WILLIAMS STRIKES

ELOQUENT STRAIN

Many Seeking Copies of Speech on Bonus.

By R. M. GATES.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—Local chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy to-day made unusual demands at the office of Senator John Sharp Williams for copies of his speech on the bonus. Employees of Senator Williams' office wondered why his remarks on the bonus should be thus enthusiastically sought. The answer is in the extract with reference to "sentiment in government."

Reading this to-day Representative Hull, Republican, of Iowa, said that it was a pity that such a man as John Sharp Williams should voluntarily retire from public life, because his utterances are uniformly an inspiration to the boys and girls who are in school. "I regard Senator Williams," said Mr. Hull, "as the greatest scholar in the Senate and it is a sad day in the experience of Congress that such men conclude to quit. There is no man to fill the place of John Sharp Williams."

Senator Williams' tribute to "sentiment in government," delivered in connection with his answer to Senator Reed, of Missouri, in favor of the bonus follows:

"Mr. President, the last address we heard was from a Senator who a few days ago referred to sentiment contemptuously. There is no poetry in the soul of man who can refer to sentiment contemptuously. To say that a man is sentimental is pay him the highest compliment that one man can pay another or that a pure woman can pay a brave man. The other day I referred to the fact that the only thing that was not rotten and could not rot was sentiment."

MEN WHO FOUGHT FOR SENTIMENT.

"I belong to a breed of men who for 400 years have been dying on the wrong side. Some of them fought, like fools, for the Stuarts in England, some of them died in Tyrone's Roman Catholic insurrection in Ireland. Some of them followed the Stars and Bars until they fell in gloom, although not in disgrace, at Appomattox. We do not recognize that sentiment is to be referred to contemptuously. If it were to be so referred to, the man who died for the Stuarts was simply an infernal fool, and the man who followed Robert E. Lee to Appomattox did not have much sense, but all the same he had heroism, he had courage and he had communion with the immortal gods because they were in his heart, and the very spirit of Jesus Christ was working before him, because Jesus Christ fought for the greatest lost cause that the world has ever witnessed. The man who does not come out on top and who goes to his destruction voluntarily in the name of God and humanity is the man worthy of other men's adoration. It is not the fellow who refers to sentiment contemptuously and who wants to find dollars, shillings, pence in everything."

The Lions.

The Lions Club held a regular session meeting last Tuesday with some routine work, including a report of committees, Mr. H. A. Bransford on the tobacco interests, Mr. Ranck on the schools, and others on roads, etc.

It is said that about half a mile of the Troy-Union City road at Troy has been graded, and that work is moving along rather slowly. The State Highway Association doesn't seem to have available funds to keep a large crew of men at work.

A special committee in connection with the Rives road was appointed as follows: Fred Dahnke, J. L. Glover, Geo. Moody.

Dr. Ira Park was appointed to appear before the Obion County Court at its October term, with Mayor Woosley, to call attention to the importance of the tuberculin test of dairy cattle in the county, now an extension of the work of the State Board of Health, which is recommended for the benefit of the counties for adoption as a general public health measure.

Mr. Ranck spoke about the interests of the City Schools and other schools in reference to the work of vocational training. His remarks were directed to the fact that Federal aid is available to those schools which are eligible and make application for this aid. The Federal aid includes agriculture, mechanics and household economics. Five-eighths of teachers' salaries in these branches of educational work is offered by the Federal government. Therefore Mr. Ranck spoke in favor of the work in our schools.

Mr. Ranck also referred to the commercial department of the City Schools, to the effect that a part-time branch of commercial work is recommended. This work can be offered to those employees in business houses who may be permitted to devote one or two periods a day to the study of commercial branches. Mr. Ranck thought this would be a very valuable aid both to the employer and employee, a co-operative arrangement to advance business methods and efficiency.

Dismissal.

Keep the Good Work Going.

Names and places where Confederate soldiers are sleeping have been coming in very satisfactorily, and for every one sent Leonidas Polk Chapter feels very grateful to the sender. But comrades, let us not tarry but keep this labor of love and respect going and going, until every grave in our county where lies a Confederate soldier, whether in a cemetery or private ground, is properly marked and their names recorded for safe keeping among our other Chapter records. Let them come. Send to Mrs. N. E. Beck, County Chairman, Union City. And again, we thank you.

