A Mother's Mistake.
 Mothers frequently make a mistake in neglecting the cough of a child. A Fort Wayne, Ind., lady writes: My little daughter 6 years old had a severe cough but as it was nothing unusual I thought nothing of it, and allowed it to run on for 4 or 5 weeks, when it became so obstinate she began losing flesh. I called in a physician who treated her three weeks without benefit. A neighbor insisted upon my trying Ballard's Horehound Syrup; it relieved her from the first dose and she began gaining flesh rapidly, when we had used two bottles her cough had entirely disappeared. I would not be without it. It does not constipate my children. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is free from Opiates. It's the most soothing throat and lung medicine in the world. Price 50c. and $1.00. Sold

HOGG AND THE ALLIANCE

HIS INSULT TO THE ORDER AT CORSICANA

Charges the Waco Meeting with Being a Gang of Lobbyist and the Mercury Takes the Hair Off His Excellency.

From the Southern Mercury.

Governor Hogg, who has all along been coquetting with the alliancemen of Texas, and asserting that he was the only safe repository of their principles, let the cat out of the bag in his speech at Corsicana on April 29th, last.

Being asked by an old man in the audience, why he did not appoint S.
 D. A. Duncan on the railroad commission, said:

"Now you want to ask the question if I would have appointed Duncan if the resolutions had reached me. I simply tell you no, no, no. I would not have appointed him. [Applause and cheers.] At this point the old gentleman who asked the speaker the question got up to ask another, and the crowd showed a disposition to hiss him, which the governor promptly stopped, and when quiet had been restored the old man said: "I am a Hogg man, but there is a considerable Third party following in Navarro, and I just wanted them to know how it was. [Applause.] Can you explain why these men are against you, Gov. Hogg?" That's all right. Ask anything you want and I will not get offended, nor offend you. When the Alliance as an order made the demand upon the governor of the state it was getting a little too big for its breeches! [Cheers and applause.] I am the servant of the whole people and not of any particular class. I respect religious organizations, I respect social organizations, I respect political organizations, but when an organization outside of the Democratic party rises up to command me they will get fooled every time. If you have any demands to make on your servants, make them in your platform, and if it suits me I will obey, and if it don't I will not run. I did not feel like appointing the man the Alliance suggested. I felt that if the Alliance made the demands on me in good faith they would not be mixed up with the lobby in Austin. [Applause from Tom Smith's corner.] There was a meeting at Waco of a lot of railroad lobbyists and a few fellows calling themselves Alliance-men. [Applause and cheers.] Before it adjourned, some of them in the same month had been down in Austin trying to run the legislature."

When Hon. Jas. S. Hogg was a candidate for governor in 1890 he was the avowed champion of the Alliance, which had, in a prior state Alliance assembled, declared by a unanimous vote in favor of a railroad commission, (It must not be forgotten that prior to the State Alliance promulgating this demand, Jas. Hogg was opposed to a railroad commission.) His Rusk speech was accepted as an espousal of the alliance demands upon the state government, and to a man, alliance-men began a vigorous campaign in his behalf. The San Antonio convention showed the result of their united efforts. At the San Antonio convention Mr. Hogg had everything his own way; he dictated who should compose the committee on platform, and what the platform should be.
 When the platform was published, the first act of Mr. Hogg's duplicity, was shown up by the committee going out of its way to stab the Alliance sub-treasury plan. Some of the delegates caught on then, but the enthusiasm and hurrah was so great that they could not be heard.

The sub treasury plan at that time, owing to the heat of the campaign, had not been generally discussed. The members of the Alliance; however, in no way entered into the state campaign, and the farmers were so enthusiastic over their victory that they lost sight of everything else but state polity and selected as delegates any one who would vote for "Hogg and the commission."

Imagine their surprise when weeks afterwards they recognized the insidious stab at the Alliance demands.
 Notwithstanding all this, Alliance-men generally believed that Jas. S. Hogg was incapable of such duplicity and remained his steadfast friends till after he had recommended the loaning of the sacred school fund to the very men that he had denounced as robbers of the worst type; and demanded uncompromisingly, that the 22nd legislature make the railway commissioners appointive by the governor for all time. These unprece-dent autoeratic acts convinced every loyal alliance-man that they had been betrayed. Having accomplished his purpose, he attempted to destroy the alliance by conspiring with a few members who had been convinced of disloyalty to the principles of the order. The first move was to organize a bogus state alliance. This move culminating in an abortion, he and Finley next read the alliance out of the Democratic party.

