

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS

Are Hopeful of Success in the Fall Election Because of Dissension in Republican Ranks.

(Herald Special.)

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The members of the democratic state committee, together with a number of other party leaders of prominence, assembled at the Grand Union Hotel here today to decide upon the time and place for holding the state convention. The indications are that Saratoga, about September 29, will be decided on for the gathering, although Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse are bidding for the convention.

Among those assembled for the conference the opinion is unanimous that never before has the democratic outlook in New York been more hopeful. The recent reorganization of the state committee, the tendency of the old-time leaders to withdraw into the background and the general trend of public sentiment toward the democratic standard has greatly cheered the party leaders and given them a feeling of confidence in the results of the November election.

The high cost of living, dissatisfaction with the tariff and resentment against the republicans for alleged mismanagement of state affairs are cited by the democrats as contributory causes that will insure a bitter contest this fall, with the chances of success favoring their party.

The evident harmony among the democrats this year, as contrasted with the almost hopelessly divided position of the republicans, is regarded by politicians of both parties as of deep significance. The majority of the republicans are ready to admit that their party is split almost as badly as it was in the great stalwart half-breed feud, and with little prospect at present of being able to get together before election.

The democrats appreciate the fact that their hopes of success will be greatly strengthened by the choice of an able candidate for governor. Should Mayor Gaynor of New York City survive his wounds it would seem almost a certainty that he will receive the gubernatorial nomination. At present he is the most talked of democrat in New York, if not in the entire country, and his name completely overshadows those of Osborne, Havens and others who have been mentioned as possibilities to head the democratic ticket. The nomination will be made with an eye to the future, as democratic state politics in New York this fall will have a distinct bearing upon democratic national politics in 1912.

The boom for Gaynor for governor may take such impetus now as to sweep everything aside and result in a genuine demand of the people for his nomination. In such event, the belief is general that the mayor would accept the nomination.

With Gaynor nominated in such manner, with harmony in the democratic ranks, barring Hearst's opposition; with the republicans split into factions, and with the general unrest and resentment of the people against the party in power, the betting odds, it is believed, would be largely in favor of Gaynor carrying New York.

The firemen are holding a carnival here today, "the best, biggest and brightest affair of its kind ever pulled off in Jersey," and in order to play safe and prevent loss they took out an insurance policy on the weather. If it rains before midnight tomorrow night they will collect a policy of one thousand dollars.
