Country Meetings.

Slocum people are enjoying a revival meeting held by Rev. Tremble, a minister of the Christian church, who lives at Augusta, Houston county. Good crowds and good interest means encouragement. The excitement is all over and everybody ready to enjoy religious services. Slocum is a nice little village, and the people here are refined, intelligent, reading folks who are enjoying life. Mr. Daniel Denson has one hundred acres of fine cotton, and looking over the beautiful farm it looks like a flower garden of hollyhocks. His corn is good also, and his fine family of boys and girls is better than these. Mr. Henry Sory (formerly our townsmen), and family, say they are delighted at Slocum. They have a beautiful farm and right in the village, too. Then Mr. Henderson, the storekeeper, and his wife, have a sweet home just across from the church, and many, many others who are good, noble and true, live just in calling of the bell and all attend services at the church, which is a union one. Coming on from Slocum to Palestine are other churches whose neighbors are enjoying religious services. Swanson Hill church is in a big meeting, conducted by Rev. Thompson, a Baptist minister. Services are at 11 o'clock a. m. and at 8 p. m. Several go out every day from the city, and some get invited to go home with the neighbors for the day and enjoy a delightful country house party, and return to town by the light of the moon. Surely these meetings and spiritual blessings forbode peace and joy.

Spend-the-Day Party.

Misses Mae Gregg, daughter of Congressman and Mrs. Gregg, of Palestine, who is visiting Rev. and Mrs. John E. Green, and Miss Marian Kendall of Kyle, the guest of Misses Lennie and Katherine Dunn, both of whom have been the recipients of a number of delightful courtesies during their visit in Houston, were delightfully complimented Friday by Miss Julia Backley, who entertained a coterie of maids with an old-fashioned spend-the-day party. A daintily appointed luncheon was served at noon, and later in the day Miss Lennie Dunn took the hostess and guests for an auto ride. From Sunday's Houston Post.

Mrs. Tom Lovett and son are visiting at Galveston.

"Mother and I are on this boat today enjoying the beautiful Hudson river. Will land in New York tonight, Aug. 11th. Love to all our Palestine friends."

How to Make Grape Juice.

If the best kind of juice is to be made, the grapes must be of a good variety and well ripened. They should be clean and sound. If one has a hand cider mill and press to use in the work, so much the better, but the crushing and pressing can be done by hand. If light-colored juice is desired, put the crushed grapes in a cleanly washed cloth, and when folded in, with an assistant, proceed to twist each end until the greater part of the juice is forced out. The juice should then be placed in a stone jar and slowly heated to not less than 180 nor more than 200 degrees. This jar should be set in a dishpan of water before heating, in order to prevent the scorching of the

Mrs. J. B. Dodd, Who Is Fostering Fathers' Day In Washington State

Fathers will at last get some consideration. Mrs. J. B. Dodd, a Washington state society woman, is bending all her energies toward making the third Sunday of June a day on which the poor old dads will be honored throughout the country, if not the whole world. On the next day set aside for father in Spokane, Wash., everybody in that city will be seen wearing a rose in his buttonhole or on her breast. In all churches ministers will use that day as a text for their sermons.

juice. Hold to the above heat about ten minutes, but do not allow it to come to a boil. This done, pour it into a glass or enameled vessel and let it settle for 24 hours; then carefully drain the clear juice from the sediment and run it through a flannel filter. It is now ready for bottling, but be sure that the bottles are thoroughly sterilized before filling. Common glass fruit jars would do in the absence of bottles. Do not fill quite full as room must be allowed for the second heating's expansion. Fit a thin board in the bottom of a common wash boiler, set the filled bottles on this, fill boiler with water to nearly the height of juice in the bottles, and heat again as above, not allowing it to come to a boil. Then take the bottles out and seal or tightly cork immediately. It is a good idea to take the precaution of sealing the corks over with paraffin or sealing wax to prevent the germs of mold from entering through the cork.

Should a red juice be desired, crush and heat the fruit, then drain instead of pressing, and proceed as with the white juice. With the white we press out the juice before heating. The bottles should now be set away in a cool place, and in an upright position and if the work has been properly done, this unfermented juice will keep for an indefinite period.—A. M. Latham, in Starkville (Miss.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.
