WOMAN ENRAGED AT PASTOR'S REMARKS CONCERNING SOUL OF DECEASED, STOPS FUNERAL SERVICE COMPLETED AT HOME BY HUSBAND.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Thomas Vasa, a Negro somewhere in the late sixties, has been for more than twenty years in the service of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nelson of 201 Sanford street, Flushing, before he died last Saturday, and he had been so faithfully and devotedly that they had come to look upon him almost as a member of their family, and that was the reason Mrs. Nelson was so angry at his funeral last Monday afternoon when the preacher, the Rev. Henry Parker, began to upbraid the dead man and told the congregation he doubted if the soul of Thomas Vasa would be saved.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," Mrs. Nelson said. "Thomas was a good man. He had been with us for twenty years, and he had done everything he could to serve us well. I don't know what the preacher was saying. Thomas was not a Christian, and that he would not be saved, because I never saw him lead a decent Christian life for more than twenty years."

Mrs. Nelson and her husband were sitting about the center of the church.

DISCUSSIONS SPECIALIZED IN ALL PHASES OF LIFE AS TO CONCERNS NEGROES. MANY MOST NOTED SOCIAL STUDENTS PRESENT.

The National Conference of Social Workers in session in Chicago, Oct. 15-22, assembled the country's foremost experts in the handling of problems affecting the Negro population. Questions of unemployment, industrial relations, health, housing, recreation, labor policy, migration problems as well as the technique of social service, classification and use of the various agencies, racial relations came in for a thorough and intelligent discussion. The conference was opened by Judge Edward O. Brown of the Executive Board of the Chicago Urban League, Graham Taylor outlining general problems. He described present relations as an expression of an after war psychosis, mentioned other manifestations of such lawless organizations as the Ku Klux Klan and better American association of California and asserted that the sound sober judgment of real Americans would overcome these and restore balance.

John T. Clark of Pittsburgh reported a more favorable situation. The plan of Negro social workers in plants to have housing, recreation, and other services were retained as seven per cent of the total cost. Geo. Buckner of St. Louis discussed work of health campaigns. Some 40,000 Negroes were reached in a recent drive under his direction. Unemployment was discussed by William H. Conners of Cleveland.
