LEGISLATURE AT QUORUM WAITING

Senators began to drift out of the chamber to center with members of the house. President Cunniff went over and sat by speaker Linnay, whispering to him in his ear. Soon thereafter the house went into executive session.

It was more than an hour before the gallery was opened and the house was admitted back inside the house chamber. The senate then admitted the public and a few minutes later a concurrent resolution was introduced by C. B. Wood, chairman of the committee appointed several days ago to expedite business.

Agree To Stick.

This resolution was to the effect that the legislature remain in session till the governor took action on the penal code. When it was put to a vote, Senator Hughes was almost in his opposition. The majority of the house members had agreed to it. Most of the employees were discharged. Only the building clerks and a few stenographers are retained. The stenographers are kept partly for the purpose of cleaning up the work of the present legislature.

Legislators Leaving.

A number of the lawmakers left today. The majority of the members of both houses are still here, however, in order to take up anything at a moment's notice. Those who are gone are not beyond call, and will be brought back if their presence is necessary.

Utah's mine tax amendment to senate bill No. 3 was finally agreed to by the senate, after the most stubbornly fought contest that the present legislature has seen.

It provides that producing mines shall be assessed on four times the value of the land on which they are situated and the full value of physical improvements. Under its provisions the state will receive $1,000,000 this year, as against $450,000,000 in 1912.

Agree To Discussion.

There was much discussion in the senate over the measure. Wood took a shot at so-called "progressive" newspapers that have been advocating the Graham amendment.

Worsley also stated that he was voting in favor of the measure, but would be a day of retribution, he declared.

On the senate appropriation bill the San Francisco fair appropriation, house bill 70, by cutting it to appropriate $5,000,000 for the fair, the senate voted to amend it by appropriating $10,000,000 for the fair. The amendment was adopted.

San Diego, Worsley made another violent attack on San Diego, which he denounced as a bad city. The senate constituted a committee of Worsley's talk. The proposition is to be a sea fair, he said. He pronounced San Diego's reputation for an appropriation a piece of "monumental audacity."

County Seat Measure.

The two houses came to an agreement on the county seat bill. It is satisfactory to most of the Cochise county representatives in the senate, and to the county seaters. The committee, composed of the compromise to the last.

All by himself, senator H. R. Wood signed a minority conference report on this bill. The majority report was signed by senators Sims and White and representatives Murphy, Ball and Cocke. This report was adopted, over the opposition of H. R. Wood, Garza, Roberts, Chase, Kinney and Hubbell.

The last point of difference was on an amendment requiring that any city or town chosen as a new county seat should put up a bond to supply a court house and jail as good as the old. This amendment was defeated.

As the bill now stands, 60 percent of the voters of a county can move the county seat to any town or city in the county or town receiving a majority of the votes. If no town receives a majority, another election shall be held.

Recall for Senators.

Senate bill No. 71, providing for the holding of elections for the advisory recall of United States senators and federal officers, was received back from the house today. It was passed by the morning and sent to the governor. Senate bill No. 60, providing for the holding of elections for this session, also went to the governor.

Senator Davis' No. 29, to make the city of El Paso a city, was passed and sent to the house. All Carey act projects are under the supervision of the state land commission.

House bill No. 3, for the taxation of express companies, was finally disposed of. The bill was passed by the house and sent to the governor.

The senate refused to concur in the removal from the corporation commission code of the paragraph fixing 15 cents a ton mile as the maximum freight rate to be charged in this state. There was little opposition to the motion that the senate not concur. C. B. Wood, and Hubbell were named as a conference committee. Lynch, Masdock and Murphy were appointed from the house.

Word was received from governor Hunt that he had signed senate bill No. 61, code relating to the assessment of land, and bill No. 62, a bill; and also the following house measures: No. 54, care and disbursement of state funds; No. 64, government of normal schools; No. 65, levy and collection of school taxes.
