MEMPHIS:
 Saturday Evening, Dec. 9, 1871.

FOR MAYOR,
JOHN JOHNSON.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.
 That is short, but to the point. Seldom has more been suggested to the mind by the same number of words. "The Prince of Wales is dead," will probably be added today. And then what? The Queen and Princess of Wales are created with grief. The heir to the throne of England must quit his great realm, close his royal eyes on a land he was destined to govern, and take his place with the humblest of his subjects. The common destroyer does not recognize distinctions that men make among themselves, but descends to the harvest, striking wherever a subject is found, whether it wears a crown, or starves in the desolate fields. England will lose a King, pomp and power an instrument, but what will the people lose that they would not lose if an ordinary person died? He has, so far, done little to gratify his countrymen and it has been whispered all over the realm that such was the want of popular confidence in him that the death of the Queen would be the signal for the proclamation of a republic. Such an event could not occur on the death of the Prince. We do not suppose that it will unsettle anything, or make more than a ripple on the surface of England's affairs. Without regard to royalty, the opinions of the world will progress, and those problems suggested by an advancing age will be worked out whether royalty lives or dies. Whether for better or for worse, the people of all lands would dispense with the expense of royal families. That is the course the sentiment of the world is taking. There is in England a strong Republican party. Its workings are mostly in secret, but nevertheless effective. The under classes are easily impressed, and when told that a change of institutions would work a change in their condition, they cannot remain indifferent. But a violent change in the form of the English government need not be expected, whether the Prince or the Queen die. It is impossible not to sympathize with the affections of the royal family. Whatever else may be said of the Queen, it will not be denied that she is an amiable ruler and an excellent woman.

SELF-GOVERNMENT.
 The people who govern themselves through representatives care little for men. They want competency, faithfulness and disinterestedness. When they cease to listen to the siren songs of speculative combinations, they will have arrived at a point long coveted by the patriot. What do they care about a man's cleverness if he be competent to transact their business? Does not good sense suggest that, as we must have officers, we should retain a good one when we find him? It does not matter if hundreds be superior to him in many respects. It matters everything that one has been tried and the others have not. What good to the public would be served by the defeat of Johnson? In his administration condemned? Has he not made the most of the resources of the city? Has he not been faithful, intelligent and scrupulously honest? Who could have done better? Does there exist, then, any rational reason for turning him out?

SEVERE WINTER.
 The world says: The earnest intensity with which winter begins its career this year is severely felt in many ways than one. Not only do the poor, who are always unprepared for emergencies, suffer from insufficient shelter, clothing and food, but the rich have received a sharp cut from the indiscriminating season. A large number of canal-boats have been suddenly stopped on the way from the West by the closing in of the ice, and many millions of bushels of grain are thereby kept from the market. Some of the vessels have been damaged and portions of the cargoes lost. On the lakes, too, some losses have occurred. It is a fact worthy of note that on the other side of the Atlantic the winter has set in still earlier than here, and with greater severity. There is every reason to anticipate a more than usually severe season, and whatever can be done to escape its disadvantages and alleviate the sufferings that it will cause should be done quickly.

FOREIGN.
 London, December 9.—Prince passed a favorable night. The soon bulletin pronounces his condition more tranquil. The febrile symptoms are subsiding. Should he succeed in overcoming the excessive exhaustive debility, which fortunately did not increase last night, there may yet be some hope of his ultimate recovery.

Woman's Rights.
 Last Wednesday evening there appeared an article in the Lexton headed "Can Women Vote in Memphis?" showing that, under the provisions of the new charter of the city of Memphis, women who are owners of real estate within the city are entitled to registration papers. This statement having attracted the attention of several gentlemen and ladies the matter was investigated, and the section of the charter was found to read as follows:
 And be it further enacted, That the charter of the city of Memphis be so modified and amended as to pro-

LATEST TELEGRAMS.

