RIVES.

Mrs. T. A. Cummings and Miss Jessie Callicott attended to business in the city Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo Harris, of Number Seven, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Gould Harris, of Troy, were Sabbath guests of relatives south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Phebus, of Number Thirteen, were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thorne.

The Parent Teachers' Circle had a call meeting Friday afternoon. Owing to inclemency of weather only four patrons were present. The sanitary drinking fountain fund was increased by the donation of one dollar. The subject on program to be discussed by Mesdames Lee Wade, E. A. Shropshire and T. A. Cummings were continued for program Friday prior to Christmas day. The principal requests the presence of the fathers to counteract the "loneliness."

Quite a number of porkers have been made into pork and by products during this ideal cold spell. Seven hogs killed by Mr. Knox Harper turned out more than sixty gallons of lard.

The negro, who while asleep in the depot had a new pair of shoes stolen from off his feet, a hat from his head and money from his pocket, had the luck to recover his property and cause the culprit to take up quarters in the calaboose.

The call meeting of the W. C. T. U. Friday afternoon with Mrs. Jas. McCaw was well attended, considering the extreme cold weather. The welcome service for new members was postponed until Thursday afternoon after the second Sunday in December.

Miss Missie Harris and Mrs. T. P. Palmer visited in Number Thirteen Monday, guests of Mrs. J. D. and Miss Addie Palmer.

Saturday the High School boys will observe Arbor day and place a lot of trees on the new school grounds. This is a move in the right direction, for no matter how fine a building we have, if the surroundings are not commensurate the artistic beauty of the property will be lost. Considering that children spend five days in the week, nine months in the year and from six to eight years in school, the environment should be of the very best. The closer we commune with the beauties of nature the more we realize the creator.

The many friends of Mrs. J. G. Gardner, formerly of this place but now living in Hulbert, —, will be sorry that Mrs. Gardner's health is at present in a precarious condition. Mrs. Gardner has several relatives here, too, living in and out of town who deplore her present health.

Dr. E. H. White was last week called from the lake to attend the obsequies of his nephew, Alvah White, who for some time had been an invalid in the home of a relative in Union City.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss Fisher, by special wire, went to Columbus, Ky., Saturday to attend the bedside of the only sister of Mr. Fisher, who for some time had been low with typhoid fever. The demise of Miss Fisher is felt because of the pleasant and lasting memories held among acquaintances of her visits here to her brothers, Messrs. Moss and Tom Fisher.

Mr. Joel Shore has been on the sick list this week.

R. L. Shipp and family motored to Churchton Sabbath. They were guests of Mrs. Hendrix, a niece of Mr. Shipp.

Rev. J. B. Oakley and family came over in a touring car Saturday from Kenton, spending the night with Mr. and Mrs. Kirby in Union City. Sabbath Rev. Oakley very ably filled his two appointments here. While here they were the guests of Mrs. Laura Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Caldwell.

There will be a call meeting to-day (Friday) at 2 p. m. in the lodge room of the Order of the Eastern Star. The afternoons are short, come on time.

Mrs. Knox Harper and children will spend the week-end with relatives in Kenton.

Messrs. Hardy and Grover Petty put thirty-three large porkers on the market the past week.

Prof. and Mrs. S. B. Hays will spend the week-end in Union City.

Little Miss Mary Cummings is out of school, afflicted with tonsillitis.

The administrative board met Tuesday. Monday has been designated as clean up day. Place all your rubbish out in front in barrels or boxes and the town garbage wagon will come by and haul the trash off. Those that have phones should tell those nearby. This is the best time to clean up. Some sections of our town have needed this relief for some time. Old cans, large piles of cinders and old rubbish indistinguishable, with kitchen refuse thrown on top, is a breeding place for bacteria and liable to cause an epidemic if we should have a warm wet winter. Monday is the day, remember. Everybody get busy for a larger, cleaner and better Rives.

Already the yuletide spirit is with us. Our merchants are ready to display of holiday goods. We are not to have so many toys but lots of beautiful and useful things are promised. The crocheters are working overtime and laying in supplies of threads for fear the stock gets low. We know of quite a number of lovely gifts in crochet in hiding for unsuspecting people. It is wonderful how the recurrent birthday of the Christ child brings forth so much cheer and "Peace on earth, good will to man." We as a nation are coming to appreciate the possibilities of our opportunities at Christmas times—getting far removed from Scrooge of Dickens' "Christmas Carol."
