

OMAHA EDITOR IS FOUND DEAD

Edward Rosewater, a Pioneer Newspaper Man and Proprietor of The Omaha Bee Passes Away in the District Court Room.

CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATE

Returned Last Evening, Presumably in Best of Health, From Waterloo, Where He Had Delivered an Address to the Old Soldiers of Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 31.—Edward Rosewater, proprietor and editor of the Omaha Bee and prominently identified with the political, financial and business world of Omaha, and the state of Nebraska for forty years, was found dead in the district court room on the third floor of the Bee building early today. Rosewater went to Waterloo, Neb. Thursday afternoon where he delivered an address to the old soldiers who were holding a picnic and reached Omaha on his return at 7 p. m. He was in his office during the evening, but was not seen by members of his family after returning from Waterloo. It is presumed that he stepped into the court room and sat down for a few minutes repose and fell asleep. The body was found by Judge Troup. Dr. Charles Rosewater attributed the sudden death of his brother to the excitement attending the long campaign in which

Mr. Rosewater was a prominent candidate for the nomination by the Nebraska state convention for the United States senate.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 31.—Edward Rosewater editor of the Bee and one of the Republican leaders of the state and a bitter political opponent of W. J. Bryan, was found dead seated in a chair in the district court room on the third floor of the Bee building today. His death is supposed to have been caused from heart disease.

Edward Rosewater was born in Bukovan, Bohemia, in 1841. He came to the United States in 1857 and began work as a telegraph operator when 18 years old. In 1863 he became manager of the Pacific Telegraph company, Omaha. He was a candidate for United States senatorship before the recent Republican state convention at Lincoln.

FAIRBANKS BECOMES DEADLOCK.

Vice-President of the Fairbanks Convention

Oswatimie, Minn., Aug. 31.—Yesterday on the battlefield where half a century ago an armed conflict over slavery took place, Vice President Fairbanks, delivered a stirring address to 6,000 persons. The occasion was the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Oswatimie in which John Brown was the central figure. Mr. Fairbanks spoke of the stirring times that led up to the border war in Missouri and Kansas. He told of the effect these early struggles had upon the country's history and then drew a lesson for the future generations.

SPEND BOHEMIAN NIGHT

Newspaper Men Will Go to Garden of the Gods and Sleep on Blankets in the Open Air.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 31.—Several hundred newspaper men who have been attending the convention of the International League of Press Clubs at Denver are today the guests of the Press Club and citizens of Colorado Springs. The city council has appropriated $250 for the entertainment of the visitors and this amount has been greatly increased by private subscriptions.

The visitors have been divided into three parties for today's excursions, one of them making the ascent of Pike's Peak, another visiting Williams and Grand Canyon and the cave of the winds, while the third is off on a pilgrimage to Helen Hunt's grave and the seven falls.

This evening the newspaper men will go to the Garden of the Gods and will spend a Bohemian night sleeping on blankets in the open air. This feature originated with the Pen and Pencil Club of Philadelphia. Quartermaster General Lee of the Colorado National Guard has been engaged to arrange for the affair and under his direction the beautiful garden will have the appearance of a military reservation tonight.

CORINTHIANS TO PLAY

Famous English Football Team Now Touring America Has Schedule of Games With Philadelphia Club.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 31.—The English Corinthian football team which is now touring America, has arrived here and will play three games—the first this afternoon with the Philadelphia cricket club team at Haverford this afternoon, with Alton at Monheim tomorrow, and with the All-Philadelphia football team Monday, Labor day.

C. Wreford-Brown, the captain of the famous team, is not an entire stranger in Philadelphia, having visited the city in 1891 with Lord Hawke's cricket team, when he scored 51 against Philadelphia Glemen's cricket team. He is still one of the best half-backs on the gridiron. M. Morgan-Owen, a Welshman, who has represented Wales in many international games, will act as captain when Wreford-Brown does not play.

Big Piece of Land.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 31.—"That Panhandle country is certainly the biggest piece of land I ever saw," said E. J. Buntz of Shenandoah, Iowa, this morning. Mr. Buntz was accompanied by A. Johnson, H. C. Smith and C. A. Henn, neighboring farmers who had been down into the Southwest country on a land buy trip. They visited many places around the Panhandle country, and saw the big crops and each bought land. We have large prairies up in Iowa, but they would not make one corner of those immense plains down in that country," continued Mr. Buntz. "We went there somewhat prejudiced, but we had a good deal of this feeling removed after seeing the country. The country we live in up in Iowa is a garden spot where the farm improvements are as fine as can be found anywhere. We raise bumper crops up there and land is high priced. But that Panhandle country is bound to come to the front very fast. They have good crops and the country looks very prosperous."
