LOUISIANA ELECTION.

THE FOUR SIDED BATTLE WITH BALLOTS GOES ON.

In the Crescent City, Two Republican Candidates, Two Democratic and One-Third Party Man—A Man Killed Over a Political Dispute.

NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—The great four sided political battle in the state of Louisiana between the two factions of the Democratic party and the two wings of the Republican party has reached its climax in to-day's general election. The third party are also in the field, but receive but little notice. Accordingly there are five state tickets in the field, viz: McEnery, Democrat; Foster, Democrat; Breaux, Republican; Leonard, Republican and Tannehill, Third Party. The election is for all state offices district, parish and local officers, and municipal government of New Orleans. All ballots printed are against the lottery amendment. A vigorous fight will be made on the legislature, which may have to count the vote to determine the results if charges of fraud are made. The weather is warm and cloudy. The polls opened promptly throughout the state and city and no disturbances. An hour later a difficulty arose at the first precinct in the Fifth ward where a contest is going on. It was between a Foster and a DeEnery supporter. Pistols were drawn but shooting was prevented. No police officers have been sworn in, but Major Clyn, of state military, has detailed troops at different arsenals as a means of precaution. State officers this morning say the soldiers will not be ordered out except a serious difficulty occurs. The killing of John E. Madden in Clayborne parish by Marshal Lewis yesterday in a dispute over politics in a parish strongly favoring Foster, creates a feeling of uneasiness throughout the state. Indication are that fully ninety per cent. of the 50,000 registered voters will exercise their rights. A heavy negro vote is being cast in the state.

A MILLION DOLLAR FAIR.

Terrible Loss of Property at Kenoska, Wis.

By Associated Press to the News.

KENOSKA, Wis., April 19.—A destructive fire is raging here. Flames broke out shortly after midnight. The losses include the plant of the Northwestern Wire Matting company, Kress Manufacturing company and Head and Southerlands lumber yards, Boldwins coal yards, Bain's lumber yard, and a number of dwellings and small buildings. Fire at 9:30 was unchecked. Engines were on the spot from Milwaukee and Racine. Losses up to 9 a. m. amount to $600,000 or $700,000. At 9:30 flames were still racing fiercely, but their spread had apparently been checked. The burned district is in the territory between Lake and Main street.

Later—After burning four squares the conflagration was brought under control. Flames drove out the occupants of the Western Union Telegraph office but did not burn the building. Temporary quarters were provided in a building some distance from the scene of the fire and with which the company's wires communicated. Engines from Milwaukee and Racine aided in avoiding a more terrible catastrophe. About 10 a. m. the telephone exchange was temporarily threatened the fire reaching into the next block. The Northwestern Wire Matting company and Southerland Lumber company were among the chief sufferers. No loss of life was reported. Estimated damage is almost impossible to obtain. An authority puts the figures at probably $1,000,000.

THIS IS THEIR GAME.

They are for Hogg, if they can get him, if not, a Third Party Man.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 19.—Since Tracy was here last Saturday organizing the third party, it transpires that an entirely original departure is proposed. The county Democratic executive committee promulgated a basis for primary action which will allow any voter to participate who makes a cheap promise to vote the ticket. The third party people propose to let their plans remain in abeyance until those Democratic primaries are over. If they can capture these primaries, nominate their county and legislative ticket and instruct for Hogg, they will remain Democrats, but if they fail in this they will organize their new party. Some of them really support Hogg, while another set want him nominated because they believe he will be easier to beat before the people than Clark

O. W. BUCK ACQUITTED.

The Jury Instructed to Return a Verdict of Not Guilty.

The trial of O. W. Buck, charged with the killing of Charlie Fowler on the 23rd of January last, which commenced yesterday morning in the district court was concluded this afternoon at 2 o'clock, resulting in an honorable acquittal of the defendant.

At the conclusion of the testimony Judge Goodrich instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty which was at once done.

While all who know anything about the unfortunate affair which resulted in the untimely death of a fellow being in the flower of manhood, and regret—none more than Mr. Buck himself—the sad occurrence his friends feel that by a verdict of his peers he has been vindicated and whatever blotch or stain thought by some to be upon his character has been removed.

Mr. Buck came to Waco from Sioux Falls, Dakota, about two years ago and entered into the hotel business, at a time when the patronage of the house was so run down as to cause many to doubt the wisdom of the step as a business venture, but by his indomitable energy, courtesy and honesty he has now one of the best appointed hotels in the South doing an immense business, and has the confidence and respect of a large circle of friends.

Twenty Years in Texas.

Today twenty years ago mine host G. H. Busse, the genial proprietor of the Hotel Royal, came to Texas, since when he has been an honored resident of the state and of our sister republic. He came to Texas with a mission. Hundreds of men have come here with a mission, some to convert the natives, others to build railroads, but Mr. Busse came here to make people fat, jolly and rubicund like himself, and he has been doing that for twenty years with unparalleled success. First at Jefferson he won plaudits for his cooks, his cuisine, his juicy steaks and sublime roasts, then at Tyler, then at Hearne, and then at Monterey, Mexico. In each place men grew fat at his table and his departure was an epoch of mourning. Drummers and travelers checked him up and went out of their way scores of miles to get one of his square meals. He is known by travelers from Maine to California.

Waco has an acquisition in mine host of the Hotel Royal and the hotel is prospering hugely under his management. With ripe experience and prodigious success in catering to the public, and of a sunny reputation for kindness of manner and obliging disposition, he comes to Waco as the good angel of people who have good appetites and those who have none. The Hotel Royal is prospering under a man who knows how to keep an inn. Long live mine host of the Hotel Royal and may he live another twenty years in Texas to make people fat and happy.

In a Bad Fix.

To the Public and Sanitary Committee and Aldermen—If you will step into the alley on South Sixth street, rear of 113, you will be greeted with a stench that would make a butcher's bull dog back out of an ofal wagon. JUST BREATHING.

TERRIBLE HAIL STORM.

Windows and Glass Doors of a Passenger Train Riddled.

Special to the News.

PARIS, Tex., April 19.—A terrible hail storm passed over the country around Antlers, I. T., last night which did much damage. The San Francisco passenger train that reached here this morning encountered a storm a short distance this side of Antlers and every window on the east side was riddled as if by bullets. The glass doors of the coaches were also broken. It is said the hail stones were as big as a man's fist. The full extent of damage cannot be learned.
