SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1885.

THE present fine crop of wheat has stimulated the mill building notion so that the State is being thoroughly canvassed by drummers and agents of the large machinery manufactories of the North and East.

IN Philadelphia, says the Times, out of the 1,500 lawyers in the city nine-tenths of them are church members. They are all religiously inclined, but some lean toward Bon INGERSOLL'S church down this way.

THE Nineteenth Legislature only appropriated $106,700 of which $91,000 went to pay veterans under the present law. This certainly would relieve the Nineteenth of any charge of extravagance, but the trouble was in their economy of needed legislation.

LOT WRIGHT'S displacement as marshal of the southern district of Ohio gives eminent satisfaction. There could be but little doubt as to his partisanship, but that quality was as necessary to a Republican office-holder as was his monthly draft on the treasury.

A MAN killed his wife in London the other day because she wouldn't give him money to buy whisky. Had she been more generous the result might have been different—he would have probably killed himself, a job which he will certainly have done for him now at royal expense.

THE Glen Rose Citizen is not far wrong when it says in reference to a certain candidate being good gubernatorial timber, "but the best of timber can be soaked too long for special purposes." There is some danger, too, from the manner in which prohibition looms up, of a good deal of that species of timber being water-logged.

THE speech of JUDGE TERRELL at Columbia has been very extensively commented on by the Texas press. There can be but one opinion as to its ability, but some of the papers seem to find in it sentiments of a communistic character. JUDGE TERRELL is one of the ablest and most cultivated men, not only of Texas, but the country at large.

THE cholera in Spain is spreading into several provinces, and other governments are enforcing the strictest quarantine against vessels from all suspected ports. It will be almost impossible to prevent its appearance all over Europe, and nothing but the strictest sanitary measures can furnish immunity from its introduction into this country.

YEAGER, who, it is charged, murdered MARSHAL GOSLING, has been granted a continuance in the court at New Braunsfels. Laws' delays permit many criminals to go unwhipped of justice. If YEAGER is guilty of the crime charged he should ere this have been suffering the pains which it is said the damned experience in the next world.

THE City of Panama is reported quiet and yet martial law is enforced there. It may be the military will keep peace as effectually in that city as it did in the house of the Arkansas man who had a vixen for a wife. He told his better half that he was a mild-mannered man, but he kept the ramrod outside of the gun to whale sheol out of her if she "don't done behave herself."

HON. J. D. TAYLOR, who launched forth in that wonderful Ohio manifesto, ought to read this, from the Belton Reporter: "The citizens of Cameron have invited EX-PRESIDENT DAVIS to be present at HOOD'S Brigade reunion on the 27th." The spasms into which his patriotic frame would be plunged would equal the contortions of a bedbug when touched with corrosive sublimate.

IN reply to "Publicus" THE HERALD would say that the question on which the Liberals were defeated was as to the tax on beer. It was not as to whether the revenue demanded should be voted on or not, but whether it was to be raised from beer or tea taxation. It was a close vote and it is said the Irish contingent voted for tea to strike at the government on account of its resolution to renew the "Crimes in Ireland Act."

THE difference between the City Council of Terrell and the School Board has been adjusted, says the Times, which is fortunate. THE HERALD notices many jars in the development of the school system, but, as "it requires time to settle down upon any particular policy, it is not remarkable that these disturbances arise. In truth it shows an earnestness much preferable to the apathetic indifference which would secure perfectly plain sailing.

THE Marshall Herald defines its position on the lease of the penitentiaries and says that resumption has proved a failure and has been so demonstrated by the experience of the past two years—that the last report of the penitentiary management shows the convicts are being cared for at a loss to the State of $12,000 per month. This may all be true, but one of the most difficult of State problems to solve is the question as to what is best to be done. Every plan yet devised has been a failure.

ONE of the most absurd instances of the promiscuous use of the editorial "we" is to be found in the following extract from the Weatherford Sun: "Last Thursday afternoon as we were walking across the square we were stopped by DEPUTY SHERIFF BOB ROSS and asked if we were the author of those articles about him. We replied that we were, whereupon Ross attempted to batter us with his fist. After several unsuccessful efforts to hit us, he attempted to draw his six-shooter, and we told him we had no weapon, and could not use one if we had it, when he again attempted to draw his pistol, which by some means caught and detained him until MR. A. L. FARMER and some other parties who were near interfered. MR. ROSS was taken before the mayor, where he pleaded guilty to an assault and was fined $5 and cost."