PUBLICITY CHAIR.

Case Heard Before Magistrate.

Bob Comstock, charged with assault with a knife with intent to commit murder, was arraigned before Esq. J. W. McCorkle last Friday and his case examined on the part of the State. Comstock was bound over to the January term of the Circuit Court. The bond was $1500.

FOR PROSTITUTION AND CONCUBINAGE

Clyde Miller and Walter Miller Arraigned in Court.

Magistrate's court was convened here Tuesday afternoon, with Esqs. McCorkle, Reynolds and Bratton as judges, before whom Clyde Miller was arraigned on a charge of prostitution and concubinage with a young woman under the age of consent and taken from home without the consent of her parents.

Upon a motion of Attorney Ben Morris examination was waived and bond was fixed at $3000.

A similar charge was made against Walter Miller who was arraigned before Justices Bratton and McCorkle, and as before examination was waived and bond fixed at $3000.

A great many ugly rumors have been circulated about the guilt of the parties connected with the charge made above. It is, to say the least of it, very serious, and the people of the county are stirred over the affair, which had its climax here last Saturday in the death of the young woman.

MAN GIVEN LONG TERM FOR KILLING NEGRO

Trial at Hickman Is Concluded Late Saturday.

Hickman, Ky., Sept. 25.—In the trial of Will Whitsett on charge of murder in first degree, he was found guilty and sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary, the jury being out only a short while.

This case has attracted much attention and many people attended the trial, the best legal talent of this end of the State being employed on both sides. In a raid made by the county officers in Madrid Bend last January, Whitsett was found with a still in his home, and he with several other moonshiners were arrested, their stills captured and brought in. Shortly after this arrest, information was received by letter that Whitsett had shot and buried a negro, naming the spot where he was buried, the officers going to that spot and digging up the body.

A change of venue was attempted by the defense the first of the week on account of the wide publicity given the affair last spring, but this was overruled by the Circuit Judge. Many witnesses were called in the case. The defense will attempt to get a new trial.

Resolutions.

As loyal members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and as loyal citizens of both State and nation, we deplore many conditions now existing and affirm our belief in, and hearty support of, the principles herein contained.

Be it therefore resolved:

First, That the ballot is a sacred trust and should be so regarded.

Second, That we as an organization take a firmer stand for Sabbath observance and pledge ourselves to use every possible effort to safeguard our Christian Sabbath.

Third, As an important part of the work of this organization is to remove hindrances and temptations and help make the world safe for our children and young people, we condemn all suggestive, immoral picture shows, immodest bathing suits, all improperly supervised swimming holes, and urge that different times be set apart for the sexes; indecent advertisements; extremes in dress, and all other influences and exposures which tend to lower the moral standards of our people.

Fourth, That we urge the teaching of S. T. I. in public schools by essay contests and our county organization stands ready and willing to co-operate with any teacher who shows a willingness to observe this law and also Frances Willard Day.

Fifth, That we urge the observance of both Armistice Day (Nov. 11) and Victory Day (Jan. 16), and that a more general display of the flag of our country be practiced.

Sixth, Whereas, this is a Christian nation, we therefore urge that every voting place be opened with prayer.

Seventh, That we again take as our slogan, "Everyone Win One;" our motto, "Go Forward, Christian Soldiers;" and our keynote, "Everyone a Loyal Citizen," and that we pledge each other our constant effort to carry out these resolutions.

Eighth, That we extend to the Methodist people our heartfelt thanks for the use of this beautiful church. To this Union for the many courtesies shown us. To Miss Adams and her assistants for the splendid music. To Miss Howell for training the children, and to each and every one who in any way contributed to the success of this meeting. We thank you and trust that we have done you good.

BREEDING PEN OF GREAT VALUE TO POULTRYMEN

"Many farm women think it impossible to have a special breeding pen; but it has been proven by experience that it is not much work if one is interested enough to take the matter in hand and seriously work it out," says Kate M. Wells, poultry specialist, Extension Service, University of Tennessee.

