JUNKETING TOUR.

Judge Gerald has Something to Say About

REAGAN'S TRIP TO MEXICO AS A

Guest of Railroad Attorney Simon Sterne--A Prediction he Made During the Canvass--A Commissioner With the Fantods and a Description of the Dread Disease.

The fellowing is clipped from The Day:

To the Editor of the Day:

AUSTIN, Jan. 23.—Chairman Reagan and wife left for a tour through Mexico in company with Mr. Sterne, the New York attorney of the East Line bondholders. They have a special Pullman and will see the City of Mexico in style.—Dallas News.

Some will remember that when a candidate that I several times expressed a fear that before two years elapsed after the adoption of the amendment that on some sunny summer morning a special car of a certain railroad magnate would be seen hurrying across the prairies, and through the fields, bearing the commissioners, as guests of the magnate, down to Galveston, to enjoy a week or ten days of free boats and beach rides, free hotels, etc., and that possibly some honest granger, ploughing his fields, would stop his mule as the train rolled by, and lean upon his plow, and when to his nose was borne the aroma of the fine Havanas smoked by the guests as they lolled back on the luxurious cushions, that he might possibly exclaim as he caught the sniff of the smoke, "Ah! Tobe, I fear this is all of our share." But I assured them if such should be the case, he would still have another interest in it; that the same breeze that bore to he and Tobe the fragrant smoke would play with the narrative of his shirt, as it struck out through the rents of his breeches, which he had made toiling with Tobe to contribute his share of the salaries and other expenses of the three political Moses' that were to lead us out of the railroad wilderness.

The excursion has come sooner and gone further than I expected. Now, who is Simon Sterne? He is the general attorney of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, a railroad in which Jay Gould is largely interested and he is generally called Jay Gould's attorney. It is said of this Simon that when a boy, his father sent him to Sunday school, where he learned the Lord's prayer, which, on repeating to his father, when he came to that part which says "give us this day our daily bread," the old man stopped him and said, "Vat ish dat, Simon?" Simon repeated it over, and the old man looked at him sternly and said: "Simon, strike him for pie," and Simon has been striking for pie from that day to this. This is the same Simon that had that convenient cold that you may remember of, in connection with the International and Great Northern investigation, and it's dollars to dimes that somewhere on the road during this trip, that Simon will sit down and musingly say to himself: "Business is business, but Jay Gould's attorney is the most innocent man on the road." If a lawyer accepts a fee from a railroad in the ordinary course of his business, there are certain crowds in this state forever howling at him, "corrupt and bought up railroad attorney." If a newspaper editor who is so poor that he is glad to get temales and stale beer for his rations, does not agree with the gang, again comes the howl of the "venal and subsidized press." Mr. Reagan, the chairman of the railroad commission of Texas, can go with his family and friends, for it is presumed he carries some friends, on a costly junketing expedition to a foreign land, and not one of them raise an objection, but will probably criticise me for calling attention to it, and will probably hold me to be worse than the "corrupt" lawyer and subsidized press.

Chairman Reagan ought not to have left, in justice to the commission, for it is generally believed that one of the commissioners is going into a decline, from the insidious approaches of a disease called Fantods, which is an accumulation of blacking around the liver, produced, according to the highest medical authorities, by the tongue of the sufferer having too industriously licked the boots of some man who had an office to give. His friends fear that if there is a called session of the legislature that he will not survive to the close.

There are many things here in Texas that Mr. Reagan might learn that would be of more profit to him than a more familliar acquaintance with the greaser. For instance, he might learn that there is no need of a Pinkerton annex to the railroad commission of Texas; might learn that a gentleman could receive his mail without the aid of his detective reading it, sealing it, and preparing himself to prove both its contents and delivery. He might learn that when a man writes an article for a newspaper over his signature, that it is probable that he would not take to the woods, on receiving a bulldozing letter from him, asking whether he wrote it. Chairman Reagan ought to hurry back to Texas for there is some mighty interesting reading awaiting his return, not sent to him as he sent some of his sealed communications, but sent under the cover of registered mail, so his receipt could be obtained. The chairman must return and prove one of two things, either that his name has been forged to two or three different documents or that the man for whose eyes one of those documents was intended was so infamous, both generally, personally and in position, that he could not be treated as even an ordinarily decent nigger would have the right to be treated. If he does not he must prove his right to establish a star chamber annex to the commission, cut off ears, slit tongues, cut off fingers, etc., or he will find that he is not the only man in Texas with both the materials and ability to run a tri-daily newspaper.

ALL OVER TOWN.

The street committee had a meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the city hall.

Mr. A. Oberlander left this afternoon for Galveston to attend the State Liquor Dealers' meeting.

