THE TEST.

The sincerity of great and little Democratic organs will find that coming events will bring out the true metal and leave the dross to take care of itself. They have donounced Grant as a tyrant, and if there is any other opprobious epithet they have not assailed him with, it is stuck away in some obscure corner of the dictionary where it cannot be found. Now it is—contrary to all human calculation six months sincee—ntirely possible to defeat this bad President and all his surroundings, military rings and all sorts of rings, cabals and cliques. It is possible to make a clean sweep—Dents, brothers-in-law, corruptionists, and all. The Liberal Republican movement is founded on a calculation that the Democracy cannot elect a President of their own party, and are so disgusted with Grant and his administration that they will support any honest Republican to defeat him. So far as the organs of the Democracy have spoken upon the subject, they have given assurance that they will do so. If Democrats have been sincere in their hostility to the administration, and are feeding the Republican Liberals with no false hopes, they will soon have an opportunity of proving their faith by their works. A Democrat who would not support the nominee of the Cincinnati Convention is not dying by inches to secure the defeat of Grant and his administration. But we have full faith in the truth of the Democracy, and have only suggested the foregoing points because we have seen in some distant quarters a Democratic candidate spoken of as a matter of course. It is, however, a little premature to discuss the subject at this time.

THE TWO SIDES.

The other day in Illinois masked men went to the house of an old man of seventy-five and murdered him. About the same time a similar gang in Kentucky went to the house of a negro and punished him with great severity. Being ordered to leave his home, he packed up and fled to Frankfort for safety. We are not informed as to the character of the offense for which the old white man was killed in Illinois, nor of that for which the negro was punished in Kentucky. Here are two cases of outrage, but on different sides of the Ohio river. On the Kentucky side, the beating of a negro was a Ku-Klux outrage, and will be inquired into by the Federal courts. Radical papers and orators will make a handle of it for party purposes, and include in one tremendous arraignment all the States and people of the South. The affair in Illinois was on the loyal side of the Ohio, and though the murderers were masked, and to all intents and purposes Ku-Klux, the murdered man of seventy-five years was only a white man. This is not a case coming under the Ku-Klux law. That villainous enactment extends only over the South. The courts of the United States will pay no attention to the Illinois murder. The administration can make no capital of it. But in Kentucky it is different. That was once a slave State and sent troops to fight for the South. If there is a shame redder, and bloodier, and intenser, and scorches and blisters more than another, it should descend upon the cheek of a government that makes a heaven on one side of a river and a hell on the other.

C. J. ADAMS.

Mr. Charles Francis Adamas has effectually disposed of his chance for nomination at Cincinnati by an abrupt, overbearing letter. In regard to it he says:

> If the call on me were an unequivocal one, based on confidence in my character earned in public life, and a belief that I would carry out in practice the principles which I professed, then indeed would come a test of my courage in an emergency. But if I am to be negotiated for and have assurances given that I am honest, you will be so kind as to draw me out of that crowd.

"That crowd," is good for an aspirant to the Presidency. The letter is cold, and has disgusted those who had advocated his claims. His tone is about this: "Well, fellows, if you want to nominate me you may do so without any pledges, and, in addition, you must understand that you compliment yourselves, not me. Good morning. John, show these gentlemen the door." Mr. Fernando Wood stated the other day in the House that if Adams should be nominated at Cincinnati, the Democracy would bring out a candidate of their own. He declared that they would not support Adams.

AN IMPORTANT BILL.

Fernando Wood, of New York, has offered a bill in the House, which provides that forty-five millions of the coin now in the Treasury shall be set apart and placed in the hands of the Assistant United States Treasurers in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago, to be loaned to corporations and individuals for a period not exceeding one year at a rate of interest not less than 8 per cent., United States securities to be given as collateral for the loan so made. An equal amount of legal tenders predicated upon this coin is to be issued and also loaned upon the same conditions. It is also provided that the difference in the market value of gold and legal tenders shall not exceed 12 per cent., or if it shall exceed that amount the Assistant Treasurers shall reduce their loans of coin pro rata. The bill, it is said, was prepared by prominent New York bankers, after consultation with bankers throughout the country.