SLANDER'S LAST THROES.

The desperate straits of the Republicans is shown in the character of the proceedings of the recent convention at Springfield, Ohio. A very small man, known as MR. J. D. TAYLOR, who was the temporary chairman of the convention, made a speech in which he declared that "by a combination of crimes, accidents and blunders this government, with all its great interests, has passed out of the control of the party that saved it from treason and disunity into the hands of a party which through its leaders sought for four long years to tear it from its proud place among the nations of the earth and hurl its dissevered fragments into the vortex of anarchy and dissolution." This is grandiloquent expression from a small man, but the falsity borne upon its face will rob it of an effect it might otherwise have.

The Democratic victory of 1884 was not won "by a combination of crimes, accidents and blunders," but by an universal uprising of the great masses of the people who were heartily tired of the "crimes, accidents and blunders" that for twenty years had characterized the party in power and came well nigh "hurling" us into contempt among the nations, if not into "anarchy and confusion."

Nor did the government in the fall of 1884 pass into the hands of a party whose leaders had sought to disrupt the Union. BAYARD, RANDALL, TILDEN, HANCOCK, MCCLELLAN, even the President himself, were all Northern and Union men, and they are the recognized leaders of the Democratic party.

They represent the best manhood and thought of the United States, as they represent its purest type of patriotism, and certainly that element furthest removed from "anarchy or dissolution." To such men the people have confidingly entrusted their best interests, and in such keeping these interests are absolutely safe.

At this late date it is incredible and impossible that anybody should be influenced by such silly and disgusting twaddle as that of this man TAYLOR, or of the Ohio Republicans. It is one of those States loined to its idols, and the Democrats can, without any great loss, afford to let it alone. But the fact of so dirty, unfounded and slanderous an attack at this time when Democracy is so valiantly striving to give the Union a pure and good government, is but another illustration of the depths of infamy and falsehood to which this corrupt Republican party will descend to keep alive ancient prejudices and regain the power which they so long enjoyed, but so long and persistently misused.

A NEW DEAL IN ENGLAND.

The Queen has accepted the resignation of the GLADSTONE ministry, the dispatches say, and asked the opposition to form a Cabinet, the Marquis of Salisbury being the responsible head. He has neither the learning nor the breadth of statesmanship that MR. GLADSTONE possesses, nor does he enjoy from Europe or the world at large that confidence which has been so unstintedly given to MR. GLADSTONE, but he is possibly the most powerful and prominent of the Tories and is the best selection the Queen could make from the ranks of that party.

The Irish troubles still unsettled; the Russian dispute still undetermined; the finances in a bad condition and the Egyption questions forcing themselves to the front, with general disquiet and dissatisfaction throughout an empire on which the sun never goes down, the Tories or Conservatives have before them in assuming power and taking charge of the government a most Herculean task. They may prove equal to the occasion. More aggressive than the GLADSTONE ministry, these Tories may force Great Britain to the front again in European politics, but all the probabilities are that the loss of the cautious and wise councils of a statesman like GLADSTONE, who is at the same time a philosopher, will be grievously felt by England in her present threatening complications with nearly all the world.

A LESSON FROM THE PRESENT.

Our correspondents from Ellis, one of the representative counties of the State, inform us that crops are excellent and corn, particularly, extraordinary, notwithstanding the gloomy prognostications of a few days since. The same report as to grain comes from nearly all other sections of the State, but the cotton is not so promising. The fact is a lesson for our planters and farmers. There is scarcely a year in Texas when all crops fail—small grain and cotton—and until a greater diversity is observed in the planting hard times may be annually anticipated. If cotton fails wheat and corn are generally good; if wheat and corn fail cotton turns out splendidly, so that the lesson of the present and, indeed, of all past seasons is that the greater the diversity in the crops the more small grain and the necessities of the table and home the more prosperous will be our agricultural population. Bad years will become things of the past.

THE Republican correspondents from London who have elected to say that London was surprised to find MINISTER PHELPS and CONSUL WALLER gentlemen (because they were Democrats), are simply impudent prevaricators, exposing their own flip ignorance. The English, above all other people, know what political derision means, and the Peerage is apt to be Liberal as Tory. But the immense travel from the United States—the number of resident Americans in London—the exchange of papers and the constant extracts from them as to what is transpiring in this country—the full and daily cablegrams, with very many other unanswerable and most obvious reasons show at once that neither Britons nor correspondents have entertained for one single moment an emotion of surprise that a man could be a gentleman and a Democrat at one and the same time. It is only the dying shake of the Republican serpent's tail.

