ALL OVER TOWN.

Only one case was tried this morning in the mayor's court.

The default docket was called in the district court this afternoon.

The Waco Liquor Dealers association held an important meeting last night.

The civil non-jury docket was called this morning in the county court and all cases, in which continuances were not had, set for trial.

Joe Gorman, the man who fought a duel some time ago near the Flint farm, came into town last evening and gave bond in the sum of $300 to await the action of the grand jury on his case.

Justice J. N. Gallagher has placed in the hands of the grand jury papers in 33 examining trials held in his court since the adjournment of the last grand jury, and Justice Jack Harrison 15 cases.

Assistant County Attorney Lui Williams returned last night from McGregor where he conducted yesterday, a fire inquest on the house of McDermot & Drake lately destroyed by fire. The inquest was held before Justice J. H. Norton.

A negro named Frank Thomas entered the store of Mr. Goldberg yesterday evening and when the proprietor's back was turned stole a silver watch and carried it off. Mr. Goldberg soon discovered his loss and notified the officers who effected his arrest with the property in his possession. Frank will very likely go over the road.

The ladies of the Christian church have been very fortunate in securing the services of Prof. Fulton, of Kansas City, for an elocutionary entertainment, next Tuesday evening, at the City Hall. Prof. Fulton has the largest elocutionary experience in the United States, and he will no doubt furnish one of the most pleasant evenings, that any one could spend.

Mr. W. L. Burke, who has for the past three years filled the responsible position of chief deputy under Sheriff Dan Ford has resigned and accepted the appointment of riding bailiff for the grand jury. Mr. Burke has discharged the duties of deputy sheriff with efficiency and leaves the office with the confidence and respect of all who know him. As will be seen by reference to our announcement column Mr. Burke is a candidate for sheriff.

CLEWS' VIEWS.

About the Silver Craze and Its Effect.

ONE HUNDRED MILLIONS OF American Securities Returned to This Country—Our Gold Flowing Out to the Foreign Holders, and the End is Not Yet—The Stock Market Flooded With Mysteries.

NEW YORK, March 5, 1892.

The Stock Market is flooded with "mysteries," and rumors of gigantic railroad deals upon an unprecedented scale as being either in progress or already accomplished. Details of these have filled the daily press for weeks past, but only such operators as are within the charmed circles appear to know the true inwardness of many of them. As a consequence, judgment passes for little in estimating the future value of many securities, for the market is almost wholly under the control of comparatively few persons, whose operations must inevitably influence the value of thousands of millions of stocks and bonds.

There is one other factor which is again becoming influential in Wall Street, and that is the silver question. Already it is producing important effects which had not been expected to at this early stage in the outworkings of the Silver Act of 1890. The re-employment of the exports of gold has proved an eye-opener. During the year 1891 our exports of goods and specie exceeded our imports of the like items by $185,000,000, and for the first two months of 1892 fully the same rate of excess has been maintained. It might have been expected that under such circumstances we should now be importing large amounts of gold to settle this large apparent trade balance in our favor. The fact is, however, that we are called upon to export gold. How are we to account for this extraordinary movement? After setting off, against this creditor balance of some 215 millions for the last fourteen months, all that may have accrued against us in Europe on account of interest, freight on imports, undervaluations, etc., there ought to be a balance in our favor of something like 115 millions; for an average of the last decade, about 85 millions surplus of exports over imports has sufficed to liquidate these debtor items. There arises from these facts the strongest possible presumption that, since the beginning of 1891, considerably over 100 millions of our securities have been returned from Europe; for the credit balance has unquestionably been settled, and there is no other way in which it could have been done except by the return of stocks, bonds, etc. This reflux of our securities dates from the period of the enactment of the last silver law, which doubled the government purchases of silver. It is coincident with an opinion everywhere entertained in European financial circles, and emphasized by the foreign press, that the course of legislation and the bias of popular opinion in this country indicated a grave possibility that our currency system might become subject to a general depreciation of value, which would correspondingly diminish the value of all our securities not made specifically payable in gold. As Europe holds many hundreds of millions of American securities of the very kind that would be subject to such deterioration, it is nothing more than might be expected that our obligations should be returned in extraordinary amounts, and the more so as the New York market has been in a condition to take them without suffering serious reaction.