The main requirement is an extra house large enough to house the breeding flock. It must be large enough to give each hen about 4 or 5 square feet of floor space. For example, if you have 25 fowls in your breeding pen, a house or room 9x14 feet would house them comfortably. With roosts, dropping board, feed and water vessels arranged as in the larger laying house, the birds will be well housed and the only extra work during the year is opening and shutting the necessary doors so that one flock has free range one day and the other flock the next day. This will give each flock a chance to get plenty of green feed, which is the main reason we turn them out of their houses.

Extension Publication 70, "The Tennessee Open Front Poultry House," which will be sent to anyone on request to the Extension Service, is a good type and can be built long enough so that a room can be made in one end for the breeding pen.

September is the month for building or remodeling poultry houses because the pullets should go into their winter house by the first of October so that they will be contented and begin to lay by the last of the month.

Vital Parts of Motor.

The general motoring public is paying more heed to the motor in their automobiles now than they ever have in the past, according to statements made by leading automotive engineers. The desire for good looking bodies and details which add to the comforts has not lessened a bit, owing to this added motor interest.

"Probably the most interesting part of the development of this desire of motorists to know their motors is the keen appreciation of good working parts which cannot be seen or heard while in the engine," one engineer recently stated.

"Motorists are beginning to realize that the three vital parts of a motor are in the cylinders,—the piston rings, pistons and pins. By renewing these parts inside cylinders which have been reground, a motor may now be made practically "good as new." Shops are springing up all over the country for doing this work. Expert machinists are giving their entire time and attention to it. Special machinery and tools are required; with these, the expert repairman regrinds—and sometimes reshapes—cylinders to a slight oversize and then puts in new pistons, made oversize, especially for this purpose. These, fitted with new piston pins, and the right rings, are what brings back lost power and pick-up in a motor."

The need for piston rings can be noticed immediately when the motor slacks up and the gas isn't giving the same mileage it did when the car was new. Worn or leaky piston rings allow the gas and power to waste by them at every stroke of the piston. The excessive use of oil may also be stopped by the use of correct rings.

The McQuay-Norris Manufacturing Company, of St. Louis, with its complete line of piston rings, pistons and pins, is perhaps the best known manufacturer of high grade piston rings in the world. A complete stock of all standard sizes and oversizes of their Leak-Proof, Superoyal, Jiffy-Grip and Snap rings is now carried in this city. Prompt and efficient service can be given on all sizes and oversizes, and the proper installation of any type or price of ring one desires is now possible.

The only person who never makes a mistake is the one who never tries to do anything.

COTTON BROUGHT US $40,000 LAST WEEK

Cotton Coming.

Mr. Siler, of the Union City Gin Co., is well pleased with the business done during the opening week of the present ginning season. During the week nearly $40,000.00 was paid the growers for seed cotton, which was more cotton than the local plant could handle, requiring a double shift crew.

Last Monday Mr. J. L. Haguewood, of Rutherford, came over and purchased one hundred bales. The same day Mr. Siler sold to Mr. W. M. Steward, representing a Clarksville firm, fifty bales. The Union City cotton makes a good sample and the big buyers are wanting it.

A Big Job.

Mr. W. M. Warmuth, of the Union City Welding and Boiler Repair Co., is this week engaged in repairing a dilapidated dredge boat, shipped here by Reynolds, Givens and Hobbs from Uma, Tenn., up in Carroll County. The steel hull was straightened, riveted and many new sections added. The boilers were reworked and new flues installed. It was a job requiring a skilled mechanic and a deal of determination. And Mr. Warmuth turned the trick. The boat went from here to Richland Creek Drainage District, in Weakley County, near McConnell, where it is to be used in cutting the main canal.

Improved Store.

The M. A. Kaufman store has been improved with a rear balcony to make room for his new goods which are now being opened every day. The balcony is one of the new designs and is a very attractive addition to the store. Mr. Kaufman has been doing a good business in Union City and the increase of his trade and necessary stock to supply the trade has made it necessary to make more room.

Something in Carving.

Mr. Selmo Harris invites attention to Frank C. Wehman's show window on the first Monday in October, 1922. Mr. Harris will exhibit a piece of carving entitled "Roses," a specimen of his handiwork.

Shorty Sez:

I am looking for all of you at the union revival next Sunday at the C. P. Church and I hope I will see a big bunch of Union City's people attending these services.
MEET ME THERE SUNDAY!
"SHORTY."