The Provident building is about completed and is being filled up rapidly. The elevator is now running all day

Mr. Geo. W. Scarborough has a notice in the cheap column asking for work in stenography and typewriting. Read it.

Elder David Pennington of the Christian church is in the city and will preach tonight at the Edgefield chapel.

Mr. Isaac Simmons left this evening for a trip to Galveston to represent Waco at the State Liquor Dealers' Association.

A thief entered the residence of Mr. Waller S. Baker last night and carried off his overcoat which was hanging in the hall.

There was only one case tried in the mayor's court this morning. Albert Patterson was fined $2 50 for soliciting custom upon the depot platform.

The street commissioner had his weather eye on a few of the largest mud holes on the square this morning and they will doubtless be filled before the next rainfall.

Officer Clay arrested an obstreperous "coon" this afternoon and locked her in the calaboose. She fought like a tirgess, badly scratching the officer,s hands and arms.

The examining trial of Hattie Tyree was concluded yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. She was admitted to bail in the sum of $3000, which she readily gave and was released from custody.

Central City lodge No. 230, Knights of Honor, installed the following officers last night for the ensuing year: Joseph E. Johnson, vice-dictator; Robt M. Ligon, assistant dictator; Tom O. Plunkett, financial reporter; Fred W. Meyer, reporter; Stanley Epstein, treasurer; Louis Lipman, guide; Sam B. Harris, chaplain. Central City lodge is very strong, financially and otherwise.

County Court.

L. Cole, charged with impersonating an officer, was tried in the county court this morning and fined $500. This is one of the crooks who by representing that he was an officer and arresting a man for selling a grease erasor without license and swindled him out of $10.

Jim Shands is on trial this afternoon upon a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

PROFESSOR WINDSOR.

The Hall Crowded Last Night to Hear "How to Become Rich."

It may seem strange, but a great many people in Waco have a yearning desire to become rich, and having learned from THE NEWS last evening that Professor Windsor would give the desired information, the hall over Moore Bros'. wholesale grocery store, corner Fourth and Mary streets, was crowded to overflowing last night with citizens eager and expectant, anxious to hear from the great phrenologist the precise course to pursue to obtain the coveted wealth necessary to the exalted position known as "wealthy."

Those who obtained admission were not disappointed. They received valuable information from a scientific standpoint. The professor's lecture on "Marriage" will be delivered tonight at the same place.

At Rest.

The remains of John H. Robinson who died at Fort Worth yesterday, came in on the noon train today, accompanied by the widow, little daughter and Mr. James Robinson, brother of deceased, Mr. C. W. Peabody, of Fort Worth, a delegate of the R. E Lee Camp Confederate Veterns, of which the deceased was an honored member, also came down in charge of the corpse. The following members of Pat Cleborne Camp, of this city, acted as pallbears: John Moore, Miller Moore, L. B. Fostor, W. D. Mayfield, Capt. C. L. Johnson and Capt. Alf C Neill. The casket, upon which was engraved on a large silver plate, the words, "At Rest," was transferred from the case to the hearse and the large procession started at 1 o'clock for the First Street cemetery, where the last sad rites were performed by Rev. Dr. King and the body tenderly laid away to rest by old comrades.

The condolence of THE NEWS is extended to the bereived family.

Taken In Custody.

Immediately upon the death of Charlie Fowzer O. W. Buck was arrested by Sheriff Ford and has since been escorted around by Deputy Tom Maddin. The examining trial before Justice J. N. Gallagher was to have been commenced this afternoon at 2 o'clock, but the witnesses were not all summoned and the case was re-set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The defendant has secured the services of Messrs. Clark, Dyer & Bolinger, and John F. Flint. The trial will be largely attended.

Ballard's Snow Liniment.

This liniment is different in composition from any other liniment on the market. It is a scientific discovery, which results in its being the most penetrating liniment ever known. There are numerous white imitations, which may be recommended because they pay the seller a greater profit. Beware of these and demand Ballard's Snow Liniment. It positively cures rheumatism, Neuralgia, cuts, sprains, bruises, wounds, sciatic and inflammatory rheumatism, burns, scalds, sore feet, contracted muscle, stiff joints, old sores, pain in back, barb wire cuts, sore chest or throat and especially beneficial to paralysis.

Liver Complaint--Billiousness.

The chief symptoms of this disease are depression of spirits, foul coated tongue, bad tasting mouth, disagreeable breath, dry skin with blotches and eruptions, sallow complexion and yellow eyes, tired aching shoulders, dull pain in right side, faintness, dizziness and irregular bowels. This complaint in all its forms can be readily cured by taking Dr. Gunn's Improved liver pills as directed, and a lingering spell of sickness will often be warded off by their use.