SAM JONES, the great preacher, essays: "The german is nothing more than a hugging match set to music," but a Charleston inventor has hit upon a plan to avoid all this. He affixes a knob to the lady's waist and when a gentleman gets her consent to waltz she offers him the handle, which he takes hold of, and away they drift into "the maxy." This, to the average youth, is very much like coffee without sweetening.

THE Cameron Herald has a long editorial on prohibition, assuming the inutility of all efforts to prohibit, but suggesting the plan of removing such obstacles in the way of selling liquor as now exist and force the saloon men to sell bad stuff. It says: "Though not fanatic, we are really anxious to witness the discomfiture of the 'Hydra Monster Rum,' and would gladly hail the banners of temperance triumphantly floating on the balmy breezes of our God-favored State. But judging from the past, the dispassionate observer has scant room for flattering anticipation. The line of campaign pursued by its advocates from the times of FATHER MATTHEW to the present day, afford little room for hope in the future. They have assailed the monster from every point. They have attacked him in front, flank and rear, with every engine and missile to be found in the arsenal of grim visaged Moloch—but to no avail. King Alcohol still sits enthroned, and his devotees wear a complaisant smile of conscious strength and security." But the prohibitionists deny their failures and say Prohibition is thriving everywhere. The wide issue of facts will make an interesting campaign unless other questions should be lugged in. By the way, to-morrow the vote will be taken in many places.

ONE of the most instructive lynchings ever committed was that upon TERRY, who had murdered a man in Liberty, Virginia, under most aggravated circumstances. It seems that but a short time previous two murders of a very scarlet character had been committed—one in Amherst and the other in Rockbridge County. The murderers escaped on the plea of insanity, and TERRY'S friends proposed to acquit him on the same defense. Fearing this the people resolved to make insanity a dangerous plea in the future. Both parties belonged to large and influential families and it is feared the trouble has only commenced.

THE HON. E. G. ROSS, the newly-appointed governor of New Mexico, entertains views in regard to the treatment of hostile Indians that harmonize with those so often expressed by THE HERALD. He does not believe that the heart of an Apache can be reached by liberal annuities of food and clothing, but favors the shooting or hanging of every one who engages in murders and other outrages. This means, were it adopted, would forever deter them from engaging in their hostile raids. If white men commit murders they suffer extreme penalty, and why not adopt similar measures toward the savages?

THE Central City Argus, of Central City, Kentucky, appears to know what it is talking about. We have got plenty of them in Texas and the item is so appropriate it is reproduced here: "Too many men who can only read and write and cipher to long division consider themselves thoroughly competent to be elected to the Legislature to make laws for a great and growing commonwealth, when in truth they are utterly incapacitated for any public position whatever. They are lacking in necessary information to do justice either to themselves or their constituents. The elevation of such men is rapidly ruining the State."

THERE does not appear to be a great and immediate danger of moving Baylor University from Independence, after all. The editor of the Citizen heard the discussion by the board of trustees, and, among a dozen or so important facts developed, learned certainly two things that would militate against the idea of its removal—one was that the board of trustees had the sole power of removal, and further, that the ascertained fact was that a large majority of the board are opposed to the removal. Guess Baylor will retain her Independence and Independence her Baylor.

THE suggestion that the goverment distribute the silver dollars now in the treasury vaults among the banks of the country that will give good security for the amount desired, is a good one. It is true the banks would get interest on this money without paying any to the government, but it would put just that much more money in circulation and improve business in every department and add to the prosperity of the country. It seems to be a wise measure and one that would be popular with the people.

ALL the county officials of Tombstone, Arizona, appeal to PRESIDENT CLEVELAND for protection against the Indians. They assert that the hostiles are killing the ranchers and destroying property and that the soldiers are incompetent to do anything. If a few western frontiersmen were employed by the government to operate against these Indians they would do more effectual service than the whole army of United States, officered by men who received their military education at West Point.

THE National Cotton Exchange, under date of June 9, gives most flattering accounts of the growing cotton crops all over the country. The report says that east of the Mississippi the condition is fully as good or better than last year; west of it the situation is decidedly more favorable, while in the Mississippi bottoms there is a marked advantage in every respect. If the weather continues favorable Texas will produce a crop fully up to an average, and in addition there is an increase of nearly 10 per cent. in acreage over that of last year.