WASHINGTON.
 Washington, December 9.—No reply has been received to the letter of the forty-five Representative Senators to Secretary Fish entitling him to remain in the cabinet. The Senators who do not sign this document speak of it as undignified and unprecedented. They say that as Senators are judges of the fitness of appointees to public offices, it is peculiarly improper for them to express opinions in this way on the propriety of removal changes. To request an officer to remain in his place is, in their opinion, only little less objectionable than to advise him to resign. One Senator, when asked to sign the letter, said that the President had not asked his advice on any subject of late, and he did not propose to volunteer it upon a question of whom he had better have in his cabinet.

Delegate Hooper, of Utah, will leave Washington this evening for home, and will be absent about three weeks. While at Salt Lake City he hopes to arrange a plan for the admission of Utah, which will settle the question of polygamy, and be satisfactory to the Mormons and Congress. His plan is to have Utah admitted as a State during this winter, on condition that no more polygamous marriages should be contracted, but that no families already thus formed should be disturbed. Hooper has presented his plan to many of the leading Senators and Representatives, and all admit that it is, all things considered, the most practicable that has yet been proposed. Hooper feels sanguine of being able to induce his people to agree to it.

Seth Johnson, the defaulting Treasury clerk, was arrested last night, and held in default of $8000 bail. The amount of his pecuniations is $40,000.
 J. Howard Wiggin has been appointed clerk in the custom-house at Boston.

NEW YORK.
 New York, December 9.—General Clauser, the famous Communist leader, arrived here on Wednesday in the steamship Russia, under the assumed name of Vincent. He made his escape from France through Spain and Portugal to England and took the steamer for New York at Liverpool. He remained in this city but a short time, stopping at the Prescott House, and left yesterday morning on a steamer for Mexico, where he will take command of the Jarez forces against Diaz. Several prominent internationalists called on him while here.

Canvass of election returns complete at Albany show the result on the State ticket as follows: Secretary of State, Scribner, 387,119; Weller, 368,212; Comptroller, Hopkins, 387,703; Nichols, 367,127; Treasurer, Ravine, 388,360; Bristol, 366,376; Canal Commissioners, Barkley, 387,936; Chapman, 366,499; Attorney General, Barlow, 387,072; Comptroller, 367,724; Inspector of State Prisons, Kirkpatrick, 347,359; McNeil, 360,650; State Engineer, Taylor, 387,284; Richardson, 367,415. The Republican majority on the State ticket is 18,907. Republican vote in this city exceeds the highest vote ever cast by them by more than 11,000.

Vice President Colfax lectured last night at Cooper Institute, in behalf of the Chicago sufferers. He described the fire vividly. The attendance was moderate.

PHILADELPHIA.
 Philadelphia, December 9.—In accordance with the instructions of Judge Paxton, investigations have been made into the affairs of the City Treasury. Official report says that all business of the City Treasury is suspended, no person being authorized to receive or pay any money after such suspension. Large sums have accumulated in the hands of the chiefs of the various departments, greatly in excess of the money for which bonds have been entered into by said departments. Such facts have been presented that the Grand Inquest are of opinion that those whose duty it is to provide for the management of the City Treasury and the safety of the city funds have been derelict in their duty.

WASHINGTON.
 Nothing could be clearer, under a fair and legal construction of the section. Yesterday Mr. Droeber, registrar of the Fifth ward, sat in his office, pondering over the election, when a lady entered, accompanied by several well-known gentlemen, and asked for the "Registrar of the Fifth ward." Mr. Droeber, with the politeness for which he is noted, asked what he could do for the fair inquirer. When he discovered that registration papers were wanted, he looked blank, his mind vibrating between the questions of gallantry and law. Before he could answer, the above section of the City Charter was placed before him. He read and pondered for a few seconds. Reaching for his registration book he turned to No. 355 and wrote down the name of Mrs. Elizabeth Avery Meriwether as a legal voter of the Fifth ward.

There are hundreds of ladies in this city who own real estate, and who (under this fair construction of the Charter) are entitled to vote. Will the judges of the election refuse to receive the votes of ladies who have registration papers? The Supreme Court has settled this question. The registrar is the judge of the qualification of voters, and the judges of election can only inquire as to the identity of the party, and whether or not the voter has been a citizen of the ward for thirty days prior to the day of election.

CHRISTIAN BROTHERS' COLLEGE.
 A First-Class Educational Institution in Our midst, at 283 Adams Street.

