The Torpedo Tested.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Experiments were made at Portsmouth with the Sims-Edison electric torpedo. The tests of the naval weapon were made in the presence of Major J. C. Post, the military attaché of the American legation in this city, Captain Leary and a number of other foreign attaches, Lieutenant Toppen of the United States navy and other European officers. The experiments were gratifying and proved that the torpedo could be worked successfully when launched from a vessel in motion with a range of one and one-fourth miles and a speed of ten knots an hour. The torpedo exhibited was four years old. Mr. Sims, who personally conducted the trials, claimed that at a recent test of the torpedo a speed of twenty-one knots for over two miles was obtained.

Rich Honorably Discharged.

VERNON, Tex., Feb. 19.—The friends of B. L. Rich are gratified at the result of the examination by the grand jury. The most careful and searching examination was made by them of the written testimony of 170 pages adduced on the examining trial, as well as having many witnesses before them, and as a final test they took two physicians, who had not testified in the examining trial, and made a post mortem examination of the deceased's head, which revealed the fact that the fracture upon the right side of the head was due to concussion on the left side of the head and that the fracture was general over the head, showing conclusively that the wound could not have been made with such an iron as was adduced on the trial.

What I Know About Hardware and City Finances.

Good credit is a valuable asset for an individual or firm, but strange and anomalous as it may appear, for a city it is a misfortune. A city, like a family, has many real and imaginary wants right from the start, both families and cities grow, but the expense of the latter usually grows faster than the income. School houses, hospitals, city halls, sewers, paved streets etc. follow each other in rapid succession. Whatever a city buys or builds, generally costs more than private people pay for like services. Valuable franchises seldom bring the city anything. Whenever a city undertakes the management of gas or water works, financial failure is the usual outcome. It don't take the "fathers" of a young city long to learn that the taxes are inadequate to make the "needed improvements" and they commence borrowing. Should any cool-headed councilman object, he is voted down as a "mossback" and "old fogey." When a city goes in debt once, there is seldom any stop to it. It grows like an avalanche until the city's credit is exhausted, the sooner that point is reached the better for the taxpayer. On account of overstock, I have reduced galvanized barb wire to 4c a lb, wire nails to 5c a lb with a corresponding reduction by the keg. My stock of iron steel and metals is probably the largest in Texas. I keep not less than 25 tons bar iron, 20 tons black and galvanized sheet iron, 15 tons corrugated iron, 150 boxes tinplate, one ton of zinc, and 1-2 ton of solder in stock. My prices cannot be undersold. Yours for hardware.

TEXAS WORLD'S FAIR.

Headquarters Will Probably go to Galveston for $150,000.

At a meeting of the Texas World's Fair Association yesterday in Galveston it was decided to accept a proposition from Mr. W. F. Lodd on behalf of Galveston to guarantee $150,000 to the World's Fair fund upon condition that the headquarters of the association be removed from Waco to Galveston the exhibits to be concentrated there and the entire movement to be controlled and directed from that point. The removal in compliance with the proposition only awaits the acquiescence of the board of directors. Under the new arrangement Galveston furnishes one half the amount necessary for the erection of the Texas exhibit building at Chicago.

The artesian well on Webster street between Eleventh and Twelfth has reached a depth of over 300 feet, and the force are working day and night. On yesterday one of the employes was caught up in the big wheel and carried around a few times and finally landed on the big anvil. Strange to say he was but slightly injured.

You can't miss seeing T. M. Littlewood, England's great champion.

A small fire occurred at the corner of Franklin and Third streets yesterday evening, but was promptly extinguished before any damage was done.