JUDGE DAVIS.

The St. Louis Times publishes what purports to be an interview between its correspondent and Judge Davis on the all-absorbing question of the Presidency. The Judge was wary and guarded in his replies to interrogatories, but expressed a willingness to support the nominee of the Cincinnati Convention if he was a strong man on a sound platform. When asked if he would support Brown or Trumbull, if nominated, he replied: "Oh, yes, if the platform of the Convention was consistent with the oft repeated declaration of either of these gentlemen. You know I should naturally prefer Mr. Trumbull, as being of my State."

THE Tribune thinks that if the adjournment of Congress is delayed until after the meeting of the Philadelphia Convention "one of the severest and most relentless quarrels that has ever disgraced Congress would be indulged in from that time until the close of the session. The bad feeling between Congressmen who are committed on the one side to Philadelphia, and on the other to Cincinnati, is already apparent in both branches, and the lines are being drawn very closely."

A COMMITTEE to ascertain what Democratic papers are fussing among themselves about, might prove of advantage to the public. If they all mean to do the same thing in the end, why do they not say so in the beginning? If one says he may be compelled to support the Cincinnati nominee, will he not, in doing so, commit as great a crime (if it be a crime) as one who deliberately goes for him from the beginning? Then, what is the trouble?

A BILL has been introduced in the lower House of Congress by Mr. Fernando Wood, of New York, to prevent a stringency or contraction in the money market. It is thought that a measure looking to that end is important at this time.

ADVICES state that the South Carolina cases are proceeding quite rapidly before the United States Circuit Court. There seems to be as a rule but little earnestness in the defense of the cases heard so far. A number of arrests have recently been made.

A POLITICAL EARTHQUAKE.

Can the August Elections Be Held Constitutionally?

A knotty legal question has been started by a Tennessee paper, the American Rescue, in regard to the Constitutionality of the coming August elections. Here is what the Rescue says:

Keep it before the people that the Constitution does not authorize the holding of an election for judicial and other civil officers in August, 1872.

Keep it before the people that the Constitution says that "the election for judicial and other civil officers shall be held on the first Thursday in August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and forever thereafter, on the first Thursday in August next preceding the expiration of their respective terms of service."

Keep it before the people that the Constitution says "the term of each officer so elected (at the August elections in 1870) shall be computed from the first Monday in September next succeeding his election."

Keep it before the people that the Constitution says "every officer shall hold his office until his successor is elected or appointed and qualified."

Keep it before the people that all the sheriffs, trustees, registers and tax collectors of the State were elected in March, 1870, and that their terms of service expire in March, 1872.

Keep it before the people that in order for the election of said county officers to have been legal and in compliance with the Constitution the election should have been held in August, 1871, to have preceded their vacancy.

Keep it before the people that every officer holding the office of Sheriff, Trustee, Register and Tax Collector will hold over untill the next biennial election in 1873.

Keep it before the people that nobody has authorized the holding of any election in August next, and that candidates have simply announced themselves without knowing the time prescribed by the Constitution when said election shall be held.

Keep it before the people that no act of the Legislature can annul the Constitution by passing laws in conflict therewith.

Keep it before the people that at the next biennial election in August, 1873, the election will take place for County Court and Circuit Court Clerks and County Registers, as the present term of said officers who were elected in 1870, will expire on the first Monday in September, 1873.

The only answer to this problem is that offered by the Somerville Falcon:

In the schedule to the New Constitution, section first, we find the following:

"That no inconvenience may arise from a change of the Constitution, it is declared that the Governor of the State, the members of the General Assembly, and all officers elected at or after the general election in March, 1870, shall hold their offices for the terms prescribed in this Constitution."

