A Growsome Wager.

New York Cor. Pittsburg Post: A wager was arranged between two members of the Stock Exchange last week. It was suggested by the death of John D. Flower and C. P. Huntington, and the participants each staked $1,000 on their ability to name the next prominent man in financial circles to die. Of course, the names of the persons selected cannot be given to the public. The terms are that the stakes shall be forfeited unless the persons named shall die within the next 30 days.

So far as the war department has made plans for the return of the volunteers from the Philippines, it is intended to commence the homeward movement about the middle of November.

Bryan Prevented a Stampede.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 3.—By a trite little joke sprung with cool, but effective declamation, W. J. Bryan today arrested a stampede of frantic men and women in the speaker's stand at Electric Park, preventing a panic. The Nebraskan had just fought his way through the crowd and had taken his place in front of the orator's platform. The overcrowded floor of the small stand creaked and began to give. Women shrieked in terror. Men tried to jump over the railing on the heads of the packed throng at the rear of the stand. "Hello," laughed Mr. Bryan, turning a smiling face upon the scarred people. "This can't be a democratic platform. There are no bad planks in that. Come, now, stand still, won't you? If you stand together where you are you will be all right. If you stampede the thing will fall on you." And he laughed as if it was an every-day occurrence. His self-assurance had a quieting effect on the crowd. When the dust cleared away it was found that a few people had fallen under the stand, but none were seriously injured.

One Worth a Dozen.

J. Q. Collier, Hubard, Ark., writes: Ramon's Liver Pills and Tonic Pellets are a special remedy for Sick Headache. I have been engaged in the mercantile business and confined in doors a great deal, and consequently suffer with De-ranged Liver. I have been using your medicines for this and the sick headache, and find much relief. I had tried many curealls for said disorder but they always failed. One of your red pills is worth more to me than a dozen of any other remedy I have ever taken. I shall always be glad that I obtained a supply of your remedies. For sale by All Dealers.

It costs a lot of money to amuse the American people. Four hundred organizations will be on the road this season. Over half will have an expense account of $1,000 per week, and some much more. Four hundred thousand dollars is placed as a conservative estimate of the cost of theatrical organizations, and in order that they may be a profit for the managers the receipts must be very much greater.—Nashville American.

An Alabama paper believes stealing is stealing and says: "When we all meet at the gate and St. Peter begins to question us it will be a hard matter to tell just how many pencils we have stolen. Pencils are small things, but they will make some mighty black marks."

Gets a Fortune for Living 26 Years.

Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Simply for having lived twenty-six years Miss Emily H. Trevor, one of the most popular young women of this city, today comes into a fortune of $1,158,795. This large amount represents Miss Trevor's share of the estate left by her father, the late John B. Trevor, who died December 20, 1890. By the terms of his will Miss Trevor, then a girl of 16, was to receive one-sixth of the estate when she attained the age of 20 years. That time has now arrived and a fortune has been gained in an extremely unique way.

LOST PROPERTY.

In the east window at E. W. Long's drug store, five empty whiskey bottles are displayed, surrounding this notice:

"These empty whickey bottles were found in the back part of the store and the owners are requested to come forward and take them away."

This store is not run in the interest of whiskey drinkers or loafers and the clerks and proprietor have too many duties to waste time with idle people. B. W. Long, Prop."

Mr. Long says there were seven bottles in all; that he invited several young men into the back room showed them the "seven dead soldiers," said that they were not his property, and asked each young man if he could identify any of the empty bottles, and if so, to please claim, and take them away. One young man was confident that he had an interest in two, and took them away, leaving five with no one to claim them.

The bottles are not valuable, but the lesson is. It teaches that slowly but surely, places where loafers and whiskey drinkers are welcome, are becoming fewer and fewer; that business men do not want to be annoyed with such people, and that one by one they assert their rights and tell them to move. on.—Marshall Messenger.

Could Not Eat.

James F. Cochran, Harmony, Tennessee, says: Ramon's Liver Pills and Tonic Pellets have done me more good than any other medicine I have ever used for the trouble they are recommended to cure. Before I took them I was very sick, could not eat, and was very much indisposed generally. After using a few doses of Ramon's Liver Pills and Tonic Pellets I felt like a new man. For sale by all Dealers.

According to the latest issue of the Nome Gold Digger to reach the United States, "tacks have advanced to 28 a pound, eggs to $2 a dozen, though efforts have been made to raise the price to $2.50.