These are plain facts, which prove conclusively, that the only thing that makes the alliance "too big for its breeches" is, that Hogg can't lead its members around by the nose. To hide this, he resorts to the low Annanias dodge, by stating that the Waco conference of April, 1891, was composed of "railroad lobbyists."

Every man that took any part in that conference was a member of the Farmers' Alliance, and he knew it.
 If Alliance-men had permitted Mr.
 Hogg to become their dictator in all things, they could have gotten anything within his gift. This is proven by the fact that he appointed most of the Austin manifesto signers to office and ignored every loyal Alliance-man.

The governor's fling at the alliance legislative committee shows the virus of the rabid demagogue. The State Alliance has had a legislative committee in attendance upon every legislature since 1886, and no one has been heard to denounce it until Mr. Hogg undertook to establish the Hogg autocracy.

Mr. Hogg's whole record, since elected governor by alliance votes, has been a deliberate insult to every member of the order, and The Mercury challenges anyone to disprove it. He has for thirteen months been the arch conspirator in a deliberate effort to destroy the order. Under such circumstances is it any wonder that the members of the order are after his official scalp?

Those Meetings for Men.

The workers and members of the Association feel very much encouraged over the prospect of the special meeting for men, now being held at the Association hall. Last night the room was crowded and after the song service Messrs. Lewis and Warren made earnest practical talks on the necessity of being willing to give up all for Christ, the scripture read being the account of the rich young ruler.
 When the invitation was given quite a number of men asked to be prayed for and instructed in the right way.
 The after meetings are good; the Christian young men sit and talk personally with the unsaved, showing them the right way.

The young men are invited to come tonight at 8:30 sharp. Meeting lasts just one hour.

German Immigrants.

Mr. F. Lueders of the Waco Post German paper has received a letter from Davenport Iowa stating that on May 25 thirty or forty farmers would leave there for central Texas having in view McLennan, Hill, Limestone, Navarro and Ellis counties in one of which they wish to settle. The whole party will want about 15000 acres of land and the land men in Waco would do well to see Mr. Lueders and put themselves in communication with the party.

IN THE COURTS.

DISTRICT COURT.

In the case of the Minnesota Threshing Machine company vs. S. Amsler et al., which was tried this morning in the district court, a judgment was rendered in favor of the defendants.

Two new suits were filed today, viz:
 Jas. Perry et al. vs. W. T. Allen et al., and R. T. Dennis & Bro. vs. O.
 W. David. They are both suits for debt.

COUNTY COURT.

A case styled A. E. Harder vs. C.
 Donnell was tried this morning in the county court and judgment rendered for the plaintiff. Notice of appeal was given.

JUSTICE COURT.

Jenny Murray was acquitted this morning, in Justice Gallagher's court, of the charge of abusive language.
 Fannie Davis and Emma Thompson were convicted in the same court of disturbing the peace, and not being able to pay their fines, were taken to jail. They both declared positively that they would not go to jail, but were enticed as far as the court house steps by officer Bright-well. The officer was at the time walking between them when they parted, one running one way and the other in an exactly opposite direction.
 Mr. Brightwell hesitated for a moment as though undecided which one he would pursue. He quickly decided, however, after viewing first one of the fugitives, from head to foot, and then the other to recapture the smaller, which after a lively chase he succeeded in doing.

Deputy Sheriff George Crippen captured the other and after a hard tussle, with the help of Deputy Sam Whaley, they were successful in placing them, hors de combat, behind the bars.

PUT UP, OR SHUT UP.

A Courteous Invitation to Hon. T.
 U. Lubbock and the Hogg Leaders.

Houston Post.
 Russell H. Kingsbury, Esq., the eloquent young advocate of Waco, will address the citizens of Houston at the market house on Friday evening on the gubernatorial question.

It is through joint discussions, where both sides can be heard, that the people are enabled to intelligently inform themselves of the issues and calmly and maturely arrive at correct conclusions.

The friends of Judge Clark have no fear as to the verdict of the people when the facts are presented to them in fair and truthful form. To the end that the friends of Governor Hogg may have every opportunity to present such vindication for his official acts as they desire to offer the Herald, on behalf of Mr. Kingsbury, tenders an invitation to the friends of Governor Hogg to divide time with any speaker they may desire to put forward. Mr. Kingsbury desires that the invitation be especially extended to Hon. T. U. Lubbock, but will cheerfully divide time with Major Loosan or any of his lieutenants, in the event Senator Lubbock should be indisposed or publicly unable to champion the cause of his idolized chieftain.

Drive the devil out of the family and he will have no home anywhere.
