ALVAH D. MEYER

DOUBT.

Are you sure that you are he whom I waited, incomplete? Songs of lesser loves are sweet; How can I, so tenderly, Lulled to rapture, now refute Treacherous sweetness of love's late!

Tell me, how can one be sure, In this fleet and fervent hour, Which the buds that come to flower, Which shall fade and which endure? All I know is that your song Calls me . . . Yet the years are long. —Lippincott's.

Educational Day Exercises of P. E. O.'s

A large crowd attended the open meeting of the P. E. O.'s, last evening, which was held in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock. The church was beautifully decorated with yellow and white crys arthemiums, while a huge yellow satin banner, bearing the P. E. O. Motto, "Pass Education On," was draped above the platform.

Dainty folders, bearing a star, the P. E. O. emblem and containing the evening's program were presented to each person as they entered, by the officers, Misses Willie Kimbrough, Louise Harris, Georgia Thomas and Alvah Meyer. It would be hard to discriminate in bestowing the evening's honors on those who took part on the program, as each number seemed to be more delightful than the last.

Jaunty Suit Shows Silver Embroidery

By COLE MOORE, New York's Fashion Authority. NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—This season will go down in fashion history famed for the extraordinary number of artistic coat and skirt suits. Their skirts are, for the most part, plain and straight, though occasionally one is draped. Circular skirts are heralded for spring. The coats are straight or wide with a full or circular lapel. The suit illustrated is a semi-circular duvety with a lancing of tanned side of the skirt, heading of the circular flounce that finishes the sleeves and around the anity, best-like coat. The collar is a huge one of fox.

TOMORROW'S RECIPES.

(Copyright, 1920, N. E. A.)

An inexperienced cook often makes of her fingers a burnt offering. The burn itself is bad enough but the blister that follows is worse.

To prevent a blister from forming over a burn, try mixing equal parts of egg white and olive oil. Apply all over, cover with soft linen. Cream may be high but it's worth the price of an egg white to forestall a blister and the resultant inconvenience and discomfort.

Menu for Tomorrow.

BREAKFAST—Sliced bananas with uncooked cereal scrambled eggs with dried beef, toast, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Baked beans, brown bread and butter, pickles, tea.
DINNER—Fried chicken with stuffed peppers, pineapple salad, floating asparagus, sponge cake, coffee.

My Own Recipes.

The dried beef in the scrambled eggs gives taste to an otherwise neutral tasting breakfast. The bananas and cereal are mild flavored foods, as the eggs would be without the dried beef.

FRIED CHICKEN.

1 young chicken
flour
salt and pepper
hot fat

Cut chicken in pieces and parboil till tender. Roll in flour sifted with salt and pepper and fry in hot fat till nicely browned. Put on a big platter and surround with stuffed peppers.

4 green peppers
1 cup soup
4 cups boiling water
5 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups broth
1/2 cup cream
1/2 teaspoon salt

peppera. Dry peppers in boiling water and let stand a couple minutes. Remove from water and rub off the outer skin with a cloth. Cut in halves, remove seeds and veins. Wash and drain sump. Put into kettle with boiling water and salt and cook all day. Melt butter, add flour. Add broth slowly, stirring constantly. Add cream and salt and pepper. Stir until boiling. To 1 cup of the sauce add as much sauce as the sauce will moisten. Fill peppers with this creamed sump. Seave the remaining sauce in a bowl.

When a girl says "I don't care" it's a pretty sure sign that she does.

UNDERGARMENT DESIGNING SKILL IS SHOWN BY GIRLS

(By International News Service) VALLEY CITY, N. D., Dec. 1.—Art depends entirely on the point of view.

Take women's undergarments, for instance. Judges at the Boys' and Girls' Achievement Day festival here recently declared there is as much art in a well-made undergarment or a frock as in a fine painting. It represents the creative genius of the girl who fashioned the garment; it shows imagination, perspective and initiative.

Scores of girls measured skill in the domestic science branch of the big exposition. In practically all cases their handiwork was of a most practical turn. Many girls have so developed their natural skill that they can design frocks like a Parisian modiste, frocks unequalled in the "ready-made" stores of first rank.

Boys representing thirty-three schools and colleges contested for premier honors in agriculture. Scientific livestock raising, prize exhibits of potatoes, corn, wheat and vegetables that would do credit to a national agricultural exposition formed a part of the event. Development of mixed farming in North Dakota during the last few years was clearly indicated by the rich display.

SUFFERINGS ENDED AFTER SEVEN YEARS

Mrs. Phillips Rheumatism Was Gone One Month After She Started on Tanlac.

"I have been taking Tanlac only one month, but already it has put an end to a case of rheumatism that had been troubling me for seven years," said Mrs. Helen Phillips, 2407 Durium street, Tampa, Fla.

"I was all crippled up with muscular rheumatism for so long I had little hopes of getting well. It was worst in my arms and legs and at times I could scarcely get around. My right shoulder also hurt terribly and it was all I could do to move my arm about. I had gotten into a badly run-down condition and felt weak and worn out all the time. Then I had the influenza that left me weaker than ever. My appetite got so poor that I couldn't eat enough to keep up my strength.

"I saw Tanlac so highly recommended that I took it to build me up, not having any idea it would help my rheumatism, but it has done both. I am simply overjoyed at my wonderful improvement and I just feel that I am almost starting life over again. The rheumatic pains have all gone and I am as active as I ever was. My appetite is just splendid and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. That tired, weak feeling has left me and I now feel well and strong in every way."

Tanlac is sold in Amarillo by J. W. Collins Drug Co.

THE PREMIER BOOT SHOP ANNIVERSARY SALE

A Sale of Women's and Children's Footwear without parallel in the Merchandising annals of Amarillo.
