Birthday Party.

Little Eloise Pardue entertained a number of her friends last Friday at her home on College street in celebration of her fourth birthday. During the hours from three to five o'clock the home was a scene of merry-making in the innocent amusements indulged in by the little ones present. They were in high glee over the peanut hunt, and it was interesting to see the little tots eagerly counting their peanuts to see who must receive the prize, a story book, which fell to Willie Varner Caldwell. The most enjoyable feature of the afternoon was a balloon hunt and the air was soon afloat with these pretty toys, while the shouts of delight from the finders and the blowing of the whistles indicated the joy they found in the frolic. In due time they were invited into the dining room, where the decorations in pink made a picture of loveliness, and partook of the dainty food refreshments in which also prevailed the predominating color. The charming little hostess received many nice presents with wishes for happy returns of the day.

Wednesday Club.

Mrs. C. H. Cobb entertained the Wednesday Club this week. Mrs. Wallace Moore won the club prize and Mrs. Ben Herring the consolation. Mrs. Lambert won the visitor's prize. Embroidered shirt waists were the prizes. Refreshments in courses were very delightful.

Mrs. Ben Bransford, Hostess.

Mrs. Ben Bransford pleasantly entertained the Young Woman's Missionary Society Friday afternoon. Two contests were enjoyed, one being questions concerning the ancestors of the contestants and the other being questions to be answered with proper names from the bible. Miss Louise Dahnke was the most successful in the first contest and Mrs. Howell Bransford in the second. Hot coffee, raisin sandwiches and cheese crackers were served.

Mrs. Ligon Entertains.

Mrs. Chas. Ligon was the cordial hostess Tuesday afternoon of an enjoyable rook party given to a limited number of her friends. Several rounds of the popular game were played at four card tables. Delightful refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted in receiving and serving by her daughter, Mrs. Corker Jackson.

School and Farm.

Are you interested in the improvement of your school and farm? If you are, meet with us at your school building at the following times and places to discuss the benefits of co-operation between the patrons and teachers, the relation of the school to the home and farm and kindred topics.

Mr. J. C. McAmis, the County Agriculturist, is making these visits with me and is anxious to meet all farmers interested in the improvement of farm crops and animals and permanent soil fertility. He wishes to take up with you at this time any local farm problem and help you in the solution of it.

Come to your school one time and help us to stimulate more interest in increased farm profits and improvement of school and community life.

FASHIONABLE NEW YORK.

Are We Harking Back to Hoop Skirts?

New York, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt recently wore a costume of amber figured crepe and chiffon with the new double tunic topped by a hat of black tulle in baret shape trimmed with a bow of wide black moire ribbon poised at the back, one end up the other out and down in the mode that has caught the fashionable fancy. On the same occasion Miss Sands wore a gown of Dolly Yarden crepon combining pale blue, mauve and old rose. Mrs. Gordon Douglas in a gown of black faille had a tunic with a deep saw-tooth edge. Mrs. Wm. E. Carter's gown of faded rose taffeta had a similarly finished tunic and one of the new Japanese mal fitting collars that are the tip of the mode just now.

THE JAPANESE COLLAR.

No one who aspires to fashion wears a blouse that is cut high in the neck, and the new Japanese collar, which is a narrow turn over affair that circles the neck in an open ugly way, is very much used. The idea seems to be to leave the throat perfectly free at the back and sides as well as in front. You can introduce a wired upstanding ruffle if you will to soften the effect, or a net gamp if you must have a decided covering. Only the outer coats and wraps make any provision for throat protection. Many of these have wide, short rolling collars of fur that can be drawn close about the throat at need, while many smaller fur pieces are made up in cravat forms that are practical and pretty for this purpose. At C. C. Shayne & Co's. I saw some charming examples of these. One in glossy Persian lamb had an upstanding collar of ermine, the ends of both the lamb and ermine cravats finished with a fringe of ermine tails. A flat muff of the lamb had bands of ermine at either end. All muffs are large and flat in style though many of them have the fur arranged in drapings, while combinations not only of odd furs but of fur with chiffon, velvet, and plush, is a notable feature of this year's styles.

—A NOVELTY.

A novelty seen here was called a "one arm wrap" of natural mole or of dyed muskrat trimmed with skunk and finished with large tassels, this went over one shoulder and under the other arm, crossing the chest and back and forming notwithstanding its freakish form, a very novel and attractive protection, adequate for any but the most extreme weather, when it would, of course, be worn over a coat.

BEADS AND BEADS.

With the prevalence of beads in dress trimmings has come a perfect rage for bead necklaces. These in amber, jade and other fashionable colors often lend just the right note to set off a costume and relieve the sombre black of the velvet hat, that is so generally worn this winter.

THE HOOP SKIRT.

The hoop skirt looms large on the horizon now that the popular minaret tunic with its stiffened edge, hoops its popular way on all sorts of evening frocks, but the better class of women use not the circular outstanding hoop seen on the stage, but a modified stiffening of the hem that is more graceful and conservative. Whether or not hoop-skirts are coming is a question that no one can answer with certainty, though apparently everyone is against it.

NEWS NOTES.

It is stated that the formal negative reply of Huerta to the demand of the United States that he eliminate himself from the provisional presidency of Mexico will deny the right of the United States to make the demand, and deny the legal right of Huerta to accede to it. John Lind, now in Mexico City, is reported as being convinced that negotiations are about at an end.

A shift in the line-up on the Currency Bill, when Senators Reed and O'Gorman rejoined the Democrats, caused the Senate committee to vote to reconsider the decision which cut down from twelve to four the number of regional banks in the proposed currency system.

In a quarrel over the possession of his child, Miles Cribb, a farmer near Rebecca, Ga., shot and killed his mother-in-law, fatally wounded his sister-in-law and wounded his wife, from whom he was estranged.

At the trial of James Ryan, a clairvoyant, and C. P. Bertsche, charged with swindling her, Mrs. Hope McEl-downey, of West Salem, Wis., testified she gave the clairvoyant $15,000 to invest for her.

William F. McCombs, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, married Miss Dorothy Williams, of Washington, in London, England. He will probably accept the Ambassadorship to France.

Much anxiety is being felt in Boston over the Hamburg-American line freighter Aragonia, with a cargo worth $1,300,000 from the Far East which is a week overdue.
