RESCUED FROM RUIN.

Stage-Struck Maidens Captured and Returned to Their Homes.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 13.—When the Vandalia train from the north came in two young ladies stepped from the cars and were at once driven to the Sherman House. The girls, who were about 18 years old, were soon met by two young men of this city, driven through the principal streets and introduced to many of the young society people of this place. All arrangements for them to attend a large ball were quickly made, and they were in high spirits over those who were so anxious to meet them, and who were making their visit so pleasant. In the meantime Landford Jones of the Robbin's Hotel had received a telegram from Logansport, Ind., to look out for two runaway girls who had bought tickets to this city. Thinking the two finely dressed girls whom he had noticed on the streets were the ones, he called a policeman and captured them just as they were starting out to the dance. They were taken to the hotel and locked in a room, much to the sorrow of the girls, who could only find time between their sobs to say they had left home because they were tired of it and desired to go to some city and join a show company.

The stage-struck girls are Miss Lelah Parks and Myrtle Sebastian, whose fathers are respected business men of Logansport. No cause can be given by the parents why the girls made this unexpected trip, as they were high in society and respected by all at home. As usual, those who were so friendly with them while here failed to show up after their capture, and they were left to console themselves under lock and key. They were returned home this morning.

A Mysterious Individual.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Feb. 13.—Bert Halderman, alias Geo. W. Wilson, the alleged journalist placed in jail here for obtaining money under false pretenses and stealing an overcoat, is a mysterious man. He says his name is neither Halderman nor Wilson, and refuses to give his correct name. He is 50 years old, and says he has no relatives except a wife in Chicago leading a fast life, their only child being dead. He is highly educated, writes both the Pittman and Graham systems of short hand, and claims to have held positions on the leading papers of St. Louis and Chicago. He says he has been in the insane asylums at Baton Rouge, La., and at Indianapolis, and claims to have been with General John Morgan in his famous raid through southern Indiana during the late war, and afterwards in the Seventy-third Indiana volunteers, under Colonel John A. Keith. It is not known yet if he will be prosecuted or released.

A White Cap Identified.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 13.—In November last four men rushed into the cabin of Nate Champion and Ross Gilbertson, on Powder river, and opened fire on the men, who were in their beds. The shots were returned and the white caps were forced to leave. In the flight two rifles and four overcoats were dropped. The camp of the mob was located and evidence gathered that warranted the arrest of Joe Elliott, a state stock inspector. Elliott is charged with leading the murderous gang. At a hearing today he was identified by Champion. Bail was fixed at $5000, and the accused was placed in prison. The procedure will most likely lead to the arrest of others on the charge of assassinating Tinsdale and Jones, the rustlers shot from ambush in December. The thieves are well organized and have money and power. One of their leaders' names in a weekly paper, prominent men as thieves and murderers.

Hung by a Mob.

ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 13.—Will Laverder, colored, who attempted an assault upon Alice Perry, a white girl, Monday night, was taken from officers about 1 o'clock this morning and hanged to a tree. He was captured near this city Thursday evening, and after being first taken to the station house was removed to a policeman's house. He confessed to a reporter he was the man that committed the assault. A mob of 100 people searched the city over and finally located the man in a policeman's house, guarded by three officers. They broke open the door and took him from the officers. The negro made a full confession. The crowd was very orderly and no firing was indulged in. The tree selected was on the bank of the river.