It is not generally known that the celebrated society of the Christian Brothers has established in our city a college for the education of young men and boys. The location is admirable, being in the central portion of the city, at 282 Adams street, in the building known as the "Memphis Female College," which has been purchased by the Brothers and fitted up in a style befitting an institution of learning. The school was opened on the 29th of November last, and already a number of students are in attendance.

AMUSEMENTS.
MEMPHIS THEATRE.—The Abbott Pantomime Troupe—From Fisk's Opera House, New York—will commence a week's engagement at the theatre, next Monday evening. The Three Hunchbacks is a pantomime of the stereotypical sort, with not a great deal in it which has not been seen before, and will not be seen again—yet we would not think that people are any more weary of the venerable fun than they are an hundred years ago. "Clown," "Pantaloons" and "Columbine" have an eternal freshness about them, like the snow which comes with each winter, the old tricks, the old jokes, the old grimaces carry their charm on from generation to generation, and as long as there are children of larger and smaller growth to be amused, it is probable they will have pantomimes played for them. This pantomime far exceeds the Three Blind Mice or Humpty Dumpty, which were so popular in this city last season.

CRIMINAL COURT.
 The jury in the case of Frank Graves, indicted for murder, will probably be completed to-day. A motion was made this forenoon by the Attorney General to discharge two of the nine jurors, on the grounds that they had formed and expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, which motion is on hearing at present. The State is represented by Attorney General Wright, L. B. Herrigan, S. R. Gammon and John L. Adams. The defendant is represented by General J. F. Sale, Colonel John Bullock, General W. Y. C. Humes, Colonel Duncan McRae, Captain Ben Reeves and Major Sanford. In view of the magnitude of the case and the number and ability of the counsel engaged, a fierce conflict may be expected to come off between this and the Christmas holidays.

THE FOURTH WARD.
 Response of Capt. J. H. Pettigrew to Numerous Citizens of Fourth Ward.
 Messrs. J. H. Martin, T. A. Nelson, James Elder, A. S. Meador, Felix Trancasilla and others:
 Gentlemen:—It gives me great pleasure to respond to the very flattering call which appeared in yesterday's city papers, calling upon me to become a candidate for Alderman from the Fourth ward. I have, during my connection with the City Council, endeavored to faithfully perform each duty as I have been imposed upon me, and I trust to the best interests of the city, and should it be the pleasure of the citizens of the Fourth ward to elect me to the position of Alderman, I pledge my earnest support to all measures looking to the improvement and progress of the city of Memphis.
 Thanking you for your kind expressions and interest in my behalf, I am, your obedient servant,
 J. M. PATTIGREW.

ANOTHER MURDER.
 A Negro Shoots a Colored Brother and Escapes.
 Yesterday Nelson Cole, son of a negro preacher, was hunting out on the line of the Charleston railroad with a friend, when they met Sam Jones. After some words with reference to the shooting of Cole by Jones some weeks since, the matter was apparently settled. Cole gave his shot-gun to Jones, who immediately leveled his pistol and fired. The load entered the head of the victim, and death ensued immediately. Cole's friend ran away and was fired at by Jones, but without effect. Last evening Esquire Elliott held an inquest on the body and the above facts were elicited. Jones has not been arrested, but the officers are on his track and feel confident of his speedy capture.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.
 Sam Jones surrendered himself before Esquire Elliott this afternoon, and a warrant was at once sworn out, charging Jones and John Williams with the murder of Nelson Cole. The testimony introduced changes materially the facts set forth above. One of the witnesses testified that he, Nelson Cole, and two others went out hunting and passed by the place where Sam Jones and John Williams were chopping wood. When within a few feet of the wood-choppers, Jones and Williams ran to a stump and got their six-shooters. Cole fired at Williams with the shot-gun. Williams returned the fire with his pistol. Cole ran behind a tree and shot again at Williams, who returned the fire and ran on Cole, saying: "I've got you now." Sam Jones then ran up to Cole, and said: "Give me your gun and I will not shoot you." Cole gave up the gun, and as Jones took it with one hand, he shot him through the head with his pistol. It seemed to have been a general fight. Esquire Elliott was hearing the case at two o'clock this afternoon.
