Mrs. Bascom Baldrige had a few friends in for dinner Tuesday to meet her mother, Mrs. Cantrell, here from Illinois. Other visitors recently with Mrs. Baldrige were her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Cantrell, from Chicago.

To-morrow is the day to elect a Mayor. It is with regret Mayor Cotton Bonner, who has filled the office well, refuses to consider re-election. The polls will open by nine o'clock with Mr. Will Smith in charge and Mesdames Phebus and Caldwell as clerks.

The M. E. Missionary Society elected their officers Monday, followed by installation of same. Other churches have also recently had their routine of business. In the C. P. Circle no changes were made except in the program committee in which Mrs. E. E. Shore was appointed chairman.

To-day's bulletin includes a Parent-Teachers meeting this afternoon. All patrons of the school are considered members of this organization. Round table talk, including Juvenile Literature and Effects of Associates, with roll-call of some money making idea forms part of program.

Jordan comes over this afternoon to play basket ball, with Gardner due to-morrow for a game. Come out and boost your home town, home school and home team. Our team has come in off the warpath, winning a close game with Yorkville and a score of 25-15 over Gardner. Watch the bulletin down town for time of games to-day and to-morrow.

Newly elected officers in the W. O. W. are: W. E. Shropshire, P. C. C.; C. W. Byrns, C. C.; Leslie Shore, Banker; L. A. Callicott, A. L.; Clerk, R. L. Harper; Escort, J. E. Scoggins; Watchman, J. H. Shore; Sentry, R. R. Kitchell, with Bailey Stovall, J. M. Fisher and Frank Vaden, Managers. This organization will have a social meeting Tuesday evening, otherwise, one of the famous rabbit suppers.

A return and very pleasing number, the Naniha Hawaiian Serenaders, is scheduled for Wednesday evening, the 18th. This attraction, a star course, was for several years aligned with the Redpath Chautauquas, and met with a full house and high favor here last winter. Since this number is not one of our lyric numbers the season tickets do not apply. However the prices are popular—adults, 25 cents; children, 15 cents.

The observance of Victory Day in W. C. T. U. Monday afternoon has been changed to a public meeting and will convene with the school at three o'clock sharp for an hour's program. Besides quite a few of our own members on program and music by the school, Rev. Erhardt, of Obion, has the subject, "Law Observance." If you appreciate National Prohibition come out and celebrate.

In business circles we have the changes of Leslie Shore again behind the counter in the dry goods firm of Harper & Shore. Mr. Shore, out farming for several seasons, has sold his partnership interests with Monroe McCowan to his brother, Preston Shore. Wayne Woody, erstwhile clerk in Shore-Phebus Co., is owner of the Geo. F. Botts grocery. Mr. Botts retiring from business for awhile. Mr. Woody is a young family man, a good citizen, and deserves patronage and encouragement.

Death of J. C. Davis.

People of Union City were shocked last Tuesday morning over the death of Mr. J. C. Davis. The body of Mr. Davis was found dead on the M. & O. R. R. track early Tuesday morning between the M. & O. freight depot and the grain elevator, said to have been discovered by one of the section crew. The agent and others were notified and found the body lying across a rail, with wounds over the bowels as if a car had passed over that part of the body. There were two or three holes made, a slight scratch or two on the face, but the body seemed to be intact otherwise than where the car truck is supposed to have passed over and crushed it. The body was taken to the undertakers and dressed. The physicians and others in charge examined the body with the results above indicated.

Tuesday afternoon a coroner's jury was summoned and met, but there were no new developments and the jury adjourned until Friday. It is said that Mr. Davis left his watch and other valuables at home, but that he had a check for five dollars cashed Monday afternoon. No one has been found who saw Mr. Davis Monday night, and the circumstances surrounding the death are still a matter of speculation. It is, however, supposed that he either ran under a moving car or had been on the train and fell under the truck in jumping off. Thru freight No. 31 had passed thru here at 5:45 a.m. going south.

Mr. Davis was the son of Mr. Joe Davis, for many years a resident of Number Seven in the county, where deceased was born 51 years ago. He resided on the farm, with the exception of a few years in Nashville where he served as a prison guard before moving to Union City. Here he has been located a number of years, his father residing in the home with Mr. Davis and family. Mr. Davis was married fourteen years ago to Miss Ophelia Williamson, of Bolivar, Tenn. They have one daughter about ten who survives.