The terms prescribed in this Constitution are two years. Therefore the offices filled in March, 1870, expired in March, 1872, and a vacancy was caused from that time until September, 1872. The new Constitution says, article 8, section 4: "The election of all officers and the filling of all vacancies not otherwise directed or provided by this Constitution, shall be made in such manner as the Legislature shall direct." The Legislature, in accordance with this provision, chapter 23, section 1, passed the following act: "That every judicial and civil officer elected at the election held on the 26th day of March, 1870, or since that time, or before the first Thursday in August next, and who has qualified or may qualify, shall continue to hold his office for and during the time for which he was elected, and until his successor is elected and qualified."

AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION, VIA S. P. & A. TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

Specials to the Ledger.

Lively Times Expected at the Cincinnati Convention.

CINCINNATI, April 26.—It is now the general opinion that the Reunion and Reform Convention which meets at Mozart Hall will transact all its business on the first day, Wednesday, and will then merge itself with the Liberal Republican body on the evening of that day or next morning. The greater part of the first day will be occupied by the Liberal Republican Convention in getting ready for work. Permanent officers will not take their seats before Thursday morning, and not until then will the fight begin in earnest.

General Grosvenor, who may be said to be the representative man of the Missouri and Kansas delegations, thinks Charles Francis Adams has the best prospect for the nomination at this time. He says that with Adams for President and Gratz Brown for Vice President, Missouri and Kansas would be perfectly satisfied.

The New York State delegates, numbering one hundred and fifty, headed by Governor Fenton, will arrive Monday and make their headquarters at the Merchants' Hotel, Fifth street. Governor Palmer, and a number of Illinois Liberals, will be in the city to-day and stop at the Merchants' Hotel.

West Virginia Liberals are said to be reserving their fire for Chase as nominee of the convention. Hon. Alex Long, of this city, is understood to be engaged in working up public opinion to that end.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Six Hundred Persons Thrown out of Employment—A Two Hundred Thousand Dollar Loss.

HARRISBURG, PA., April 26.—One of the most destructive fires that ever occurred here broke out in the Harrisburg car shops a little before one o'clock last night. It spread with great rapidity until the establishment and several other buildings were destroyed. A hotel near the Pennsylvania railroad, the Round House, took fire from the sparks of the engine and was also consumed. The loss of the car company is estimated at over $200,000, nearly all of which is covered by insurance. Over six hundred persons employed by the company are thrown out of employment, placing in almost destitute circumstances at least three hundred people. The wind was blowing very strong at the time, and the buildings, which covered ten or fifteen acres, being nearly all framed, it was impossible to check the flames. It is thought by many that several of the men in one of the buildings were overcome by the heat and smoke, caused by a sudden change in the wind, and expired in the flames. The fire was caused by a spark from a passing locomotive.

LATER—Arrangements have already been made by the car company to put the men to work again who were thrown out of employment by the fire.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

Gov. Curtin Endorses the Liberal Republican Movement.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Early in December last the dispatches announced that Governor Curtin had signified his intention to resign the position of Minister to St. Petersburg and return home. The prediction has been fully sustained, authentic information having been received to-night to the effect that Governor Curtin will sustain the Cincinnati movement.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 26.—A committee of workingmen waited on the superintendent of the new postoffice yesterday and requested the enforcement of the eight-hour system. The superintendent immediately discharged them. They intend going to Washington and lay their claim before the President.

None of the missing bodies of the victims of the Davenport explosion have been found in the wreck. The force of the explosion was so great that only a few fragments of the boilers remain, and it is supposed that the men were blown to atoms.

An Experiment with Fire Extinguishers—The Wrong House Experimented upon—Death of a Prominent Federal Officer.

