Lady Minstrels.

One of the best entertainments of the season was given by the Lady Minstrels at the opera house last Monday and Tuesday nights. It was a short program but well worth the price of admission. The girls sang well, danced well and exploded jokes in good old-fashioned minstrel style—in a way that would do credit to the big stars in black-face comedy.

The five girls are all young, but they have certainly developed some talent in minstrel work. They have been operating principally in vaudeville work and that is the reason of the brevity. Miss Bessie Rowland was the piano player and a good one.