THEY must be having good crops out in Wilbarger, "sure enough." The Vernon Guard speaks of JUDGE DAURY, a farmer, who walked into its office a few days since with some very fine specimens of rye, oats, wheat, etc., saying that all his crops were as good as he could possibly desire. Now when a tiller of the soil talks that way you may believe in the truth of what he says, as farmers are very prone to despondency, which is easily accounted for, as they have so much at stake.

THE Brenham Banner has a long article favoring a route from that city to Aransas Pass, eventually. It has the right idea, too, when saying "if we can make a start by building, say 15 or 20 miles there will be no difficulty in enlisting foreign capital." It adds that money is abundant, and whenever it is demonstrated that it can be safely invested it can be obtained. The first push, the Banner thinks, should be toward a connection with the GOULD system.

COLONEL SEARCY RESIGNS.

Governor Ireland returned to-day and Colonel Searcy immediately sent in his resignation as a member of the penitentiary board.

THE CAPITOL BOARD.

Colonel Swain is expected to-night and the capitol board possibly will hold a meeting to-morrow.

AN ALLEGED VICTIM OF FUTURES.

Jim Muir, lately the bublisher of the Texas Law Reporter, and well known in this city, has dabbled in futures and it is alleged has lost some $28,000, $5,000 of which he held as guardian for Ellen and Robert Hughes, his step-children. Muir left here a week ago, saying he was going to Wichita Falls, where he has a brother-in-law. His friends think he will return and straighten up matters.

NOTHING NEW.

The Health Department has nothing new from New Orleans.

A BENEFIT.

The entertainment at the opera house to-night for the benefit of the Confederate Home is well attended.

Coleman, J. C. Burns, W. C. Wear, Osce Goodwin, T. W. Gregory, Yancy Lewis, W. B. Garrett, V. B. Harris, B. Coopwood, Jr., J. P. Hamilton, W. M. Smith, M. F. Yeager, Moran Scott and A. J. Peeler, Jr. They all passed a very creditable examination and the committee will report for licenses to be granted them.

AGAIN ON THE BENCH.

Justice West is again at work and delivered two opinions to-day.

WILLS POINT.

Sympathy for the Unfortunate and Innocent African Who Was Perforated With Pistol Pellets Because He Answered the Description of a Murderer—General Notes.

WILLS POINT, June 12.—[Special.]—The negro Frank Johnson, arrested here on the evening of the 9th, has proven not to be the negro who committed the murder in Kaufman County on the preceding night. Constable Chitty brought him back here and is having his wounds treated, neither of which is at all dangerous. It is unfortunate that such means had to be resorted to in order to make the arrest, but no blame, whatever, can possibly attach to Mr. Chitty, as the negro exactly filled the description of the murderer in size, walk, age, and even dress and baggage, and the desperate efforts made by the negro to escape and to resist arrest, besides several different tales told by him after arrest, made sure that he was the guilty party, and only persons who personally knew the murderer could say that Frank was not the negro. The negro acted very foolishly in making such an effort to avoid arrest, and being a person of such great strength nothing less than the means used could have effected his arrest.

The protracted meeting has closed.

Harvesting is general.

One car load of cattle shipped from here to-day.

PARIS.

The Public School Wrangle Becoming More Complicated — Substantial City Improvements Being Made.

PARIS, June 12.—[Special.]—The Paris city schools closed some time since. There is a considerable wrangle about the next session. Some want Mr. Brooks, the man who organized the school, but the majority want another man. Three of the anti-Brooks trustees resigned, and the Mayor being a supporter of Mr. Brooks, had men appointed that were Brooks men, and they have employed him again. The people say they will not pay the tax if he is retained; that is, if there is any possible chance to avoid it. No doubt the best thing for Mr. Brooks is to leave Paris and go elsewhere. It is reported, and it is said by Mr. Brooks himself, that the people of Gainesville want him there again to supervise their school, but several gentlemen here wrote to Gainesville and asked if they wanted him back. They replied that no offer had been made Mr. Brooks and that they did not want him. The two old substantial papers of Paris—the North Texan and the Daily News—support the people in this matter. They see that the schools are crippled and want harmony. They say employ a man that will harmonize things.

A new hotel, the St. Charles, is going up on South Main street. It will be a daisy.

The work of repainting the court house is about completed.

MARSHALL.

Commencement Exercises at a Flourishing Educational Institution.

