

That Is What I've Wanted

Something that will be warm without the irritation of wool, and soft without the clammy feeling of cotton.

Duofold hits the mark at which underwear makers have been aiming for years—and yet it's very simple—two light-weight fabrics in one—practically a double garment—warm wool on the outside where it can't touch your skin—soft cotton inside—held together by firm but widely-spaced stitching, leaving an air space between the two fabrics to ventilate the garment and keep it fresh and dry.

Duofold Underwear

It pleases everybody—the sensitive person who “can't wear wool” and who “can't keep warm in cotton” the shivery person who takes cold in heavy garments and freezes in thin garments—Duofold eliminates the objectionable features of all other makes of underwear and utilizes all their advantages.

Carried in union and two piece suits in all sizes.

The Greater Gift.

(By Elwin Hunt.)

They talk of the love of women, and tell of the passions grand; of the girls they have met and want to meet, in all this wide, wide land. They tell me that love is a funny thing, and its courses run deep and still; they claim if it's strong and hard enough, it will either cure or kill. Now I am immune from a love like that, but I know another kind, that strikes and thrills me to my soul, that ties even closer will bind. 'Tis the love of a little baby; 'tis given to me every day; 'tis a gift that I prize 'yond all this earth, 'tis a thing 'bout which I pray. When a little child will open his arms, and put his trust in men, my heart it swells as if it would burst, the Gates of Heaven I see. They may sing of their conquests of demoselles, I'm not the least bit riled; for I, my friends, have a greater gift—I can win the love of a child.

Co-operation in Potato Growing.

As a direct result of the work done by the Industrial Department of the N. C. & St. L. Railway among the potato growers of West Tennessee in urging co-operation, there is a sweet potato crop in that section this year of 135,000 bushels. This is only one of the striking examples of what this road is trying to do for the farmers along its lines to promote better agricultural conditions. The crop at Gleason is 75,000 bushels; at McKenzie, 45,000 bushels; at Dresden, 5,000 bushels; at Jackson, 5,000 bushels; at Huntingdon, 5,000 bushels. The average yield was 175 bushels to the acre. The potatoes are being stored in modern potato houses, kiln dried and held for the market. W. R. Hawks, of Gleason, is president of the Potato Growers' Federation and J. C. Sasser, of McKenzie, is secretary. Before the co-operative work was started the potato growers of that section were working as individual growers and frequently failed to get the top market price.

All There.

“Don you mean to appear in the street in that skimpy costume? You told me your suit had as much material in it as the one you wore last winter.”

“It has,” said the wife calmly. “The skirt may be somewhat shorter, but I'm wearing an extra high collar.”

Utterly Squelched.

They stood at the Pyramids. “Forty centuries look down upon you,” announced the guide. “Let 'em look,” responded Pa Wombat. “That seems mild after running the gamut of Europe's head waiters.”

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 7c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

KINGDOM OF GREECE BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Threatened by Germans on Land and by Allies on Sea.

New York, Dec. 4.—Ever since the time when the first spark illuminated the present struggle the Balkan States felt the commencement of hostilities among the great powers was to be terminated on Balkan soil with a complete change of the map to the satisfaction of the stronger. Thus nations that have been compelled to fight on one side or the other, some for cause and some without any, doubtless have wished they need not fire at all but might suffer and wait the judgment to be rendered after the close of the conflict.

But here we have a case where whatever the nation will do will be to her detriment. The neutrality of Greece! Shall Greece fight against the Teutons, the allies, or remain neutral? These are the questions propounded to her and which she must decide. But can Greece decide now, and, if so, what course should she take? The Germans and their allies are almost on the border of Greece. The British and French fleet have blockaded all ports of Greece and have refused to allow commercial intercourse with that country. She cannot fight against the allies and she cannot fight against Austro-German troops. But she must decide, she is told, one way or the other.

The allies have sent no re-enforcements to support Greece and drive their enemy out of Serbia, and Germany's fleet is beyond reach to protect Greek interests. To remain neutral? Here are the conditions:

The allies say: “You must not disarm our soldiers when they retreat into your territory, for if you do we will have to press our blockade against you and will consider you an enemy.”

