Sunday School.

Are Mayfield people better than Union City people?

The Baptist Sunday school there had $06 present on the 21st ult. and a few less the Sunday preceding it. All our schools combined would not equal that.

What is wrong with us? It requires some effort on the part of anyone to go, some sacrifice, and for the betterment of the town and the world, all should go.

We are endeavoring to make our school attractive as well as instructive, and beginning at 10 o'clock, we will have an anthem by the beauty chorus and a male quartet by the "daddies."

If you read your Bible daily and have family prayers, you may not need the Bible school; otherwise you do.

CHRISTIAN BIBLE SCHOOL.

RED CROSS NOTES.

Another shipment of sweaters and sock yarn has been received and the chairman of the knitting department wishes the auxiliaries and knitters over the county to call or send for this yarn right away, so that the knitted articles may be ready when cold weather begins to come.

The work of this chapter for a year has been finished and Mr. Harry Vincent has audited the treasurer's books, a full statement of which is published in this week's paper. Mr. Vincent spent a lot of time in doing this and in making a report to headquarters, all of which he gladly gave to the work. Mr. Hunter Elam also gave his services as Notary Public and the chapter gives them both a hearty vote of thanks.

Attention is again called to membership dues. The dues are one dollar per year and those whose time is up will please renew by sending money to Miss Annie Little, secretary, or to Mrs. R. A. Napier, treasurer.

A quilt has been donated by Mrs. Jim Forrester, which will be sold later at an opportune time and the money turned over to the chapter.

The following words of praise were received in a letter from Atlanta to Mrs. Swiggart, director of woman's work: "The spirit of sacrifice that the noble women of your community are showing is worthy of the highest commendation. This office is anxious to serve your chapter in any way it can to make it an even larger active force for the saving of American manhood on the battlefields of France, and the winning of the war for the principles for which America stands. Cordially yours, C. E. Lovett, Allotment Division, Bureau of Development."

CHAIR, PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

Send Him a Paper.

(By H. L. R. J. B. Mo.) Said a private in the army as he chattered to his mates, "I wonder what they're doing in old Union City. Is Chas. D. still running around? Is old "Punch" still jerking sodas at the Red Cross? I wish I had a paper from the home town, old or new. An' could read about the people an' the places that I know. I can't get interested in the daily mails or Times, I want the home town paper with its latest local crimes. I'm wondering who has married since the day I marched away. Who's been buried, since I left there—oh, it seems so long ago—For a copy of the paper I would give up two months pay. There's so much I'd like to read of an' so much I want to know. Said a private in the army, "It's a funny thing to me, But they seem to think a paper we don't ever want to see. They write us cheerful letters an' they send us things to eat; They send us good tobacco, an' we're mighty grateful, too; But they plumb forget a paper form the old town down there Is a thing we'd never part with till we'd read it thru and thru."

Kept Busy Printing Stamps.

The National War Savings Committee authorizes the following:

An index to the success of the June war savings campaign is found in the fact that, despite the heavy reserve supply of war savings stamps accumulated in banks and post offices throughout the country in preparation for the campaign, the further requisitions upon the Bureau of Engraving at Washington were so heavy as to exhaust the supply of war savings and thrift stamps there. At one time last week the Bureau of Engraving was forced temporarily to cease entirely the production of postage stamps and to concentrate exclusively on the production of war savings stamps.

Every hour brings to the Washington headquarters of the National War Savings Committee further encouraging reports as to the result of the June campaign. Among the States claiming success are Alabama, Arizona, California (North), California (South), Colorado, Connecticut, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania (West), South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, West Virginia, Wisconsin.

Senator Shields on Suffrage.

My Dear Senator: I feel so deeply the possibilities latent in the vote which is presently to be taken by the Senate on the suffrage amendment that I am going to take a liberty which, in ordinary circumstances, I should not feel justified in taking, and ask you very frankly if it will not be possible for you to vote for the amendment.

I feel that much of the morale of this country and of the world, and not a little of the faith which the rest of the world will repose in our sincere adherence to democratic principles, will depend upon the action which the Senate takes in this now critically important matter. If it were merely a domestic question, or if the times were normal, I would not feel that I could make a direct request of this sort, but the times are so far from normal, the fortunes of nations are so linked together, the reactions upon the thought of the world are so sharp and involve such momentous issues, that I know that you will indulge my unusual course of action and permit me to beg very earnestly that you will lend your aid in clearing away the difficulties which will undoubtedly beset us if the amendment is not adopted.

