System-Service-Success

There is no element today more vital to the future progress of the banking business than unanimity of purpose on the part of the Bank—for a clean conservative simple yet complete system—and no system can be sure of success without providing a satisfactory service.

We have built our Bank on the above Basis and invite patronage

Council of Jewish Women

ation of Jewish women, which is so truly representative in character. We should have many more sections. We should have no less than 20,000 members throughout the country. If our Jewish women who are working in other lines realized its importance and its standing both in the United States and in Europe they would realize that to be a part of it is not only a duty and a pleasure, but an honor. We desire to have with us as a member every Jewish woman. Payment of the annual fee, $2.00, into the treasury of the local section constitutes membership.

At the last triennial an associate membership for men was provided, and a number of men have been glad to signify their endorsement of the council by becoming associate members. The council hopes that others will follow their example and that many will be present in Cincinnati.

We trust that our invitation to send representatives to the triennial and for individual women to attend will be accepted by many. We feel sure they will be repaid by the inspiration of the meeting.

At the time of the Jewish Women's Congress in Chicago in 1893, twenty-nine cities sent ninety-nine delegates. May we not hope for an equal interest in this triennial?

Now that the pioneer work has been done, may we not hope that the Jewish women of the country will rally to the standard and carry it on and carry it further?

The chairman of the local committee, Mrs. Ben Lowenstein, 700 Glenwood Avenue, Avondale, Cincinnati, will be very glad to answer any questions as to local arrangements. The executive secretary, Miss Sadie American, 448 Central Park West, New York City, will welcome inquiries, and will be very glad to send all information.

In Vaudeville

It is the object of the managers to make this winter theater as popular as they did the Lyric this last summer; they have the same class of attractions and will use every energetic effort to secure the very best vaudeville attractions each week for its patrons. The Alhambra is comfortable and cozy, the new entrance on Fannin street has been completed, and this will add a great deal to the theatre. The bill for this week, beginning November 1, consists of Miss Elsie Van Nally, a clever singing and dancing comedian, and is said to be one of the best of this style of specialty that has played here this season. She has an excellent voice, and no doubt will be a big favorite. The Kimball brothers are big favorites in Houston, having made the biggest hit of last season at the Lyric, when they introduced their act there of the Two Bootblacks. Their new act is said to be better than the old one, which is saying much. Will Kimball will be remembered for his fine tenor voice, and they will no doubt score a big hit this week.

Mr. J. J. Mullane will sing that beautiful illustrated song,

"She Waits by the Deep Blue Sea."

Pool and Lane are booked as the most sensational act in vaudeville today. Mr. Pool is a sharp shooter, and Mr. Lane the human target. There has never before been an act of this kind seen in this city, and the management has secured them at extra cost.

The Alhambroscope will change its pictures twice each week, and will get the very latest pictures. Two shows every night, 8:15 and 9:20. Prices, admission 10c; reserved seats, 10c extra.

A large crowd witnessed the performances at the Cozy Sunday night, the house being warm and comfortable and the entertainment pleasing. Ray Fern, the minstrel man, cracked a new lot of jokes and sang some good coon songs; James Lyne again pleased with his strenuous buck dancing; Gus Kohl, juggler, and Louis, the boy singer, were also liberally applauded. The Cozygraph showed some excellent pictures.

There will be a matinee for ladies and children at 4 o'clock, and the night performance runs from 7:30 to 11.
