DULUTH, Minn., April 21.—George Peters, an explorer, has just arrived in the city from the northern boundary of Itasca county where he has been looking up lands on the Canadian side. He came across the bodies of two dead men in a badly decomposed state at a point where the Little Elk empties into Rainy lake. From papers found under the bodies the name of one is believed to be Henry Mathews of Cincinnati. Near at hand was a Winchester rifle, two small axes and some camp trinkets. The men were apparently about 30 years old.

ONE OF THE FAT MEN.

Mr. Cleveland is Made an Honorary Member of the Dallas Club.

DALLAS, April 21.—The Fat Men's club of Dallas recently selected ex-President Cleveland as an honorary member. In accepting Mr. Cleveland says:

New York, April 11, 1892.—W. A. Disborough, Esq., president, etc.—My dear sir: I have received all sorts of friendly assurances, but have never until your letter came had kindly feeling presented to me by the pound. It is very impressive and conveys an idea of irresistible force and momentum.

In looking over the weights of the officers of the Fat Men's association I am quite certain that I have "about me" some of the qualifications necessary to membership which would nearly match in volume that which has secured admission to other parties. For instance, I don't believe your sentinel, Mr. Lake, would have it in his heart nor in his bulk to deny me entrance.

It is therefore with feeling of appreciation and obese fraternity that I thank the association through you for the expression of confidence and esteem which you transmit.

Yours very truly,
GROVER CLEVELAND.