The Germans say: “Define your policy whether you will maintain neutrality or become our enemy. If you want to be neutral you must disarm our foe as soon as they enter into your border. Otherwise we will consider you as one of our enemies and pursue you accordingly.”

If Greece, in accordance with the opinion of King Constantine and his military staff, had 500,000 Anglo-French troops to assist her and check the Teuton advance, they would turn easily toward Constantinople—the prize and goal of the present struggle.

The Greek people have cast their sympathies with the allies ever since their independence was granted. They want to help them, but how can they do it? They are not strong enough to resist German invasion.

King Constantine's thoughts and sympathies are purely Greek and not German or any other nationality. He looks for the interests of Greece. He watches the opportunity to strike for the defense of Greece; not for the benefit of the allies or of the central powers, but for the benefit of Greece. He has learned the loss of 1897, of the Greco-Turkish war, and he is very careful to use his power.

King Constantine told the allies at the time they undertook to open the Dardanelles that they were losing their time, life and treasure in the course they pursued. If the allies had given to the Grecian king 500,000 troops or less at the time they started to force the opening of the Dardanelles they would be in Constantinople now, and the war, perhaps, ended. But Russia objected to such a course, and the protests from Petrograd poured into the British and French capitals changed the contemplated land operations and followed the naval demonstration

OLD AND NEW WAY TO TREAT CATARRH

Breathing a Germ Killing Air Endorsed By Actual Results.

The discovery of Hyomei has wrought a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh.

Prior to three years ago the medicine ordinarily employed in the cure of this disease were drugs, sprays, lotions, etc. In some instances they benefited, but the improvement was not lasting.

With Hyomei you take into the air passages of your throat and head a balsamic air that goes into the minutest cells, and should effectually kill all germs and microbes of catarrh. Its purpose is to enter the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood, and restore health to the whole system. Many astonishing testimonials have been received from those who have been helped by Hyomei.

A complete outfit is inexpensive and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment.

Perhaps the strongest evidence that can be given to doubters, is the fact that Oliver's Red Cross Drug Store have so much faith in Hyomei that they sell every package under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve.—Adv.

SANTA CLAUS HEADQUARTERS

with the landing of a small force at Gallipoli.

Conditions now have changed. Bulgaria then was neutral, and would have remained neutral had the allies landed at Kavala and advanced with Greek troops thru Bulgarian territory toward Constantinople. Within a few weeks Constantinople would have fallen and the allies been declared victors. But the Russians would not consent that Greek troops enter Constantinople. That was the condition upon which Russia finally yielded to the wishes of the British and French generals. But the allies neither sent sufficient numbers of troops nor pursued the right course suggested by King Constantine.

FRISCO FAIR “LIGHTS OUT”

Pressure of Button Casts “Jewel City” in Utter Darkness.

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—To-day was the last day of the Panama-Pacific exposition. The sounding of “Taps” from the lofty tower of Jewels, the pressing of a button by President C. C. Moore that extinguished the myriad lights of the “jewel city,” the hauling down of the flags and the furling of the banner, and the singing of “Auld Lang Syne” were the final and concluding acts of the exposition which opened February 20.

A record-breaking crowd attended the ceremonies. Business thruout the city was practically suspended for the day. The exposition officials expressed the belief that the day's attendance would reach the 400,000 mark, which would make the total attendance during the 288 days of the exposition close to 19,000,000. The previous record for one day was on San Francisco day, November 2, when 348,472 persons passed thru the gates. The total attendance up to 11 o'clock last night was 18,413,399.

Official exercises took place in the Court of the Universe. These were to include the reading of President Wilson's international toast, epitomizing the exposition idealism and achievements, and to conclude with the singing of “America,” by the audience.

The evening program includes a carnival pageant of electrically illuminated floats in the exposition grounds.

The State of Illinois building, which cost $92,000, was sold yesterday to a wrecking concern for $1,730, and the furniture, valued at $11,000, brought $6,000. The New York City building, said to have cost $4,000, brought $300. Washington State $45,000 palace sold for $800. The Mississippi building, which cost $13,000, brought $225. Iowa's $28,000 building sold for $500.

The Hawaiian building has been given to the city of San Francisco to be used as an aquarium.
