

Waco Daily News.TO ADVERTISERS.

THE NEWS will take advertising with the understanding that if it has not a larger local circulation than any daily paper published in Waco, no charge will be made for the advertisement.

The Cameron excursion was grand.

The time for work has arrived, and McLennan county is aroused for Clark.

The artesian water question promises to be an interesting one in Waco in future.

At Cameron today the clash between the two great leaders took place and Hogg is our meat.

When it comes to reason versus bluster, reason gets there every time with the people of Texas.

Slippery Aleck should bring his famous army order into requisition on Hogg's behalf. "Fighting us makes us worse."

The next thing for Waco to attend to is the Lorena barbecue Friday. Waco must do the handsome thing by our Lorena friends.

After Judge Clark bacon's his excellency at Cleburne he will rest one day and speak to the people of three or four counties at Lorena.

The rally last night at the court house and the throng of Waco people that went to Cameron today gives the lie to the statement that Judge Clark is dishonest in his professions.

There are twenty-one different tracts of land in McLennan county the title of which would be clouded by Hogg's Val Verde suits if he had been successful as he claims to have been.

Wonder if Hogg has found a better way to answer the proposition to loan the school fund to the people made by Judge Clark than the charge at McKinney that the people would cheat the state?

With the Hogg platform adopted at San Antonio in August, 1890, before us we are still puzzled to know what authority Gov. Hogg had for recommending a loan of the school money to the railroads.

With section 7 of the San Antonio platform before our eyes, we charge Gov. Hogg with gross violation of it when he signed the alien land law. The intent of that law was to "impair vested rights."

It is said Editor Watterson will take a trip to Europe if Cleveland is nominated. It is "important if true" which reminds us that perhaps Editor Senter of the Fort Worth Gazette will join him, just to preserve an equilibrium you know.

Ex Governor Roberts, in writing an endorsement of Hogg's administration says it has been brilliant, but the wave of popular favor upon which the governor was promoted "might have been ephemeral." Wonder if anybody's mind will revert to the hair trunk campaign while reading?

If Hogg had succeeded in "saving to the state" 1,200,000 acres of land by his Val Verde suits, he would have robbed thousands of honest citizens who had bought their land in good faith from the railroads. Several of these would have been citizens of McLennan county. The certificates issued upon the McLennan county lands, however, were issued under the statute of 1854, and the decision of the court does not cover them. But, Hogg counts them in all the same.

PURE LARD BILL A FRAUD.

The bill which passed the United States senate last month under the title of Paddock's pure food bill has a very pretty name, but it is nevertheless pronounced a fraud, says the Houston Post.

"It is the same bill which failed in the last congress when the objections to it were sufficiently pointed out and which have not been covered by amendments.

The bill passed the senate and went to the house simply because those interested in defeating such a measure were not there to protest against it with such force as would be effective, although Senators Palmer, Vest and a few other Democrats pointed out invincible reasons why it should not become a law. On the face of it it looks like a good bill, meant to protect the public against adulterations of food products and the sale of unworthy patent nostrums. Yet, as the New York Sun aptly says, it opens the way for the most offensive and unnecessary inquisition into the business of private citizens, attending to their own business in their own states; and it confers upon the department of agriculture extraordinary powers. It intrusts to a changing body of experts or incompetents, to be known as the food section of the chemical division of Mr. Rusk's department, the duty of analyzing or having analyzed samples of food and drugs exposed for sale in any state or territory other than that in which they were manufactured, or in a foreign country if they are in the original package. It makes a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment, the introduction into one state or territory from another of any food or drug adulterated or improperly branded. A drug, under the provisions of this act, is any medicine, internal or external. A food is anything plain or mixed, simple or compound, which is used for food or drink by mortal man. Every person who ships food or drugs from one state to another, or exposes the same for sale, must furnish samples to the agents of the food section of the chemical division of the department of agriculture.

This is a centralization of power in a department of the government at Washington for which the people are not prepared. They prefer that the states should take care of the food or drugs that are manufactured and sold within their limits. Such a law would strike out of existence a vast number of preparations known under the title of proprietary articles which are now staple articles of commerce and this would be done in the interest, perhaps, of some other articles.

The Chicago "pure lard bill," which was conceived in the interest of a few western hogs and aimed at the Southern cotton seed oil industry, is not yet forgotten.

A TRAIN WRECK.

Engineer and Fireman Killed and Buried Under the Wreck.
By Associated Press to The News.

WESTVILLE, Ind., May 3.—The north-bound freight train on the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroad was wrecked at a point a mile north of Otis at 12:30 o'clock yesterday. Train No. 56, John Murray engineer, dashed through a bridge. The engine and fresh meat cars were mashed down. The caboose and two cars remained on the track.

The bodies of the engineer fireman and brakeman are buried in the water beneath an immense mass of wreckage. The freshest weakened the bridge. The killed are: Engineer John Murray, Michigan City, leaves a wife and two children; James Bowen, fireman, single, Eoon, Ind.; Elmer Bron, head brakeman, Michigan City.

SOME CLIPPINGS.

The Palestine Picayune observes: That speech of Hogg's must surely have been tangled up with that dog law.

THE NEWS has been waiting for some one to explain what that speech was tangled up with.

The Tyler Record says.

"The commission is a settled factor in Texas politics. No one wants to destroy it, but the people are clamoring for their rights in the selection of her commissioners. Texans are too chivalrous, too democratic, too intelligent, too capable of attending to its affairs to delegate this authority and patronage to one servant. 'In a multitude of counsel there is much wisdom,' and the people demand to say who shall serve them. Paternalism seems to be the tactics of some of the present administration, but it won't work."

This is from a Tyler paper which speaks for the people not the politicians.

The Austin Evening News says:

If Judge Gerald is as successful making sledgehammer speeches in his race for congress as in the legislature, he will give Mr. Pendleton as much as he can do.

He has two other candidates besides Mr. Pendleton to keep busy, but he succeeds admirably. They are on his platform and they don't know exactly why they are there. It is hard work to explain a thing you don't exactly understand.

The San Antonio Express says: "The governor's complaint during the session of the legislature that his canvass was suffering by reason of his inability to take the stump, does not appear to have been justified. Now that he is spreading himself for all he is worth, his loss of popularity is only accelerated."

The Express is right. Clark has gained faster since Hogg took the stump than before.