Deceased was a member of the Christian Church. He lived quietly but was esteemed as a good citizen and most likable man. He had some staunch neighbors and friends and his home life seemed to be all that could be desired. He spent much of his time at home and seemed always pleasant and genial with everyone. The kindest condolences are extended.

Services were held at the residence on Cheatham street Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, Revs. E. M. Mathis, G. W. Evans and E. S. Baker in charge. Remains were interred at East View.

Death of Mrs. Bettie Caldwell.

Mrs. Bettie Caldwell died at the home of her grandson, Mr. Bob West Campbell, Fremont, Wednesday, January 11, 1922, after a few weeks illness, aged about eighty years.

Mrs. Caldwell was a member of the Christian Church and a woman of many graces of heart and mind. She was a pioneer citizen of old Fremont and is survived by her grandson, Mr. Campbell, and granddaughters, Mrs. Herman Campbell, Mrs. Beattie Cloar, Mrs. C. H. and another son, Elbert, all of Fremont. Services were conducted at old Fremont in R. Williams cemetery, Wednesday, January 12, at 2 o'clock.

Death of John L. Godwin.

John L. Godwin, formerly of Union City, died at the City View Sanitarium near Nashville Sunday morning, January 8, 1922, at 10 o'clock, after an illness of several weeks resulting from paralysis. Mr. Godwin was stricken probably a year before but continued in business and thought for some time he was improving. The second attack, however, was fatal, it being a matter of only a few weeks he could survive.

Mr. Godwin was 49 years of age. He was a son of J. J. L. Godwin, born in Maury County, Tenn., the family moving to Union City while the son was a small boy. Dr. Godwin was engaged here in the drug business and young John entered the store, where he remained until his father died, afterwards taking charge. The business was sold and Mr. Godwin was employed as traveling salesman for John Wyeth & Bro., wholesale manufacturing druggists of Philadelphia, with headquarters in this State. Some years before his death Mr. Godwin had been traveling for Sharp and Dohme, wholesale druggists of Baltimore, but his connection with that work was the result of going with his employer who was before with John Wyeth & Bro.

Mr. Godwin was married in Waco, Texas, thirteen years ago to Miss Byron Gambill, and a son was born to them. His name is Jack and he is left with his mother, the family residing in Nashville where they have been located for a number of years.

Mr. Godwin is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Fannie Douglas, near Memphis; Mrs. W. A. Martin, of Jackson, Miss.; Mrs. J. R. Walker, of Clovis, New Mexico; and two brothers, Robt S., of Mobile, Ala., and W. S. Godwin, this city.

The remains were shipped to Union City, arriving here Monday afternoon at 12:45 and conveyed to Mount Zion Cemetery for burial.

Services were held at Mount Zion Church, conducted by Revs. G. W. Evans and C. M. Mathis.

John Godwin was one of the finest young men ever reared in Union City. He was a member of the Methodist Church and respected everywhere as a man of very high character and ability as a druggist and salesman. His misfortune is a great sorrow to his wife and son and a loss to his employer and the trade. He lived an honor to his name and profession and his passing is mourned by everyone.

Death of Mrs. Baird.

Mrs. Gordon Baird, of Bonne Terre, Mo., who was in Union City visiting in the home of her mother on Gibbs street, died after a few days illness of pneumonia. Mrs. Baird is survived by two children, one an infant, and the two are left here with their grandmother.

The remains were shipped home for burial. Mrs. Baird was 31 years of age.

Death of Mrs. Nancy Coulter.

Mrs. Nancy R. Coulter, aged widow of Col. J. M. Coulter, died at her home in Union City Monday morning, January 9, 1922, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Coulter was in her ninety-first year. She is survived by a son, Boone D. Coulter, the last of the family.

Mrs. Coulter was a member of the Methodist Church and her life reflects years and decades of patient, loving-kindness, sacrifice, loyalty and devotion to divine teachings and human sympathies. Living a span of years that carry her back to the associations of pioneer days, she was found to be true to every test of motherhood and womanhood. She was blessed with health and mind and lived that others might find a pleasure in her life. She was born in Kentucky and there was united in marriage to Colonel Coulter, a man of fine character and intellect. For many years their home was in Gibson County. Then they moved to Union City some thirty years ago and here they continued to reside. The kindest condolences are extended.

Services were conducted at the residence on Fifth street Tuesday afternoon, Revs. E. M. Mathis and E. S. Baker in charge.

Interment at East View Cemetery.

Body of Negro Found.

Andy Smith (colored) was found in the vicinity of Woodland Mills a few days ago with a bullet hole in the back of his head. He had been dead some time and the body was brought back to Union City for burial.