With much respect, sincerely yours, WOODROW WILSON.

SENATOR SHIELDS'S REPLY.

My Dear Mr. President: Your valued letter, concerning the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Federal Constitution favoring equal suffrage, now pending in the United States Senate, has challenged my most thoughtful consideration, as do all your views upon public matters.

The resolution involves fundamental questions affecting the sovereignty and powers of the Federal and State governments most important and vital to the people of the State which I have the honor in part to represent in the United States Senate and those of States with which they are closely allied in all social, economical and governmental interests, upon which I have most profound convictions unfavorable to it, known and, I believe, approved by the great majority of the people of Tennessee—arrived at after full consideration of conditions existing when I voted against a similar one some years ago and those now confronting our country.

The reasons for my conclusions are those controlling the majority of my colleagues from the Southern States, well known to you and which would not be interesting to here restate.

If I could bring myself to believe that the adoption of the resolution would contribute to the successful prosecution of the war we are waging with Germany I would unhesitatingly vote for it, because my whole heart and soul is involved in bringing it to a victorious issue, and I am willing to sacrifice everything save the honor and freedom of our country in aiding you to accomplish that end, but I have been unable to do so.

We cannot reasonably expect the proposed amendment to be ratified within less than two years, and the discussion of it would unquestionably divert the minds and energies of the people from the one great absorbing subject before us—the winning of the war—by involving those of many States in a most bitter controversy, contrary to our earnest desire for that unity of thought and action of the American people now so imperatively required.

These are my sincere convictions, but out of my very high respect for your views I will continue to give your suggestions my most thoughtful and earnest consideration.

With the highest respect, I am, sincerely yours,

JOHN K. SHIELDS.

PRESIDENT'S SECOND LETTER.

My Dear Senator: Thank you very sincerely for your frank letter of yesterday about the suffrage amendment. I realize the weight of the arguments that have controlled your attitude in this matter, and I would not have written as I did if I had not thought that the passage of the amendment at this time was an essential psychological element in the conduct of the war for democracy. I am led by a single sentence in your letter, therefore, to write to say that I do earnestly believe that our action upon this amendment will have an important and immediate influence upon the whole atmosphere and morale of the nations engaged in the war, and every day I am coming to see how supremely important that side of the whole thing is. We can win if we have the will to win.

Cordially and sincerely yours, WOODROW WILSON.

Great Little Annihilators.

Having until the past few days scoffed at the idea that there were enough American troops in Europe to deserve anything but derision and contempt from the Germans, the German agencies which supply information for the uniformed have now changed tactics and while admitting that there are many Americans on the battlefield, are reporting regularly their "annihilation."

The semi-official Wolf Agency, as usual, is the leader in this lying. Two or three days ago it sent forth the news that the Americans in one engagement had been slaughtered by the hundreds of thousands, and when this was received even by the gullible as too exaggerated for credibility it followed with a correction, averring that it had meant tens of thousands instead of hundreds of thousands. Since then it has continued assiduously the work of annihilation. Thus on Wednesday this Agency of Me and Beelzebub, reporting the fighting on Clignon Brook, near Chateau Thierry, "wherein various villages repeatedly changed hands, ultimately remaining in German hands" (the fact being that there are now in those villages no Germans except dead Germans) said "it was particularly the Americans who bled most heavily. Heretofore the Americans only have fought together with white French. The result of their present mixture with white men and blacks was that the Americans suffered literally annihilation losses in our fire. At many points mountains of American corpses towered before our lines."

Another chapter in the Agency's "annihilation" serial was thus added:

"During the useless enemy attacks, on the 20th, at Ploisy, the backward flowing enemy masses, among which were particularly Americans, were seized by our concentric annihilation fire which cleaned up amongst the enemy."

This is the sort of "news" the Kaiser's Agency is supplying, especially for home consumption. Having long told the people that there were virtually no Americans in France and that it would be impossible to get them there, and the German war correspondents having reported that there are many Americans participating in Foch's counter stroke, Berlin is now busy announcing the annihilation of those Americans, callous to the inevitability that as it was impossible to conceal that there are formidable forces of Americans on the French battlefields it will be equally impossible to conceal that the real annihilating which the Teutons have been doing is annihilating the distance between the pursuing Americans and safer ground back homeward.—Louisville Courier-Journal.
