-ends in hammered copper. Mr. Whitesell Harpole took the gentleman's prize, a scarf pin. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Geo. Robinson, Morris Miles, M. A. Blanton, C. V. Jones, W. R. Hendrix, Whitesell Harpole, H. T. Butler, K. Kimberlin, J. C. McRee, Aubrey Whipple.

The Schuberts.

The Schubert Symphony Club, one of the oldest and best known organizations in the United States, will appear again in Union City after an absence of sixteen years, at Reynolds Opera House next Tuesday night, Oct. 25, in a benefit entertainment for the Elks. The price of admission is usually one dollar, but the Elks have secured this attraction and are offering the best seats for 75 cents.

The Schuberts consist of the Schubert Lady Quartette, known everywhere for the excellence of their music, Thomas Valentine Purcell, instrumentalist, and Miss Anna Pearl Weatherington, monologist. Numbers emceed selections also by the Symphony Club, and the entire arrangement is one of the best of its class.

Union City should welcome the Schuberts with a crowded house solely for the character of their work, but more so because the Elks are seeking to increase the fund for a new home in Union City. The reserved seat sale will be at S. D. Woosley's.

Judge Harris' Widow Protests.

Hickman, Ky., Oct. 19.—Mrs. J. C. Harris, widow of Judge C. Harris, of Tiptonville, has brought suit to break her husband's will. Judge Harris, who was by far the wealthiest man in Lake County, was drowned in Reelfoot Lake last spring while out with a party of visitors. By the terms of his will Mrs. Harris is virtually cut off from a share in his estate and she will ask the court for an equitable provision for her. Judge Harris was quite a prominent figure during the Reelfoot Lake Nightrider troubles, the Nightriders having threatened to take his life, as he was a big land holder and one of the owners of the lake. For weeks his home at Tiptonville was guarded.

TWENTY-EIGHT TIMES AROUND THE WORLD IN A YEAR.

If the driving wheels of a passenger engine were to give the same number of revolutions—157,680,000—that a watch balance gives in one year it would make 28 complete circuits of the earth.

The South Bend Balance is so constructed and jeweled that it will perform this well-nigh incredible amount of work and still last a life-time. Its journals are of the finest tempered steel and its bearings of the hardest sapphire, a gem that nothing but diamond will cut.
