

MEET MAIL-ORDER PRICES

We want to announce to every person within the reach of our territory that we have offered and will make good our proposition to meet the prices of any mail-order house in the grocery lines. We will duplicate any price, freight added, that can be had of Sears & Roebuck or Montgomery & Ward, or any other mail-order house. Further than this, we challenge any banker, school teacher, doctor, lawyer or any other citizen that we will either make good this offer or forfeit the sum of $50 to any charitable institution in Union City for every failure to do so. We say emphatically that we will duplicate the prices of mail-order houses, freight added, the customer being required to produce the original invoice and freight bill. We will say nothing of the cost of money order, stamps or stationery. If you don't believe it, come any try us.

Couldn't Walk!

"I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women," writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenny, Ill. "For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I tried several different doctors, but I grew worse. Finally, our druggist advised Cardui for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now, I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

We have thousands of such letters, and more are arriving daily. Such earnest testimony from those who have tried it, surely proves the great value of this vegetable, tonic medicine, for women. Cardui relieves women's sufferings, and builds weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a trial. It should help you, for it has helped a million others. It is made from pure, harmless, herb ingredients, which act promptly and surely on the womanly organs. It is a good tonic. Try it! Your druggist sells it.

Wanted a Ride.

There was a little hunch-back man in town Saturday who wanted to go to Trenton, but did not have the price to go on the train, so he went around back of the dry-goods stores, where a great many country people hitch their horses, and took his choice. It happened to be one that Miss Zana Rives and her brother, Clifford, had driven in. Miss Zana saw him driving down the street, but thinking her brother had loaned it to him for a few minutes thought no more about it until they got ready to start home. Then the rig was nowhere to be found.

They they got busy—telephones were in demand, and they found that he had left town by the way of Jackson's grocery—on his way to Trenton. Mr. Easterwood then took charge and phoned to Troy, Rives and Polk to be on the look out for him. He arrived in Troy ahead of time (considering the bad roads) and offered his rig for sale.

It is needless to say "the marshal took him up." The man's name is Ward and his father lives down near Hickman.

Sunday Closing.

O. B. Blewer, of the Blewer Cafe, announces that he will, beginning March 31, on and after that date, close his place of business from 10 o'clock a. m. to 12 o'clock m., in order to take advantage of the opportunity of going to church, and for the purpose also of observing that part of the Sabbath in which all are invited to church. Mr. Blewer has decided to take this step after mature thought, and the public will no doubt indorse his action heartily.

Missionary Societies Consolidate.

The Foreign and Home Missionary Societies met and consolidated Monday afternoon at 8 p. m. at the M. E. Church. Mrs. Adams was elected president of this benevolent society.

Beautiful and interesting talks upon the unity of the two bands were made. A large collection was taken up; prayer and song was enjoyed by the members. The next meeting will be at the usual time and place.

Housebreakers.

Union City is now being infested with a lot of housebreakers and burglars. Some few weeks ago the jewelry stores of Bransford & Andrews and Dietzel Bros. were broken into, and last Monday night the grocery store of N. A. Vaden was burglarized and the Metcalfe Laundry entered. The person or persons who entered the jewelry stores shot a hole through Bransford & Andrews' front door glass and through Dietzel Bros.' front door.

The burglars this week entered the grocery store from behind by cutting a hole in the panel and reaching in and removing the board which is used for a bar. They got into the safe and took a lot of pennies, the only money left there, and while at work were discovered by Mr. Hallum, who lodges next door. They saw him peeping through the window and fled from the back door through which they entered. In breaking into the laundry evidently they thought it another building. Nothing was bothered in that house. Union City has had a good deal of this work in times past, and a general outbreak of this kind will find something doing.

The Wolf.

One of the most popular plays seen in recent years is "The Wolf," and the company presenting it here last Wednesday night was indeed a good one, especially the rendition of the parts of Andrew McTavish and Jules Baubein, by Mr. Crockett and Mr. Reidy, respectively. This was character work in all respects except that Mr. Reidy played the lead. The dialect of the Scotchman and the French Canadian were both very fine indeed. It is not often Union City playgoers get the benefit of artistic handling of character parts. These are neglected in the usual run of rural performances. The character work forms the background of most of the great successes. In other words it is the company with an all-star cast that comes into greatness in the big theatres. While those who succeed in the character work seldom ever reach the center of the stage, they are stars nevertheless, and the stage world knows them when they are forgotten by the public. The reputation of the recognized star often comes largely from the support behind.

"The wolf" presented here pleased quite a large audience.