LOUISVILLE, April 26.—A two-story frame and log house situated on Preston street, well saturated with petroleum, was set on fire about half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon to test the Lithgow & Gardner fire extinguisher. Four minutes after lighting the fire the extinguishers commenced work, but despite the efforts of some twenty small ones and three large pieces capable of containing sixty gallons of soda water each, the fire proved a complete success in about three-quarters of an hour. The brick chimney alone was saved. No insurance. After the fire had burned to ashes it was discovered the wrong house had been fired, and another man's property demolished.

General J. C. McFarren, Chief Quartermaster of the United States army, division of the South, died suddenly at his headquarters in this city yesterday morning.

Large Attendance at the Louisiana Fair—Weston, the Walkist, Appears To-morrow.

NEW ORLEANS, April 26.—Fully thirty thousand persons attended the fair yesterday, including strangers from every part of the country. There is every indication of continued success. Yesterday there were hurdle and trotting races, both of which afforded much amusement to the multitude. Weston makes his appearance in pedestrianism on Saturday. Business is entirely suspended.

Another Jersey Tragedy—A Man Fires Three Times at His Wife's Seducer and then Suicides.

WEST HOBOKEN, April 26.—Frank Camp, a conductor on the North Hudson railroad, last night fired three shots at another conductor, Henry F. Cook, who boarded at his house. None of the shots took effect. He then shot himself in the left side, and afterward stabbed himself. He died to-day. The alleged cause was too close an intimacy between Mrs. Camp and Cook.

TELEGRAPH BREVITIES.

Three unknown men were carried over the Niagara falls yesterday.

The United States Collar Company of New York, lost $2500, and Howarth & Co. $4000, by fire last night.

Willett, a notorious counterfeiter of United States currency, was sent to jail at Louisville yesterday, in default of $3000.

Robert Teeters and Frank Roberts, brakemen, quarrelled and fought at Cave Hill depot, Kentucky, yesterday. Result, Feeters now laid up badly cut in the back and neck.

It takes two hundred words of telegraphic news to inform the public that Peran Stevens, once the proprietor of the Battle House at Mobile, died yesterday in New York.

Thomas S. Mitchell, Treasurer of the California Wine Company, was arrested last night at Boston, on a charge of forging an endorsement of C. L. Taylor & Co., and Lewis Emerson & Co., to two notes for $25.

THE Chicago Times says that Democrats up that way "do not ask, propose, nor wish that any Republican shall turn Democrat. They have no desire to repeat the folly of Connecticut. They stand ready, almost to a man, to cease to be the Democratic party, upon the one fair and reasonable condition that those with whom they act in this contest shall cease to be the Republican party."

WASHINGTON is without news, and all things seem to be in a suspended condition. The usual number of murders are committed in the North, and the usual amount of crime goes on. Among politicians the Cincinnati Convention is uppermost, and among ladies the Dolly Varden predominates. Success to them.

A WASHINGTON special says that at a recent Radical Senatorial caucass, Trumbull and Fenton were present. That has not a pleasant look about it.

The Indiana papers are reprinting the following as Haytien proverbs: "The day that the little chicken is pleased is the very day that the hawk takes hold of him. Eggs ought not to dance with stones. Before you speak turn your tongue over seven times. When you go to the donkey's house don't ask if his ears are long. A little dog may have courage before his master's door. It's only the shoe that knows whether the stocking has holes. Good soup may be made in an old saucepan. The cock wears spurs, but is no horseman for all that. Pardon does not heal the wound. A pig that has two owners is sure to die with hunger. Very bad is not dead. Reproach is heavier than a barrel of salt. A promise is a debt."

Another lunatic named Captain T. E. Birch, who resides at New York, aspires to undying fame by crossing the Atlantic in a cockle-shell a little more diminutive than any in which the lunatics who have preceded him have risked their lives for the same praiseworthy object. The minature craft is christened the "Sea Bird," is twelve feet long, four feet beam, seventeen inches deep, and is three quarters of a ton burden. Captain Birch will attempt the foolhardy experiment alone.
