

"Is Marriage a Failure?"
THE ENGLISH VIEW OF IT.
For many weeks past the Daily Telegraph has been publishing several columns of letters daily on the question, "Is marriage a failure?" It has received 27,000 letters on the subject. To-day it ends the discussion, and editorially sums up as follows:
"The consensus of letters is over whelmingly strong against early marriages. Our law ought, we think, to forbid marriages of young men under 21 and young women under 19. Among the working classes especially this would produce, we believe, an excellent effect. Then, also, it is clear to our mind that the law of divorce must be enlarged so as to permit dissolutions of marriages for desertion, lunacy, confirmed inebriety, conviction for disgraceful crimes, as likewise for established incompatibility of temper and temperament such as a just and prudent judge would admit to be adequate. That the marriage service as it stands calls also for attention has been abundantly demonstrated by these letters, and the sooner His Grace, the Primate, finishes with the Athanasian creed and turns his attention to passages in that service which shock the young minds and disconcert the older ones, the better. The first is that there are 800,000 more women than men in England, and the second that the devastating flood of children deters more people here from marrying than any other consideration."
Why She Asked
"George, dear," said Mabel, as they sat together in the cozy parlor, "you have been coming to see me every Sunday night for the past six months."
"Yes, Mabel,"
"Now, there is one thing I would like to ask you."
"What is it?"
"Do you think that you could ever learn to love another?"
"Never while the stars shine or the sun casts his beams upon the earth."
"Are you sure?"
"As sure as that I now live. Why do you ask such a question?"
"I was in hopes there was some prospect of your giving me a rest."

Peace Must Prevail.
Husband (impatiently)—Is it possible, my dear, that you cannot keep those children quiet for a moment? Wife (soothingly)—Now, John, don't be harsh with the poor little innocent things, it is natural for them to be full of spirit and they're doing the best they can, Husband—Well, if I could have a moment's peace I would sit and grudge that check for $50 that you've been bothering me for. Wife (sternly)—Children, go upstairs at once and if I hear another word from you to-night I'll punish you severely.—Life.
Consumption Surely Cured.
To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their names and post office address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., pp 29 1y. 181 Pearl St. New York.

A Woman's Discovery.
"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she languished incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with the bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Esther Lee. This was W. C. Henshaw & Co. of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Reynolds & Daniels' drug store.

The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen—During the early part of the past spring (1888) my body was covered with boils. At one time more than fifty were counted on my body and limbs. My face was not exempt from the painful trouble. The usual remedies would do me no good. Just why I began taking S. S. S. I do not know, but almost immediately I began to improve. I took nearly three bottles and found myself entirely well. It was your medicine which effected a cure when everything else had failed.
Yours truly,
J. H. FORDHAM.
Bad Ulcer.
ST. LOUIS, MO., June 27, 1888.
The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen—About two years ago I had a breaking out on my leg which gave me almost intolerable pain from its itching and burning. I used the simple remedies at hand, but the disease continued to spread, covering over a third of my limb. The physician called it eczema. The first doctor done me no good, and I tried the second, third and fourth with the same result. One of them said I would never be well. I had used everything I knew that was recommended for blood diseases. No one who saw my swelled and inflamed leg which looked as if the blood would burst out of it, ever thought there was anything but torture for me. I candidly confess that I owe my present health to Swift's Specific, which in my estimation, is invaluable as a blood purifier. Gratefully yours,
Mrs. JULIA DEWITT.

The days of chivalry have not utterly perished off the face of the earth. Recently, in West Virginia, a white woman was sentenced to work seven days on the streets, when a young farmer arose in the mayor's court and offered to take her place, saying that he never would permit a woman to be worked as a convict on the public streets. The mayor accepted his offer, and the man was marched off to the chain gang.—Washington Day.
Whether the days of chivalry have perished or not, the days of savagery have not, else the woman would not have been sentenced to such brutal punishment and degradation. The people who have passed such laws or permit them to be executed cannot pretend to be civilized. Cannibals and wild savages may do more cruel things, but can do nothing much more brutal.
The Holidays
And the colder winter weather are now rapidly approaching. The joyful season is eagerly anticipated by young folks in thousands of homes, but in nearly all these are one or more older ones to whom the cold waves and the storms mean renewed suffering from rheumatic backs or limbs. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a positive specific for rheumatism; we doubt if there is or can be such a remedy. But the remarkable success Hood's Sarsaparilla has had in curing this affection is sufficient reason for those who are suffering to try this peculiar medicine.