Over 100 million of securities returned within fourteen months! This is the startling fact just dawning upon the perception of Wall Street; and it naturally suggests some very grave inquiries; such, for instance, as how much gold should we have had to ship in payment for these returned securities, had we not been favored with an extraordinary surplus of cereals which Europe happened to need? how are we to pay for any further amounts that may be so returned? what dimensions may this future reflux of investments assume, should the mania for free coinage continue to control the course of legislation? and, with only some $30,000,000 of gold in the treasury, outside the required reserve against greenbacks, where is the gold to come from to satisfy these two possible foreign drains? It is thus seen that the silver mania is bringing us much nearer to a perilous verge than it is pleasant to contemplate, and that unless the madness of free silver agitation can be in some way stayed we may witness a serious disturbance of public confidence much earlier than has been supposed possible. Under these circumstances the main hope of Wall Street is in the possible formation of an International Conference to settle the whole silver problem upon a broad and sure foundation. Secretary Foster's visit to Europe for the understood purpose of conference with the British Government is therefore hailed with great satisfaction as affording the only way of escape from grave possibilities. HENRY CLEWS.

For District Clerk.

We take pleasure in calling special and particular attention to the announcement in the proper column of the candidacy of Dr. F. W. Burger for the office of district clerk of McLennan county. It is unnecessary to say that Dr. Burger is eminently fitted for the important office of district clerk. He is well known to nearly every voter in the county and where he is the best known he stands highest for business ability, integrity and other qualities which the public look for in an important public service in the years 1888, '89 and '90 Dr. Burger was the superintendent of public schools of the county, and his industry, judgment and affability in the functions of that office endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. An essentially Southern man with broad and liberal views, of liberal education and fine attainments he would fill the office of district clerk with ability and to the satisfaction of all. THE NEWS commends Dr. Burger to the kindly officers of voters as a man for the office of district clerk whose superior cannot be found in the county.

A Serious Accident.

Police Officer W. T. Briggs while on his way home last night from a visit to his mother at Wichita Falls stepped off the train at a small station a short distance this side of that place and in attempting to board it while in motion missed his footing and fell. He was dragged about fifty yards before discovered and the train stopped and sustained serious bruises from which he is suffering much pain. Deputy Sheriff Tom Maddin who was on his return trip from Greenville, where he had been to accompany an attached witness, boarded the same train at Hillsboro and contributed as much as possible to the comfort of his insured fellow officer, during the remainder of the trip.

The injuries of Mr. Briggs are painful and will perhaps keep him confined to his room about a month but they are not considered dangerous.

SOME NOTABLE PEOPLE.

German residents of Buenos Ayres have sent Bismarck as a birthday present a magnificent album containing views of the city and suburbs.

Zebulon Sypher, a pork raiser of Norwood, Ill., is said to closely resemble pictures of Shakespeare. Of course, he believes in the baconian Sypher, too.

One of the prominent Prohibitionists of Kansas, it is stated, is named Booze. He is one man who could find out what's in a name by trying it on, but will not.

The total value of the estate of the recently deceased Prince Victor, of Hohenlohe, formerly Governor and Constable of Windsor Castle, is reported at less than 25,000.

Patti sang "Little Annie Rooney" in Chicago on Wednesday evening. It is understood that Nicolina is practicing that other classic about the descent of Mr. McGinty.

Mr. Noble, a Cambridge sculptor, is making for exhibition at the Chicago fair a bronze statue to represent a man perfectly proportioned according to the ideas of Dr. Sargent, the Physical Director at Harvard.

Mr. Wilson, who recently gave his name to Lady Sarah Churchill (of the Marlborough family,) has taken hers in exchange, and now adds "Churchill" to his usual signature.

Lord Alington introduced a unique innovation at his recent marriage to Miss Leigh. Two of the bridesmaids were his own grand-daughters. The example will not be generally followed.

Mrs. John T. Adair, the American wife of an Irish gentleman, has an Irish castle, an English estate and a big Texas ranch, but discards them all for the charms of London life. She was a Miss Wadsworth, 20 years or so ago, a member of a well known Tennessee family of that name.

Cheap Lots.

The only cheap lots offered in Waco for the last five years are those now on the market in the Kirkpatrick Addition, East Waco. These lots are being sold for one-half their real value, making a chance to secure a desirable home such as will never occur again.

Cheap Lots.

These lots lie high and dry. They overlook a large portion of the city and have perfect drainage. They lie in the healthiest part of the city, catching the pure breezes from the prairie untaunted by passage over any part of the city.

Cheap Lots.

These lots have the finest soil, a rich sandy loam, admirable for gardens, and are underlaid with pure water in inexhaustible quantities at a depth of fifteen and sixteen feet, which can be used for irrigation.

Cheap Lots.

These lots are closer to the center of the city than any other addition, and at the same distance lots are selling for three and five times the price asked for these. There is millions in it for persons of small means. Call on Mrs. or P. G. Kirkpatrick, southwest corner Eighth and Clay street.

All parties desiring plats of the Kirkpatrick addition can obtain them upon application.
