To Whom it May Concern:

The bearer of this letter, Mr. J. L. Waller, has been farm superintendent for Mr. R. M. Hall, of Pinewood, Tenn., for a few years, and prior to that time filled a like position with Mr. W. S. Nunnally. Both Messrs. Hall and Nunnally are extensive farmers, and they and others speak in high terms of Mr. Waller's ability as a farmer and manager of farm work. I am advised by men whom I know to be progressive up-to-date farmers that J. L. Waller is a most excellent superintendent.

He has the reputation of being honest, industrious and painstaking, and possesses the necessary tact to manage laborers. From what I know of Mr. Waller, I cheerfully recommend him to strangers.

Respectfully,
J. B. WALKER, President.

R. H. Fatcher, J. T. Clark, G. W. Clark, W. F. Clark, W. S. Nunnally, W. R. Hassell, M. G. Robt. Brown, J. B. Webb, M. D., R. P. Beasley, M. D.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

In Honor of Visitors.

In honor of her daughter, Mrs. Russell McVay, and for Mrs. Frank Hudgins, of South Carolina, Mrs. W. M. Nailling entertained with a charming reception at her home Wednesday afternoon. Nearly 100 guests called during the hours, 4:30 to 6 o'clock.

Pink and white flowers and pink shaded candles, like the decorations used at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. McVay last year, added much to the attractiveness of the rooms. In the front drawing room, where Mrs. W. M. Warterfield received with the guests of honor and Mrs. Nailling, pink carnations were used on the piano and mantel and the candles burning on each side of the vases gave a soft glow that added much to the pretty picture made by the receiving line and the guests as they entered, several at a time. The dining table was very lovely with its cluny lace centerpiece and mats with a great bunch of pink and white peonies in the center and pink candles on the corners. The guests were served in the dining room by Miss Ima Nailling and Miss Agnes Coble. Mrs. Frank Aydelott and Mrs. George Gibbs, Jr., poured tea. Others assisting Mrs. Nailling were Mrs. Lucile Andrews Bruton, Mrs. J. L. Mosier and Mrs. W. R. Andrews.

Mrs. McVay was a lovely young figure in her wedding gown of white crepe meteor combined with brocade satin, the skirt made with a long square train and the bodice of princess lace trimmed with pearls. She carried an armful of pink flowers.

Mrs. Hudgins wore a pretty frock of cream lace and net combined made with a balero of embroidered changeable blue taffeta.

Mrs. Warterfield was gowned in white charmuse with an overdress of black lace.

Mrs. Nailling wore a gown of black lace over blue charmuse.

The reception was the first of several parties to be given for Mrs. McVay and Mrs. Hudgins to welcome them back to their home town. Mrs. George Eader entertains this afternoon at her country home for Mrs. Hudgins and other parties will follow in the next few weeks.

Mr. George Meadow delightfully entertained the U. C. H. S. graduating class Wednesday night, assisted by his sister, Mrs. Vivian Reynolds. Miss Mary Dahnke read in her inimitable manner after which an unique contest of class prophecies was enjoyed, Miss Allen winning the prize, a bouquet of carnations and ferns. Several beautiful duets were sung by Miss Ima Nailling and Mr. Vivian Reynolds. Refreshments were served at a late hour. Those present were Misses Allen, McFarland, Hardy, Luke and Dahnke, Lila Caldwell, Vivienne White, Kate Kirkman, Ima Nailling, Mary Park, Mary Dahnke, Willa Whitson, Jeanie Garth; Messrs. Richard Andrews, Beauchamp McConnell, Fred Nailling, Howard Davidson, W. B. Forrester, George Meadow, Witt Cloys, Warren Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Reynolds.

June Meeting, U. D. C.

On account of the rain week before last the meeting of the U. D. C., which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. George Gibbs, Jr., was postponed until next Wednesday afternoon. It will be at the home of Mrs. Henry Hassler. The same programme arranged for the previous meeting will be heard next week with the addition of a new set of questions.

The history questions are as follows:

1. Was secession rebellion? Why not? Mrs. Faircloth.

2. How many secessions have been in U. S. history? How many threatened secessions. How many objected to? Mrs. Beck.

3. Was the war between the States to hold on slaves? Mrs. Joyner.

4. How did the North stand in regard to the abolition of slavery? Mrs. Brevard.

5. How many slaveholders in the Northern army? How many in the Southern army? Mrs. Gardner.

6. How many leaders or their wives on the Northern side owned slaves? How many of the Southern leaders did not own slaves. Mrs. Seid Waddell.

7. What did Gen. Grant say about freeing his slaves? How did President Lincoln feel about abolition of slavery? Mrs. Hassler.

8. Why did he issue the Emancipation Proclamation? (See Barnes' Popular History, page 581.) Mrs. George Gibbs, Sr.

9. When were the slaves in the United States really freed? Mrs. G. White.

10. Whose birthday should the negroes celebrate for freeing them. Who was Henderson? From what State? Miss Vailie Feild.

11. Compare Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln. Mrs. Arthur Tittsworth.

12. Contrast their troubles in Cabinets, and problems to solve. Miss Rachel McMurray.

13. Give Lincoln's views on Reconstruction. Reason for Lincoln's assassination. Mrs. Luther Stroud.

14. Is it true to history to say that Lincoln is the greatest of all Americans? Mrs. Massengill.

It is the plan of the chapter to arrange a way to help pay off the remaining debt on the monument and to attend to other matters of business, and it is therefore urged that every member of the chapter be present Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the day having been changed from Thursday, the regular day of meeting, to Wednesday for this occasion. A new member will be welcomed, Mrs. Massengill.

Stoddard Lectures.

A new work entitled the Stoddard Lectures has been published, a very handsome and popular work in colored steel engravings and attractive typographic art. Stoddard was pre-eminently the greatest travelogue historian and entertainer of the age. His death some years ago took one of the greatest Americans from the platform. His lectures were always engaged far in advance, his audiences the very best people, filling the houses always. The books will no doubt be most popular library works and much sought for.

Obion Training School.

The graduating exercises of the Obion Training School was held last Friday evening at the school auditorium.

The graduating address was delivered by Elder C. C. Brown, which was followed by an address by H. Forcum, president of the Forum-James Cooperage Company.

T. M. Carney, pastor of the Christian Church, presented the prizes and medals. The following were given:

Scholarship prize of $250, given by the citizens of Obion to the student making the highest average on all subjects for entire year, awarded Miss Grace Wilson.

For highest average made in spelling for entire year, $10 in gold, by A. C. Davidson, awarded Miss Iris Wilson.

"For Potato Blight, I don't think PYROX can be Beaten."

"I have used Pyrox this season against bugs and blight. It certainly does the trick with the bugs, and for blight, I don't think Pyrox can be beaten."

Such is the experience of Mr. E. R. Dissinger, Campbelltown, Pa., who ends his letter by saying—"I certainly would not do without Pyrox when growing potatoes."

No fruit or potato grower can afford to overlook Pyrox. The fact that it serves two purposes is not a mere chance—but the result of scientific unity of powerful insecticides and fungicides—thus making the one application do the work of two.

We shall be glad to send you the Pyrox booklet, and can supply any quantity you want, in small crocks, kegs, or barrels.
