Look out for Hogg's "mercenaries."

Look out for the administration emissaries.

Hogg has distributed one million dollars patronage.

Hogg's mercenary troops number more than a legion.

Mercenary troops have good execution, but their heart is not in their work.

There is a life and death struggle between the mercenary forces of General Hogg and the unpaid soldiery of a patriot.

How much could Hogg's campaign managers raise for campaign purposes at ten per cent. of the one million dollars patronage fund? Answer: Ten thousand dollars.

An assessment of ten per cent of one million dollar pap fund that Hogg has the care of as governor of the state, would swell the fund that Hogg's National banker campaign committee have raised for him.

Where many have not contributed by assessment, good machine service is a fair equivalent, and a large number of Hogg's appointees are in this way contributing their share to the Hogg campaign fund. They are giving their service.

Those two National banks in Austin that are reaping so much benefit from Hogg's administration by the handling of the means belonging to the public fund can afford to help poor little Hogg who has said that he "did" not have anybody to put up money for him.

Governor Hogg says he appointed Chilton to the United States senate "because he wanted to." A pretty good reason for an individual's act, but not so good for the servant of 2,500,000 people. The people turned Chilton out and put Mills in because they wanted to. Do you see

The charges made against Gov. Hogg by the opposition are against him as a public official, and not a single charge has been made against his private character. Upon the other hand the administration speakers, agents and papers are continually attacking Judge Clark's private character, accusing him of dishonesty as a citizen and lawyer, of unscrupulousness as a politician. Who is "slinging slime and slander" in this campaign?

Governor Hogg said at San Antonio that he was "overwhelmingly elected" governor on his record as attorney general. Certainly, certainly. Texas was overwhelmed by his election, if we use the word literally. Overwhelm means to overspread or crush beneath something violent and weighty, that covers or encompasses the whole; to immerse and bear down; to overcome to crush. (See Webster's Unabridged and the condition of the business interests of the state) oh yes, Hogg was "overwhelmingly elected."

A BUSINESS MAN'S FIGHT.

"This is a business man's country" says The Texas Traveler "and every business man should have a voice in its politics and a hand in the selection of the men who are to govern. The Traveler is not a political paper any more than the commercial travelers are politicians, but each has the interest of his country at heart, and, as a patriotic citizen, must contribute something toward the general good in the exercise of his privileges of citizenship. There is a contest in Texas just now which challenges the attention of all the people of the state, whether engaged in commercial pursuits or any other. In the contest for state supremacy two parties are represented in the gubernatorial race—the party of liberal ideas, of progress and of business prosperity, and the party of mossbackism, * * *

* * * of opposition to capital, to material development and to enterprise generally. If it were simply a question of preference between political parties, a mere fight between politicians, the Traveler would have no part in it, and its constituency, for the most part, would be at least a trifle indifferent. As it is, however, the fight is between progress and mossbackism, between a faction which would retard the development of the state's resources, build up a sentiment of hostility between the urban and rural population, drive capital from the state and make productive industry discreditable, and another faction which would extend and enlarge all the avenues of trade and industry, bring labor and capital closer together in bonds of sympathy and mutual interest and push Texas ahead in the race for material, industrial and commercial supremacy. James Stephen Hogg, who was carried into the gubernatorial chair two years ago by one of those popular waves which occasionally sweep over the country, represents the worst elements in his faction of the party, and his two years' administration of the state government bankrupted hundreds of her citizens and set the state back at least five years. Judge Clark, who represents the live, enterprising and progressive elements, seeks to wrest the sceptre from Governor Hogg and give Texas a liberal and intelligent administration. The Traveler's sympathy is naturally with progress and enterprise, and hence it is that the business men are almost unanimous for Clark.

WHY WE WILL WIN.

While Judge Clark's campaign may not have the advantages that give strength and power to the administration's forces, it still has some elements about it that make a foe worthy of any steel. Governor Hogg is in possession of the fortress. He is entrenched and his fighting forces are numerous, but to a certain extent these are like the mercenary forces of an army, whose interest has been purchased. The million dollar patronage which he has dispensed, is the hold he has upon them. In addition to this, he has the advantage of having the friendship and assistance in his campaign of the chairman of the Democracy of the state, but as an offset to this, he has the most vulnerable record that has ever been presented to a people for endorsement. In the newspaper world, Judge Clark has the advantage by large odds. He is supported by nearly every daily in the state except two of the larger ones, and they are fighting Hogg, and among the weeklies, with rare exceptions, the stronger of them are supporting him also and exerting a powerful influence upon the public mind. Their columns each week are filled with strong arguments, and appeals to the reason of their patrons. Indeed, there is an activity among the newspaper men who favor Judge Clark that is almost wonderful. One of the best indications of the strength of his cause is the almost insatiable demand for literature. As sure as the people call for argument, so sure is the public mind awakened, and as the campaign with reference to Judge Clark is one of education, there is not a doubt but that within the next two months the reasons of men will be reached, and then will follow the tender impulse of the heart. The inroads that are being made by Judge Clark's friends through the press and on the stump, against the efforts of Gov. Hogg to darken the reasons of men, are being more apparent every day. The barriers of ignorance and bigotry, intolerance and prejudice, are fast giving away before the resistless torrents of logic and patriotism.

The railroad employees, stung by the charge that they were bullied by their employers, are indignant, as they should be. Gov. Hogg has lost all the friends he had among them by his sweeping charge, accusing them, virtually, with being so many cattle to be driven to the polls by bosses.

Governor Hogg is making the same fight on the newspapers that he has been making on the railroads for four years. The next thing he will be demanding perhaps will be a commission to regulate the newspapers of Texas.

TEN PIANOS

Bought for Prof. Edgerton's Oak Cliff College.

Mr. Geo. W. Stief, manufacturer of the Celebrated Stief piano, of Baltimore, Md., is in the city. He placed one of their fine pianos in the Waco Female college last November and it has won for him a large order. He has procured an order from Professor Edgerton for ten $550 instruments to be delivered August 1, and used in the conservatory of music, of Oak Cliff college, for young ladies, Oak Cliff, Tex.; of which prof. M. Thos. Edgerton will be president. This will be the finest equipped college for young ladies in the south. Professor Edgerton has already secured Prof. A. G. Reichart of Kentucky, one of the finest pianists and violinists in the country, as director of the conservatory, and A. Sumpter Laird, A. M., of Georgia, one of the leading educators of that state for the chair of mathematics.

Other strong teachers will be associated with them to develop this educational enterprise.

For Sale—A Rare Bargain.

I have a complete set of abstract books of the deed records of the city of Waco and its suburbs, consisting of thirteen large volumes, with ample room to keep the records for twenty years brought down to date. These books I wish to sell and will let them go at a bargain for cash, or I will trade them for real estate in the city of Waco. Not being able to get a suitable man to make out abstracts and keep the books, and being unable to give the necessary time to the books myself, is my reason for wanting to sell. If desired I can furnish desk room and vault room for the books in my office for the purchaser. This is a splendid opportunity for a man to start up a good business. The right kind of a man can get a bargain, not only in these abstract books, but in city real estate. My list of bargains cannot be equalled. Call and see me. Office in Pacific hotel building.
