EAGLES STOLE A BABY

At Gibson, La., and Carried It Away. Lodged In Tree, Where It Died From Exposure.

(Herald Special.)
Gibson, La., Jan. 21.—Two giant eagles stole Rena Thebedeaux, a two months' old baby, from her cradle standing near the open door of her parents' home, and carried her to their nest in a big tree. An alarm was raised and two hundred men from a nearby sugar mill went to the rescue of the baby. Several of the rescue party attempted to climb the tree, but each time were driven back by the eagles. The birds, becoming angered, finally attacked the crowd and several were badly injured. Sharp shooters finally succeeded in killing the eagles with rifles, but when rescued the baby was dead from exposure.

JAPAN ALSO DECLINES

To Accept Knox's Plan to Neutralize the Manchurian Railway to Insure Open Door.

(Herald Special.)
Tokio, Japan, Jan. 21.—The Japanese government today handed American Ambassador O'Brien an informal reply refusing to accept the plan of Secretary of State Knox to neutralize the Manchurian railway, on the grounds that the plan is impractical. The Knox plan provided that a syndicate of American and European officials take over the Manchurian railways now held by Japan, thus insuring an "open door" in Manchuria to all nations.

MEAT STRIKE ON.

St. Louis Men Will Abstain From Eating Meat While High Prices Last.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 20.—The meat strike, started as a labor union movement, is being rapidly taken up among office men and all kinds of salaried workers of St. Louis, and the prediction is made that within a week one-half of the city's population will have joined the movement which calls for total abstinence from meat as a means of smashing the trust prices. F. S. Detrich, a city employe, is organizing the six hundred men into a consumers' trust. The Central Trades and Labor Union's executive committee will hold a special meeting tomorrow to act on the matter.

TWO NERVY OHIO MEN

Would Form Aero Squad in Estrada's Nicaraguan Army—Money Is Not Paid Over Yet.

(Herald Special.)
New Orleans, La., Jan. 21.—Whether an aeroplane will drop bombs among the barefoot soldiers of Madriz's army in Nicaragua will depend upon the decision of Aviators H. H. McGill and Henry D. Pruden of Dayton, Ohio, who learned today that they could collect $2,500 advance money on their $20,000 contract with General Estrada of the revolutionary forces. McGill and Pruden brought their airship here and showed telegrams to prove that they had a contract with Estrada to become the aero squad of his army. The telegrams showed today agreed that the aviators were to be paid $2,500 in advance on their contract. The telegrams were presented at the Estrada consulate, but with polite protestation the money was not forthcoming. The aviators may turn the prow of their air craft back toward Dayton and sail back home because the money was not handed over. Pruden startled the country some time ago by going to Indianapolis and buying a balloon and trying to ride home in it, despite the fact that he had never been aloft before.

GUGGENHEIM MOVEMENT

Steps Taken to Control the Supply of Bituminous Coal of the Country. Options Taken.

(Herald Special.)
Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 21.—As part of the first steps toward perfecting the alleged plans of the Guggenheims to form a combination of the bituminous coal interests of West Virginia, Western Maryland, Western Pennsylvania and Kentucky, representing a capital of a hundred million dollars and controlling fifty per cent of the soft coal supply of those districts, options are being taken in the New River district in this state. There are two hundred thousand acres of coal lands in this district, of which options have been taken on over one hundred and fifty thousand acres, and the price fixed at thirty-three million dollars. This proposed combination would give the Guggenheims control of seventy-five per cent of the bituminous coal of the country.

WAS BURNED IN MID-AIR

Aviator Ollie Slogers Was Injured By His Aeroplane Catching Fire While In Flight.

(Herald Special.)
Oran, Algeria, Jan. 21.—Ollie Slogers, the French aviator, had a spectacular escape from death in his aeroplane today. While at a great height the aeroplane caught fire from the motor, and the canvas planes began burning fiercely. Slogers began a rapid descent, hoping to reach the earth before the machine collapsed, but when within about thirty feet of the ground he was forced to jump. He was painfully injured and badly shaken up generally, but it is not believed his injuries will prove very serious. The machine is a total wreck. This is the first accident of this character reported in airship flights.
