GREAT EXCITEMENT.

The Mysterious Animal Run to Earth at Last.

An ordinary gray wolf, after an exciting chase, was killed this morning by a colored man named Josh Friday and brought into town. It is on exhibition at the saloon of Mr. T. B. Waite, commonly known as "the hunters' resort," where a large crowd has nearly all day thronged the place to get a sight of the ferocious beast which has baffled the skill of Waco's most famous hunters, defied the fleetest hounds of Central Texas and exhausted the bottom of the most enduring thoroughbreds, for the past three months. It is about four feet long from tip to tip, two feet high and weighs about twenty pounds. Many of the sportsmen contend that this is not the animal, but that the one which has created so much excitement is still at large.

The Maccabees.

The Knights of the Maccabees of the World, is a fraternal organization, with insurance benefits, which is founded on the history of the Maccabees, those mighty warriors of old. It is now in its fourteenth year, but branches, or tents, are just being organized in Texas, by Mr. J. B. Sawtell, Deputy Supreme Commander. The sixth Tent in the state of Texas was organized at Odd Fellows Hall last night, with such representative citizens as Sam Sanger, John Ross, Robt. S. Ross, and J. C. J. King at its head. The name is Waco Artesian Tent.

Waco Juvenile Cavalry.

The Waco Juvenile cavalry congregated on their parade grounds on Franklin street Saturday afternoon, where they put up an excellent drill of about two hours, which would have done credit to regular grown up soldiers. The company was commanded for the first hour, by Sergeant Richard Beard, whose knowledge of cavalry tactics and the grace, precision and promptness of his commands at once stamp him as material eminently fitted, with but little more experience, for captain of the company. Lieutenant M. B. Davis commanded the company for the remainder of the afternoon, after which the line of march to the city was taken up. The company visited the residence of Hon. George Clark, the Royal Hotel and THE NEWS office, where the young soldiers were drawn up in line and presented sabers, after which they proceeded to the court house where ranks were broken and the performances of the day ended.

What I Know About Hardware and Future Inventions.

The telephone, locomotive, and ice machine are greater wonders than any traditional miracles of the ancients. Freed a brainy America will produce still greater wonders, some of them are now in the experimental stage. I will only mention the flying machine. On the ocean, the steamer is incomparably superior to the strongest sea monster. On land, the locomotive excels in speed and strength any animal that ever lived. In the air, the Eagle picks up a sheep and flies with it against the current, a feat that has never been equaled by man, but the time will come when passengers and freight will fly through the air at the rate of 200 miles an hour with as little danger as they do now on the cars and steamers. Before this happens, however, I want to sell a little more hardware. If you want to build a fence let me ask you a few questions. Do you want a fence that has to be painted every year and has to be renewed every 5 years? Do you want a fence that insects can destroy and that is liable to burn down at any time? Do you want a fence that is clumsy and unsightly, then build a wooden fence, but if you want a fence free from all these defects that lasts you 50 years and costs about the same as a wooden one, then buy a Hardman's steel fence, for sale by ED. STRAUSS' Hardware Store.