MARSHALL, June 12.—[Special.]—The closing exercises of Masonic Female Institute took place at the opera house last night, and was largely attended by friends and patrons of the school. There were two graduates, Miss Lancaster and Miss Florence Truley. The valadictory by Miss Lancaster was touchingly beautiful and was readered in a manner highly creditable to her. Miss Truley was debarred the pleasure of appearing in consequence of the death of her father, which sad event took place yesterday morning.

Rev. Dr. McBride was solicited to deliver the oration, but was prevented from filling his engagement by sickness, much to the disappointment of all. The exercises of the evening were of a highly interesting character and reflected great credit upon all concerned.

Colonel F. B. Sexton, president of the board of trustees, announced that for the present the school would be discontinued, alleging as a reason that it was impossible to continue a private school of this character in competition with the public schools. The building hereafter will be used for public school purposes

FROM FARMERSVILLE.

The Town Enjoying a Building Boom—A School Picnic that Graded Up First-Class in Patrons and Pleasures.

FARMERSVILLE, June 12.—[Special.]—Farmersville is on a regular building boom. Five bricks are now under contract and building and more are to follow.

The close of the session of Farmersville Academy was celebrated to-day by a reunion picnic, held in the grove north of town. The attendance was large and orderly. The exercises of the day consisted in volunteer speeches and essays by the pupils, followed by a sumptuous dinner spread in regular picnic style, which was sufficient to have fed twice the number present. Professor Allen, of McKinney; Captain George Hardin and Rev. D. J. Hardin, of this place, also entertained the audience with very instructive, short, impromptu addresses. The weather was very pleasant and every facility offered for the children and all present to enjoy themselves. The occasion passed off to the complete satisfaction of all. Especial praise is due to Looney & Dowlen, who certainly deserve great credit for having built up such a meritorious institution of learning.

ENNIS.

A Church Lecture and an Entertainment by the Ladies—A Splendid Fire Department Established and a Good Mill Demanded.

ENNIS, June 12.—[Special.]—Rev. William Price, of Weatherford, will lecture on baptism at the Methodist Church, South, beginning on the evening of the 17th.

The Young Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church, South, gave an entertainment last evening at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Deems and realized quite an addition to their funds from the sale of refreshments.

The members of the Fire Department are the recipients of a very fine toned alarm bell. Ennis is progressing and she now has a Silsby steam fire engine in charge of a company composed of some of the most energetic business men, who are ever ready to respond when duty calls. She needs a flouring mill, which would prove a good investment.

NAVASOTA NEWS NOTES.

The Ladies Banquet the Guards Preparatory to Departure for Lampasas—Railway and Personal Matters.

NAVASOTA, June 12.—[Special.]—The ladies prepared a splendid collation for the benefit of the Navasota Guards at their armory hall last night. There was a ball in connection with the refreshments in Ackerman & Gudger's new building, adjoining the armory. The Guards, 22 of them, will attend the encampment at Lampasas. They have procured new uniforms for the occasion.

The railway trains run now on time.

Mrs. D. C. Cobbs has been appointed assistant superintendent of the city schools. She is a very successful educator and very popular.

Mrs. M. F. Yarborough is visiting her relatives at her old home in Galveston.

A revival has been in progress some time in the colored churches, and 45 have been lately baptized in Town Creek.

A POCKETBOOK DUG UP.

What Workmen Unearthed in Pipe-laying Excavations at Fort Worth—The Owner of the Wallet Wanted.

FORT WORTH, June 12.—[Special.]—Workmen laying a pipe on Rusk street to-day dug up a pocketbook which contained certificates of deposit from the Waco National Bank and the Hill County Bank for $23,000, promissory notes paid off for $10,000 and bills of exchange amounting to $12,000. The certificates of deposit and bills of exchange are in the name of W. W. Treadwell, who seems to have lived at Hillsboro. The promissory notes were drawn by Treadwell & Jackson. City Marshal Rhea has written to Hillsboro to find out about Treadwell.

TREADWELL FOUND.

W. W. Treadwell is now supposed to be in Abbott, Hill County, and the city marshal has been notified that Treadwell lost the papers found. Why no effort to recover the valuable documents before was not made is a mystery.

COLORADO CITY.

Mails Stopped by a Washout—High Water—Cattle Shipments.

COLORADO CITY, June 12.—No mail was received here yesterday, a disastrous washout having occurred east of here, which delayed the train for 10 hours. The Colorado River was higher yesterday than it has been since 1882.

Three hundred head of cattle were shipped from this point to-day.
