NOVEL CO-OPERATION.

The Keystone Watch Club Company is a corporation doing business in Philadelphia, but having agencies in the principal cities of the country. Beside being engaged in the manufacture of watches, it has a novel method of disposing of them by what is called the co-operative club system. Similar in its methods to co-operative banks and building associations the scheme is to organize a club of 36 members for a gentleman's watch and one of 36 for a lady's watch. Each member of a club pays $1 per week until the total amount due is paid, when a receipt in full is given to the holder of the watch. Thus every week $36 or the price of the watch is paid in. Instead of holding the watches until each member is entitled to receive one, at the end of each week the members of the club vote the watch, one for one of their number. For the protection of those who have paid their dollar, the watch is held by the member subject to his complying with the conditions under which he receives it. When all have paid in $36 the receipts are given.

GOLD WATCH FOR $1.00 A WEEK.

The Best Way to get a first class Gold Watch is the co-operative club system. The Watch is an American Lever Stem Winder, containing every essential to accuracy and durability, and has in addition numerous other improvements. It is absolutely the only Best and Damp-proof Movement made in the world and is jeweled with genuine Rubies. The Patent Stem Wind and Set is the strongest and simplest made. This watch is fully equal for appearance, accuracy, durability and service to any $75 Watch. Price in the Co-operative Club $38.00—either all cash down or $1.00 per week.

The Keystone Watch Club Company have engaged me as their agent here to organize clubs under the above explained novel plan. Everybody is enabled to secure a valuable and beautiful watch for $1 a week. The first club is nearly complete. Anybody desiring a good watch should not miss this chance. I will be obliged to anyone calling on me for particulars. Come and examine the watch for yourself. Respectfully,

Mysterious Fate.

TEXARKANA, Ark., March 6.—John E. Robinson, a young man who, it was alleged, attempted a criminal assault upon the little girl at the Tierney hotel here, and who was taken off by a crowd to be punished, as was reported in full this morning, has not been heard from since. He was taken away by the crowd on Tuesday night. Robinson sustains a good character at home and has some influential relatives. They are here to-day looking for him, and it is believed by many that, instead of being whipped and liberated, that the crowd made away with him. Robinson has many friends throughout the county, and it is now surmised will cause great trouble.

Judge Wm. Campbell, who was shot here by Gus Smith on Monday, is still alive. His physicians have despaired of his recovery, and the rumor is current to-night that he is dying. Judge Campbell was raised in this county, but has lived in Sherman and Bonham. He came from Beaumont here about two years ago, and about two months since married a beautiful and accomplished lady, a sister of Gus Smith. He has a brother, Col. R. W. Campbell, a prominent lawyer in Bonham, and a married daughter, Mrs. Capron, of Houston.

A Pretender in Trouble.

COLORADO, March 6.—A young man going by the name of J. C. Britton, claiming to be from Fort Worth, was arrested here last night on a charge of representing himself to be a United States deputy marshal. He had been in town several days and told several parties that he was here on secret business and had trace of a man he wanted. He also said that he was second lieutenant of the Fort Worth Fusiliers and that he was interested in a printing company in that city. When arrested he had no papers to prove his identity as an officer, and on trial plead guilty to the charge. He had an examining trial before Mayor Harness yesterday afternoon and was sent to El Paso for trial before the federal authorities.

Trouble Threatened at Panama.

NEW YORK, March 7.—One of the officers at the navy yard received a private letter from one of the cruisers at Aspinwall by the steamer Newport yesterday morning, which says trouble can hardly be averted when work on the Panama canal is practically stopped, as it will be on March 5. The letter says there has been a gradual reduction in the force for several months until now there are about 1000 men left, and they are living in camps along the line of the canal. It is feared they will not only try to take possession of the Panama railroad, but that the revolution which is reported to be breaking out in the interior will break out at the same time. The marines and sailors on the Atlanta and Osage are being drilled at small arms and with the galling gun every day, and the programme is that they shall take possession of the line of the railroad at the entrance of the town of Aspinwall so as to protect the American consulate. The marines and sailors on the British and French vessels are also being drilled and will land on March 4 to protect their consulates. The Colombian authorities have also a good force under good discipline and drill and claim they are sufficient to cope with any insurrection that may be started.

Dry Albany.

ALBANY, March 6.—The prohibition election passed off very quietly, although there was intense interest by both sides. The leading business men of the town turned out and worked hard all day. Early in the day it was seen that the pros were sure to win. The vote cast was not a large one, but both sides did all they possibly could do to gain the victory. The returns show the pros the victors nearly two to one. This settles the matter for two years, and for that period at least Albany will be a dry town.

Pat's Prompt Reply.

Echo was a mountain nymph in the old poetic days, but modern realism has changed her into an Irishman. At least the guests of a Georgian colonial must have concluded so. Col. Ogechee has a very remarkable echo on his place a few miles from this city; one, in fact, which would clearly repeat whole sentences.

The gentlemen to whom this assertion was made were interested, but incredulous, and arranged to accompany Col. Ogechee home the next afternoon to test the wonderful echo. The colonel found, on getting home, that in the heat of the discussion he had claimed more than the facts justified. Determined not to be beaten, he called his Irish laborer.

"Pat," says he, "some gentlemen are coming home with me to-morrow afternoon to hear the echo. Now, I want you to go across the river before time for me to arrive, so you can answer back whatever we may call out."

"You mane for me to play likey, sorr?" asked Pat, grinning.

"That's it exactly," said the colonel. "Now do you thoroughly understand that you are to answer back exactly what we say?"

"Oh, yis, sorr; ye can depend on me entirely."

Next afternoon the colonel took his friends to the river bank, and all were ready for the experiment.

Making a speaking trumpet of his hands, the colonel roared:

"Are you there?"

Back came the echo with startling distinctness:

"Yis, sorr; O've been here since four av the clock."—Savannah News.

A Costly Wage.

At the New York assize, in March, 1812, a trial came on in which Rev. B. Gilbert was plaintiff and Sir Mark Bykes, baronet, defendant. It appeared that the baronet, at his own table during a dinner party, in the course of a conversation respecting the hazard to which the life of Bonaparte was exposed, had offered, upon the receipt of 100 guineas, to pay 1 guinea a day as long as he (Bonaparte) should remain alive. Mr. Gilbert suddenly took up the offer; but, finding that the sense of the company was against making a serious matter of a bet proposed at a moment of conviviality, he said: "If you will submit, Sir Mark, to ask it as a favor, you may be off." This the baronet refused to do. The 100 guineas were sent by Mr. Gilbert, of which Sir Mark acknowledged the receipt, and he had continued paying the guinea a day for nearly three years. At length he declined further payment, and this action was for recovery of the sum still due upon the contract.—Chambers' Journal.
